JUDGE CLEARS NEW BUFFALO COUPLE

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Charges of extortion and conspiracy to commit extortion against Jack and Harriet Rheinoltz were dismissed Wednesday by Berrien Fifth District Judge John T. Hammond.

Mr. and Mrs. Rheinoltz, both 34, of 518½ West Buffalo street, New Buffalo, had been charged with extortion and conspiracy to commit extortion against Mrs. Emma Wederich, 73, a New Buffalo widow.

The couple's son Michael was acquitted Nov. 18 by a juvenile court jury on a charge of extorting money from Mrs. Wederich. The case of Mr. and Mrs. Rheinoltz was taken under advisement by Hammond after the couple had a preliminary hearing Oct. 30.

Hammond said at the preliminary hearing: "We never got past the question of 'Was there an offense committed?'" The prosecution's main witness was Mrs. Wederich who testified in part that juveniles had harassed and demanded money from her on various occasions. But testimony was difficult to understand because of her foreign accent and contained apparent contradictions.

Asst. Prosecutor Robert U. McDowell asked her at the hearing if the boys ever threatened her during the period of the alleged extortion, from November of 1974 until Oct. 15, when police arrested some 10 youths. "Ya," she said.

Defense Atty. Richard Globensky asked Mrs. Wederich "Did the boys threaten you?" She answered "Oh, it not so bad, they nice boys, nice boys." Hammond said Wednesday "The lady had some difficulty remembering important details." For instance, the judge cited, she was not sure which boys were present when alleged exortion attempts were made.

Hammond took the case under advisement until a transcript of Mrs. Wederich's "difficult" testimony was prepared. The day after the hearing he left for Reno, Nev., where he and District Judge Ronald J. Taylor spent three weeks at a school for judges. They returned to duty this week.

During that time the couple remained free on bond. As for Mrs. Wederich, she told the judge during the hearing that since the police arrested the boys they have not bothered her. "It's all right now," she said.

Sudden Dive Averts Crash Over Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — "I'm terrified and completely pained, but thankful. We could have all been killed," said Andrea Schleifer, 28, of Chicago, one of 190 people aboard a DC10 jet that abruptly dove 2,000 feet to avoid collision with another jet.

Miss Schleifer, a public aid caseworker and Loyola University law student, was on her way to visit her parents in New Jersey for Thanksgiving when suddenly — and, to the passengers, inexplicably — the plane began to fall.

"We just were sitting there and without notice I started to slide out of my seat. Then I hit the ceiling and hit the floor."

said Miss Schleifer.

She and 25 others, including 10 flight attendants, were taken to Wayne County General Hospital Wednesday night after the plane made an unscheduled stopover at Detroit Metropolitan Airport.

Miss Schleifer was admitted with a huge gash in her knee, and listed in good condition. Admitted and listed in fair condition were Maria Schor, 20, Edison N.J., with a head injury, and Suzette Sales, 17, of Port Redding, N.J., with a back injury. She is a freshman at Andrews University, Berrien Springs.

A spokesman for the National Transportation Safety Board (NTSB) in Washington said the American Airlines DC10 dove from 35,000 feet to 33,000 feet a few miles south of the Detroit airport to avert a collision with a Trans World Airlines L1011 carrying 103 passengers and a crew of 11.

The American plane was Flight 182 from Chicago to Newark, N.J. Some passengers continued on to New York on Wednesday night in a different plane piloted by the same crew. Others were sent on Thursday after they were checked at the hospital.

The TWA plane, flight 37 out of Philadelphia, continued on to Los Angeles without interruption, a TWA spokesman said. The pilot of the TWA plane was never aware of the maneuver taken by the DC10, he said.

The NTSB spokesman said the American Airlines pilot put his plane into the dive in response to an urgent message from a flight controller at an unknown ground point who apparently saw that a collision was imminent.

He said an two-man investigating team was dispatched to Cleveland, which was controlling both planes at the time of the incident.

Passengers on the DC10 said they were eating dinner when they were suddenly hurled from the seats and against their seat belts. Food was tossed around the cabin, panels were torn from the ceiling and sewage from the toilets flowed down the aisles.

"People were thrown to the ceiling," said passenger John Ruffley, an engineer from Summit, N.Y. "Then they fell back down on the other passengers. There was food everywhere. It was a mess."

Guinness Editor Slain; Irish Terrorists Sought

LONDON (AP) — Police launched a massive manhunt today for suspected Irish terrorist slayers of Ross McWhirter, co-editor and compiler of the Guinness Book of World Records.

Police said the Thursday night slaying of the wealthy, outspoken Conservative appeared to be the work of an Irish Republican Army execution squad.

Earlier this month McWhirter, 50, offered a reward of up to $100,000 for information leading to the conviction of the IRA bombers who have taken eight lives in London in the past three months.

Active in right-wing politics, McWhirter had also campaigned for the return of the death penalty for terrorists, and demanded that Irishmen living in Britain be issued photograph-bearing identity cards.

"I know the IRA have got me on a death list," he said three weeks ago, "but it's time someone spoke out against these outrages. I could be the bombers next victim."

Police said McWhirter was shot in the head and chest as he went to the front door of his imposing half-timbered home in Enfield, North London.

They said McWhirter's wife, Rosemary, had just arrived home by car at 8:45 p.m. when she spotted two gunmen who produced revolvers. She fled into the house and told her husband, who was shot as he got to the front door.

Mrs. McWhirter rushed to her husband's crumpled body as the gunmen fled in her car, which was later found two miles from the scene.

McWhirter was rushed to a hospital but died shortly after arrival.

Police said the murder had all the signs of a knock-on-the-door IRA assassination, so familiar in Northern Ireland over the past six years. Until now IRA terrorism in Britain has consisted of car bombings, letter bombs, and bombings at crowded restaurants.

Fears that a new style IRA terror campaign was underway were to be discussed by Britain's top security chiefs and Scotland Yard later today. Tentative plans had already been made to extend bodyguard protection to more prominent people, informed sources said.

Winning Numbers

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — The winning numbers in Thursday's regular weekly Bureau of the State Lottery Super Drawing are: four-nine-three (493) and four-five-nine (459).

The Millionaire qualifying number is: six-zero-four - two-zero-five. (604205).

NY State Drops Bungled Lottery

NEW YORK (AP) — On the advice of a consulting firm, Gov. Hugh L. Carey has ordered the state lottery disbanded and all its employees dismissed, according to the Daily News.

Without naming its sources, the News said in today's edition that Carey in plans to buy an already established and perfected lottery system such as those in New Jersey, Massachusetts and Michigan.

The lottery ran into trouble this year when it was revealed that nearly half the weekly $250,000 top prizes were not awarded and that many other prizes also were undistributed because the winning numbers were on tickets that were never sold.

The paper said Carey has ordered a task force of management computer system experts to get to work on the multimillion-dollar project can be operating here by spring.

The consulting firm, Arthur D. Little Co. of Boston, said the New York State lottery was rife with errors, "has a completely inadequate security system all along the line and its management is nonexistent," according to the News.

The consultants reportedly recommended a top-to-bottom cleanup of lottery personnel still on the state payroll. About 224 political appointees were fired this week, and about 100 civil service accountants, clerks and bookkeepers will get dismissal notices next week.

Those who will go include Jerry Bruno, the lottery's $30,000-a-year director.

Carey ordered that lottery workers be kept on the payroll through the holidays and be paid out of emergency state funds until Jan. 1, the News said.

Schuler Eyes Motel Near Stevensville

Win Schuler's Corporation is considering the prospect of building a motor inn near the Win Schuler's restaurant at Stevensville. A spokesman for the Marshall-based corporation said Win Schuler is currently conducting a feasibility study on the prospect of building a motor inn on 14 acres of land south of the Stevensville Win Schuler's restaurant.

The study will determine the practicality of the motor inn at the site, the size and exact location of the inn, and whether Win Schuler's will build the motor inn itself or if it would be developed by another firm, the corporation spokesman said. The study is expected to be completed early next year.

Mrs. Ford Asks U.S. Probe 'Reprisal'

The executive director of the Berrien Action, Inc., Mrs. Helen Ford, has asked the federal labor department's civil rights director to investigate "reprisal" against her agency by Berrien county government, as result of some of its CETA-paid workers opposing welfare reform at a rally at the capitol building in Lansing.

Mrs. Ford at the same time also called upon the director of the county CETA program to "review the policy of interference with the (BCA) project underway."

Her letters to the two agencies followed a story in The Herald-Palladium on Wednesday in which County Coordinator Roger Petrie said an investigation was being made into allegations that some BCA workers, paid with CETA funds, had participated as a countering force against a welfare reform rally in Lansing Oct. 15.

"The Berrien Action leader also sent a sharply worded letter to Petrie. 'I would caution you and the entire CETA administration, however,' she wrote, 'from using Berrien County Action as the scapegoat to suppress and take reprisals against the minorities, the poor, and the helpless in our community. The time of the master-slave relationship has been replaced with the idea that all men are created equal.... Discrimination against our agency because we represent poor people will be vigorously resisted, and we plan to ask for federal assistance to end the harassment we are experiencing.'" pointed out that headline on the Petrie cited it as a "new" charge against her agency. The newspaper acknowledged today the word "new" was erroneous, in that no previous charges of wrong doing have been made against BCA.

Additionally, Mrs. Ford

In a letter to the director of civil rights of the U.S. Department, Mrs. Ford wrote, in part:

"Berrien County Action would like your intercession into whether or not the Community Action Program, by its nature of advocacy, is subject to reprisal for training and ou-

Labor Chief Is Right-- Schools Need Overhaul

S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, thinks Michigan's schools need a major overhaul. He has some compelling reasons why.

Taylor says the automotive recession has bared the schools' failure to prepare young men for the labor available in the growing service sector of the economy. But most of them require technical training—ranging from six months to two years—and many high school graduates can't qualify without remedial training in reading, writing and arithmetic. "Training to be a medical technician or a TV repairman may not be like graduate school—but it's no piece of cake either," says Taylor. "You have to know the three R's."

Massive unemployment in the state is at least partially attributable to inadequate training in the schools, Taylor believes. But he adds that it's not only the unemployed—and unemployable—youths who have gotten a poor shake from the school system.

"Our school systems—kindergarten through high school—are an exclusive prep system whose curriculums are geared to helping a small per cent, an elite, go on to college degrees. It ignores the needs of the great majority who are left behind. 'Most high school graduates have no idea what working people do or what they want to do themselves. They have no skill, or even the beginning of one, to sell in the marketplace,' Taylor declares.

Michigan and some other states, recognizing the problem that Taylor describes, have tried to remedy it by setting up special vocational-technical education centers. These are in addition to the regular public schools.

That's the expensive way to do the job. It just adds one bureaucratic layer of tax burden on top of another. Michigan's labor chief has a better plan, not only cheaper but far more effective.

Taylor would like to see the school systems restructured so that students learn at an early age "what people do at work," so they can form ideas about what jobs they want.

He would also like vocational training expanded and integrated into the general academic curriculum.

No one can blame the schools for the fact that culturally "poor" families are sending them youngsters who are extremely difficult to teach. But educators can be blamed for spending so much to remedy the problem and achieving so little.

Labor Chief Taylor has offered a promising change of direction. Michigan's K-12 school district leaders can save the state untold money and grief by following his lead.

DIRECTOR FORD MAKES GOOD POINT

Editor,
In today's newspaper a headline stating: Berrien's "action" Facing New Charge by County Official.

Please let me know what the OLD CHARGE is.

I cannot understand how the implication that we have had a series of charges against us can be supported without an enumeration of the charges.

Our good name is valuable to us, and in spite of the efforts of some groups to discredit that good name, we have had no charges so far to speak, and if you have some, I need you to share them.

Please call me with the OLD CHARGE and let me know what's involved.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Ford is right. We apologize. Berrien County Action, Inc., has been involved in a running debate for the past several weeks with some county officials. However, no prior charges of improper use of funds have been made, at least in public. The headline should have said "New Episode in Running Feud," or something similar.

BILL WOULD PUNISH GOVERNMENT 'LEAKS'

Editor,
Melbrow, who heads a large government bureau in Washington, was moaning about federal bureaucracy getting bad.

publicly lately. Everytime you pick up a paper you see where some committee is investigating hanky panky in the government. If it isn't the FBI breaking into homes, it's CIA refusing to obey presidential orders. Then they talk about high officials in the Pentagon taking free hunting weekends from Northrop Aviation. I tell you all this stuff is giving the government a bad name. He says he doesn't see why the public has to know every mistake we make. You can't have a smooth running federal system if government officials are called on the carpet because of incompetence and violations of the law. He said sure there is stupidity and fraud in government but does everybody have to know about it?

Mr. Melbrow said there was a time when we could operate without people finding out what we were doing. If we made a mistake we were the only ones who knew about it. To avoid this every document that came across their desk being classified was not only to protect national security but also to make sure nobody outside of the department would find out what we were up to. But there is a new breed of employees who believe everything the government does is the public's business.

There now is a bill Congress called S-1 which will take care of these rats, Melbrow said. The bill provides for a prison term and fine for any government employee who hands over a classified document to an unauthorized person. Melbrow said that with S-1 you'll have a clean government for the first time in our history. Melbrow was asked do you think Congress will vote for S-1? He said: "Why not? If they're dumb enough to propose it, they're dumb enough to pass it."

Too bad we didn't have this new breed of employees called rats during the Nixon administration.

A dazzling aerial attack in the last two minutes of play turned defeat into victory in the annual inter-city games played between eleven representing Benton Harbor and St. Joseph high schools at Filstrup field Thanksgiving afternoon, Nov. 28. The final count stood at 13 to 7 with Benton Harbor on the long end of the score. The game was by far the most spectacular contest ever staged between the two elevens and it held a record crowd of 5,000 spellbound through the entire 60 minutes of play.

Study Records, Not Their Words

WASHINGTON — As a freshman at Cal Tech years back, I had a professor who regularly told his history class that in a democracy, the talkers rule.

We elect the men who say what we want them to say and promise what we want to hear. Of course, they do not always deliver after the votes are counted.

Our cleanup efforts are based on faulty reasoning. Common Cause, for one, has mounted what promises to be a multimillion dollar campaign — figures in terms of money and volunteer man hours — to hold candidates feet to the fire.

But this campaign will fail because it heads in the wrong direction. It's based on the premise that hard questions will expose a candidate's true aims and make possible an accurate prediction of what he will do once in office.

Much of the emphasis is on more press conferences, more interviews, more questioning by panels — the questioning to be done by men and women not chosen by the candidate or his people. That is, the emphasis is on more talking — and more promises.

Now I submit that this is a candidate's dream. Since the questioners, by definition, would appear to be impartial or antagonistic, a skillful candidate could, with ease, give the impression the truth was being smoked out. Most experts in public life could handle such situations and come out either looking well, or like a martyr being pilloried by his enemies. Politicians are, by trade, expert wordsmiths. To a great extent, their public views and statements are determined by what polls and advisers say the voters want.

There's a better approach. By the time a man is old enough to run for president, or for the Senate or House, he's pretty well set in his ways. Very few men change stripes. What they have done or not done in the lesser offices they've held is likely what they'll do or not do when elected to a higher post.

We need, therefore, more impartial studies in depth of the complete voting records of men who have been legislators, not selected votes intended to reinforce the bias of this polling organization or that.

Most importantly, we need complete records on how these men voted in committee on significant legislation.

If he has been in private business or a profession, we need to know how he conducted himself. What kind of assistants did he hire? How did he follow through — on customer complaints, if he's a businessman? How did he conduct his cases, if an attorney? What was the quality of his work as a teacher? How did he handle crises? What was his attention to duty? What kind of friends and associates did he attract. What kind of people were his enemies?

If he is, or has been, an incumbent senator or representative, a state legislator, governor or President, what kind of men and women did he choose for his staff? How did they operate? How honest have they been? What were or are their objectives? These people are the real clue to a candidate's character — not what he says.

Then there's his personal financial history — not merely current assets, investments and liabilities. How has he operated? Openly and above board? Has he managed his own finances well and without hanky panky? Does he know the value of a dollar? If he's been a long-time office holder, we need to know if he has increased his wealth inordinately — that is, more than could be reasonably accounted for by prudent management of his reported income.

Has he been active in community efforts? Has he sought titles and left the work to others? Does he repeatedly come up with pipedream plans neither he nor anyone else could carry out? Does he start things, drop them and leave others to pick up the pieces? These are the things, usually unreported, that tell us what kind of a man we're dealing with.

A Clean Game For Big Business

WASHINGTON — Big business suddenly has an opportunity to get involved in politics — openly and honestly, for a change — and clean up its image at the same time.

It is a healthy development for everybody, from stockholders to the nation at large (except possibly for big labor).

Businessmen have certainly not lacked influence over the political process. But it has been difficult for them to play by the rules in Presidential and Congressional campaigns, because the rules were stacked against them. So, predictably, many of them played a dirty game.

Now the Federal Election Commission has ruled that corporations may set up and maintain funds for channelling employee contributions to candidates, much like the funds the big labor unions have long been allowed to operate.

To judge from the clamor at the commission for copies of the ruling, thousands of companies intend to take advantage of it. The Chamber of Commerce intends to publicize the decision and encourage firms to get involved in open political activism.

Traditionally, corporations have been forbidden to contribute to Federal and most state election campaigns. So they have boosted the salaries of individual officers, with the understanding those officers would pass on the money to candidates. They have filed phony expense accounts. They have handed out laundered cash in white paper envelopes in washrooms and behind bars.

A loophole in the new campaign reform law allows union members to solicit votes for a candidate and get out the vote on Election Day, as long as the efforts are confined to other members, without having the value of those services counted against the candidates' contribution limit. This advantage enabled Democrat John Durkin to defeat Republican Louis Wyman in the New Hampshire Senate contest because his free union manpower permitted him to concentrate his funds on television and radio advertising.

Big labor's muscle was clearly in evidence in Congress this past week. The Senate Post Office and Civil Service Committee voted out House-passed legislation to remove the 36-year-old Hatch Act ban on partisan politicking by Federal workers. President Ford has threatened to veto the bill, and opponents charge it would subject civil servants to political harassment.

But the AFL-CIO and its public employee unions wanted it, so they are likely to get it. It will be good for the unions. But it is doubtful that it will be good for the government or the country.

The right to "common situs" picketing, outlawed by the Supreme Court 20 years ago, is undeniably an inflationary measure. It would vastly increase delays and building costs at large construction projects.

Labor has accomplished its selfish ends despite the public good in the open, using the political process legally. That's what big business ought to do as well. Hopefully, the new ruling will provide a sufficient avenue for political expression so that industry will no longer be tempted to hand out cash under the table for secret motives.

Prison Is Proper Place For The Bomb Throwers

Officials of the FBI and other police agencies have expressed concern that the nation's bicentennial year may be the scene of increased terrorist activity by revolutionaries and other fanatics. The campaign of terror already may be underway.

FBI chief Clarence Kelley has informed Congress that terrorist bombings are on the ascendancy. The federal agency counted 25 such bombings in 1973, 45 in 1974 and 47 in only the first six months of 1975.

"The fanaticism of many of these urban guerrillas and revolutionaries," said Kelley, "makes intelligence penetration difficult."

Perhaps more worrisome to police officials is what Kelley called "the approbation of terrorist activity by otherwise law-abiding citizens, given apparently because of the so-called idealism of the terrorists." If Kelley's assessment is correct, a segment of the non-criminal population is not overly concerned about the existence of terrorists in its midst and may even be giving at least passive assistance to them.

Terrorism as a means to an end — especially when directed at innocent persons, as much of it is — cannot be accepted by any rational person. It might be otherwise in a totalitarian land where redress of grievances and the basic rights of citizens are unrecognized.

That is not the case here. People who engage in acts of depravity in the name of a cause — any cause — deserve apprehension and punishment, nothing more.

Labor Chief Is Right-- Schools Need Overhaul

S. Martin Taylor, director of the Michigan Employment Security Commission, thinks Michigan's schools need a major overhaul. He has some compelling reasons why.

Taylor says the automotive recession has bared the schools' failure to prepare young men for the labor market. The days when large numbers of high school graduates could obtain good-paying unskilled jobs on automotive assembly lines are over.

"The assembly line has been redeeming the educational system," Taylor said in a cogent interview with the Detroit Free Press. "It has concealed the fact that the schools are turning out young people with no idea what they want to do and without even the basic knowledge of the three Rs that they need to get a skill." Even with the automobile industry recovering, unskilled jobs will never again be as plentiful as they were until two years ago, Taylor feels. Rapidly improving technology is one reason; cost-cutting machines are continually replacing human workers.

Moreover, he points out, Michigan isn't getting the same share of automobile manufacturing it once did. The state's share of the national automotive labor market has steadily declined over the past 20 years, from 52 per cent to 42 per cent, as the industry has expanded into other states. Taylor notes that there are jobs available in the growing service sector of the economy. But most of them require technical training—ranging from six months to two years—and many high school graduates can't qualify without remedial training in reading, writing and arithmetic. "Training to be a medical technician or a TV repairman may not be like graduate school—but it no piece of cake either," says Taylor. "You have to know the three R's."

Massive unemployment in the state is at least partially attributable to inadequate training in the schools, Taylor believes. But he adds that it's not only the unemployed—and unemployable—youths who have gotten a poor shake from the school system.

"Our school systems—kindergarten through high school—are an exclusive prep system whose curriculums are geared to helping a small per cent, an elite, go on to college degrees. It ignores the needs of the great majority who are left behind. "Most high school graduates have no idea what working people do or what they want to do themselves. They have no skill, or even the beginning of one, to sell in the marketplace," Taylor declares.

Michigan and some other states, recognizing the problem that Taylor describes, have tried to remedy it by setting up special vocational-technical education centers. These are in addition to the regular public schools.

That's the expensive way to do the job. It just adds one bureaucratic layer of tax burden on top of another. Michigan's labor chief has a better plan, not only cheaper but far more effective.

Taylor would like to see the school systems restructured so that students learn at an early age "what people do at work," so they can form ideas about what jobs they want.

He would also like vocational training expanded and integrated into the general academic curriculum.

No one can blame the schools for the fact that culturally "poor" families are sending them youngsters who are extremely difficult to teach. But educators can be blamed for spending so much to remedy the problem and achieving so little.

Labor Chief Taylor has offered a promising change of direction. Michigan's K-12 school district leaders can save the state untold money and grief by following his lead.

DIRECTOR FORD MAKES GOOD POINT

Editor,
In today's newspaper a headline stating: Berrien's "action" Facing New Charge by County Official.

Please let me know what the OLD CHARGE is.

I cannot understand how the implication that we have had a series of charges against us can be supported without an enumeration of the charges.

Our good name is valuable to us, and in spite of the efforts of some groups to discredit that good name, we have had no charges so to speak, and if you have some, I need you to share them.

Please call me with the OLD CHARGE and let me know what's involved.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Ford is right. We apologize. Berrien County Action, Inc., has been involved in a running debate for the past several weeks with some county officials. However, no prior charges of improper use of funds have been made, at least in public. The headline should have said "New Episode In Running Feud", or something similar.

DOESN'T LIKE CAGED TURKEY IN SCHOOL

Editor,

I am a student at Milton Junior High school. This Thanksgiving week the school has a live turkey in a small cage right in front of the office. I feel this is cruel and unjust. This turkey has to sit in the hall all day and look forward to the break between classes to get poked at. I feel the faculty has shown their ignorance by placing this animal there.

BILL WOULD PUNISH GOVERNMENT 'LEAKS'

Editor,

Melbrow, who heads a large government bureau in Washington, was moaning about federal bureaucracy getting bad

publicly lately. Everytime you pick up a paper you see where some committee is investigating hanky panky in the government. If it isn't the FBI breaking into homes, it's CIA refusing to obey presidential orders. Then they talk about high officials in the Pentagon taking free hunting weekends from Northrop Aviation. I tell you all this stuff is giving the government a bad name. He says he doesn't see why the public has to know every mistake we make. You can't have a smooth running federal system if government officials are called on the carpet because of incompetence and violations of the law. He said sure there is stupidity and fraud in government but does everybody have to know about it?

Mr. Melbrow said there was a time when we could operate without people finding out what we were doing. If we made a mistake we were the only ones who knew about it. To avoid this every document that came across their desk being classified was not only to protect national security but also to make sure nobody outside of the department would find out what we were up to. But there is a new breed of employees who believe everything the government does is the public's business.

There now is a bill Congress called S-1 which will take care of these rats, Melbrow said. The bill provides for a prison term and fine for any government employee who hands over a classified document to an unauthorized person. Melbrow said that with S-1 you'll have a clean government for the first time in our history. Melbrow was asked do you think Congress will vote for S-1? He said: "Why not? If they're dumb enough to propose it, they're dumb enough to pass it."

Too bad we didn't have this new breed of employees called rats during the Nixon administration.

She Crochets 11 Flags For Bicentennial Gifts To Family

Betsy Ross would be proud of Irene Jewell who has crocheted 11 American flags as bicentennial gifts for her sons and daughters.

Mrs. Jewell, of 807 Court street, St. Joseph, has five daughters and four sons who will receive flags. Two other flags were made as memorials to deceased children.

She plans to present the flags next June during a family reunion at Riverview park, St. Joseph, where she hopes 73 will be present including 34 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mrs. Jewell's flag-making shows her devotion to the United States and appreciation that all of her sons served overseas in World War II and the Korean war and returned unscathed.

"I loved that old red, white and blue," she said simply of her love for her country.

Mrs. Jewell, who will be 75 on Dec. 16, crocheted an American flag then pondered a long time before starting to crochet one for each son and daughter. She said she did not want to get halfway through the task and then have to give up. She said she vowed to herself to get a flag for each son and daughter. She uses no pattern.

It wasn't her age she was concerned about. Although retired, she often helps out at Sanitary Dry Cleaners in St. Joseph. She worked there 23 years. But she has had four operations on her eyes and is blind in one.

Last March she launched the project and by August, 210,000 stitches later, she had the flags finished. Each flag has 80 stars on the field of blue on one side. On the other side is a circle of 13 stars with the numbers, "76" in the center. Each flag is approximately three by five feet.

Since then Mrs. Jewell has crocheted an American eagle on a white centerpiece and a large afghan with stars and stripes decorations.

She used 75 skeins of yarn for the flags and eight skeins of white wool for the stars. She can crochet a star in about three minutes. After making 893 stars—63 for each flag—she took them to Sanitary Cleaners where she pressed them flat with a steam press.

It took about a week to crochet each flag. She estimated there are 15,708 stitches in the flag and another 3,465 in the stars and numbers making 19,173 stitches in each flag.

A sister, Mrs. Elsie Ott, 80, of Berrien Springs has agreed to compose patriotic poems to go with the flags. The flags will go to Graydon Jewell, Mrs. Charles (Sally) Gast and Allen Jewell of St. Joseph; Mrs. Harold (Marjorie) Nitz, Baroda; Mrs. Harold (Barbara) Ruppel of Benton Harbor; Mrs. Fred (Marlyn) Minkiel, Grandville; Willard Jewell and Mrs. Neal (Mildred) Kretschman of Cheboygan and Dale Jewell of Stevensville.

In memoriam will be flags for a son, Scott who died 1951 after serving in World War II, and a daughter, Oneita, who died at birth.

Woman Convicted In Slaying

A Benton Harbor woman was convicted Wednesday in Berrien Circuit court of voluntary manslaughter in connection with the stabbing death of a man who was Benton Harbor's first homicide victim of the year.

Jurors deliberated nearly three hours before returning the guilty verdict against Odessa Jordan, 26, of 338 Colby street, to end a two-day trial in Judge Julian Hughes' courtroom.

Miss Jordan was continued free on $15,000 bond to await sentencing of up to 15 years in prison.

She was convicted of killing George Mason Jr., 21, with a butcher knife Oct. 12 at her home. Miss Jordan was originally charged with murder, but went to trial on the manslaughter charge when a district court judge ruled evidence did not warrant a murder charge.

The defense during the trial maintained the stabbing was an accident and was also in self-defense. Opposing counsel were Asst. Prosecutor Scott Beatty and St. Joseph Atty. David Peterson.

CERTIFIED: Dr. H.K. Mariyappa of Benton Harbor has passed his national board examination in obstetrics and gynecology and is now a certified member of the American College of Obstetricians and Gynecologists. His office is in Medical Center building, 858 Pipestone, where he has been practicing since 1972.

Car Hits Abutment

A Benton township man received apparently minor injuries Wednesday when his car struck a bridge abutment, then slid into another car, Benton township police reported.

Richard Eugene Smith, 40, route 2, North Park drive, sought his own treatment for injuries after the 10:24 p.m. accident. Driver of the other car was identified as Everett Orvin Scheideman, 58, of 2050 Hatch street, Benton township. He was unhurt.

Police said the accident occurred on Red Arrow highway east of Euclid avenue on Blue creek bridge. Smith was ticketed for failure to stop in an assured clear distance ahead, police indicated.

No More Lawn, Driveway Repairs, Says BPW Chief

The Berrien county board of public works Wednesday emphasized that the St. Joseph township sewage collection system has been completed and no more restoration work to residents' driveways or lawns will be done.

BPW Director Robert Barnes said he has received requests from some township residents asking that their driveways be repaired further or their lawns restored, but stressed that no more work is anticipated in the restoration process.

Barnes noted the collection system was "finaled out" by the board on Oct. 1, and the contractor for the project, Balkema, Inc., has completely finished. "We don't owe Balkema any more money so we don't have any kind of lever anymore," Barnes added.

He explained the BPW still holds a performance bond from Balkema, but that can only be used towards the system itself should any of the components fail and need to be replaced. He said any requests for further restoration work will be turned down because the system is completely finished. In another matter, the board learned the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission has approved sale of $5,135,000 in bonds for the City of Niles' waste water system, and Barnes said the BPW hopes to sell the bonds on Dec. 17.

He noted the commission's approval of a bond sale for the proposed Niles township sewage collection system is still pending, but anticipated approval might come in early December. Barnes said the BPW hopes to sell bonds for both projects at the same time. The rest of the funding for the city's $20 million project will come from a federal grant. The township's project calls for sale of $4.8 million in bonds with a federal grant providing $7.5 million.

Here's Story Behind Gifts

There are a lot of hidden, heart-warming stories behind those gifts to the St. Joseph Area Good Fellow fund.

A lot of fun is dispensed in the celebrated wagers and there is a long history of memorials which helps the fund grow each year.

Today's $15 comes from two different people who like the same thing — a happy Christmas and want everyone to share in their joy.

Miss Joan L. Derriek of St. Joseph sent in $10 and explained she always has had a happy Christmas and she wanted to be sure everyone has a happy holiday. It was her first Good Fellow gift with money from her waitress job.

Robert Rutz made some Bicentennial-style house numbers for a friend but refused to accept payment. "Put the money into your favorite charity," he told his friend, who promptly dropped off $5 to the Good Fellows.

The latest total is $542.61 which is $4,457.39 from the $5,000 goal.

St. Nick: Not Even A Penny!

Santa Claus opened the cash drawer of the Benton Harbor Area Good Fellow fund today and found it empty!

Empty? That's right. Not a penny had been contributed over Thanksgiving.

Santa was thankful that the fund already has $885.16 in the bank toward its goal of $7,500. And he's sure more Good Fellows will respond as we head into December and the Christmas spirit picks up.

The Good Fellow fund originated way back in 1920 in Benton Harbor as the Empty Stocking fund. It has survived depression, war, inflation and recession.

The purpose always is the same — providing a happy Christmas in the Benton Harbor Area for those who otherwise would be in want.

"We've done it before and 1975 will be no exception," Santa said.

She Crochets 11 Flags For Bicentennial Gifts To Family

Betsy Ross would be proud of Irene Jewell who has crocheted 11 American flags as bicentennial gifts for her sons and daughters.

Mrs. Jewell, of 807 Court street, St. Joseph, has five daughters and four sons who will receive flags. Two other flags were made as memorials to deceased children.

She plans to present the flags next June during a family reunion at Riverview park, St. Joseph, where she hopes 73 will be present including 34 grandchildren and nine great grandchildren.

Mrs. Jewell's flag-making shows her devotion to the United States and appreciation that all of her sons served overseas in World War II and the Korean war and returned unscathed.

"I loved that old red, white and blue," she said simply of her love for her country.

Mrs. Jewell, who will be 75 on Dec. 16, crocheted an American flag then pondered a long time before starting to crochet one for each son and daughter. She said she did not want to get halfway through the task and then have to give up. She said she vowed to herself to get a flag for each son and daughter. She uses no pattern.

It wasn't her age she was concerned about. Although retired, she often helps out at Sanitary Dry Cleaners in St. Joseph. She worked there 23 years. But she has had four operations on her eyes and is blind in one.

Last March she launched the project and by August, 210,000 stitches later, she had the flags finished. Each flag has 50 stars on the field of blue on one side. On the other side is a circle of 13 stars with the numbers, "76" in the center. Each flag is approximately three by five feet.

Since then Mrs. Jewell has crocheted an American eagle on a white centerpiece and a large afghan with stars and stripes decorations.

She used 75 skeins of yarn for the flags and eight skeins of white wool for the stars. She can crochet a star in about three minutes. After making 693 stars—63 for each flag—she took them to Sanitary Cleaners where she pressed them flat with a steam press.

It took about a week to crochet each flag. She estimated there are 15,708 stitches in the flag and another 3,465 in the stars and numbers making 19,173 stitches in each flag.

A sister, Mrs. Elsie Ott, 80, of Berrien Springs has agreed to compose patriotic poems to go with the flags. The flags will go to Graydon Jewell, Mrs. Charles (Sally) Gast and Allen Jewell of St. Joseph; Mrs. Harold (Marjorie) Nitz, Baroda; Mrs. Harold (Barbara) Ruppel of Benton Harbor; Mrs. Fred (Marlyn) Minikel, Grandville; Willard Jewell and Mrs. Neal (Mildred) Kitchman of Cheboygan and Dale Jewell of Stevensville.

In memorium will be flags for a son, Scott who died 1951 after serving in World War II, and a daughter, Oneita, who died at birth.

Lita Masini Named Junior Miss

In 'At-Large' Category

Lita Masini, Lake Michigan Catholic high school senior, has been selected as St. Joseph's Junior Miss by the Michigan Junior Miss Program.

She was sponsored by the St. Joseph Area Jaycees.

According to Lynn Hoopfer, Junior Miss coordinator in Clarkston, over 100 senior girls from all over the state applied for "at large" candidacy approval.

Of these, only 16 were selected to represent their communities in the regional eliminations at Marshall and Ypsilanti, Dec. 12 and 13. These 16 will compete with winners from communities who sponsored local pageants.

Miss Masini hopes to obtain a degree in government from St. Mary's college, Notre Dame and continue her studies for a law degree. She was selected for the 1974-75 edition of "Who's Who Among American High School Students."

Her student accomplishments include: freshman class president, senior homecoming hostess, memberships in the drama and ski clubs and major roles in most of Lake Michigan Catholic's drama productions. She works part-time at Panta America, Benton Harbor, and takes courses at Lake Michigan college.

Robert Selter, president of the St. Joseph Area Jaycees says, "When Miss Masini explained to us that there would not be a Twin Cities Junior Miss pageant this year, but that the State Junior Miss organization provided an 'at-large' candidacy competition for senior girls who could fulfill the requirements, we checked with Mrs. Hoopfer in Clarkston."

Selter explained that an "at-large" candidate must reside in a community that is not conducting a local pageant, and should obtain a sponsor or sponsoring organization. In addition to her application and talent description, the contestant must provide photos, a grade transcript, scores from any college board tests she has taken and a three-minute tape telling something about herself, her ambitions and her views.

"By a vote of the general membership, we enthusiastically agreed to sponsor Lita to represent our community. We found her an attractive, enthusiastic and intelligent young lady, and are delighted that the state committee selected her to be one of the regional contestants."

Miss Masini will do a humorous monologue for her performing arts presentation.

The Junior Miss basis of judging is — scholastic achievement, 15 per cent; poise and appearance, 15 per cent; youth fitness, 15 per cent; creative or performing arts, 20 per cent, and personal interview, 35 per cent.

Only Junior Miss selected through a local program this year in this community was Sandy Gotstein, Lakeshore Junior Miss who will also compete in the regional at Marshall.

Bird Feeder Day Sunday At Sarett

Bird Feeder Day will be held at Sarett Nature Center, Benton Harbor, Sunday, Nov. 30. Audubon bird expert Bob Whiting will speak on feeding birds and will show his film on African birds.

Bird feeders and sunflower seeds will be available for purchase. Charles Nelson, director-naturalist of Sarett, offers the following suggestions for feeding birds in the winter. He emphasized that those who start feeding birds during the late fall and early winter have taken on the obligation of meeting the food requirements of the birds using their feeders. Once winter is underway, the birds must be fed every day regardless of the weather. If feeding halts in mid-winter, it is almost certain the birds will die before finding another source of food.

Birds not only have varying food requirements, both in nature and at the food table, but they also have varying methods of foraging and hunting for food, Nelson says. Those feeding birds should offer a variety of presentation as well as a variety of food.

He notes bread should be thrown away from the feeder to attract sparrows and starlings away from the feeder.

SUET

Suet used by itself in various sizes and containers including those purchased and those homemade such as a mesh potato or grapefruit bag is a needful winter food. Suet can be mixed with wild bird seed or melt it down and mix it with a large variety of scraps such as dried bread (preferably dark bread), cooked rice, cheese, raisins, chopped peanuts, oatmeal, honey and/or sugar. The birds are not fussy about a container for this either, a grapefruit half with the pulp removed, half a rubber ball, margarine containers, coconut shell or even a filled pine cone can be used.

FRUIT

Over ripened fruit or unsaleable fruit from the store will be eaten by the birds if cut up, in the winter add suet to apples, oranges, grapefruit, grapes, bananas or tomatoes. Orioles are particularly fond of oranges.

LIVE INSECT FOOD

The best are mealworms and ant eggs. Serve the mealworms in a fairly deep dish (round) so that they can not escape.

CHRISTMAS TREE

Decorate your Christmas tree with some things that the birds can eat and when you are finished with it give it to the birds and maybe add a few more goodies. String popcorn and cranberries and/or raisins, decorated cookies, pine cones filled with peanut butter mix or suet-seed mix and stale donuts.

PEANUT BUTTER MIX

Do not feed birds plain peanut butter because it can actually kill small birds. Mix it in equal parts with cornmeal and served stuffed in a pine cone or in holes that have been drilled in a log.

BASIC PUDD

Take seeds, peanuts, cheese, oatmeal, dry cake and scraps. Put them in a container, pour hot fat (melted suet) over the mixture until it is covered and leave to set. Rough quantities are one pound mixture to one-half pound fat.

BIRD CAKE

Mix two pounds self-raising flour, one-half pound margarine and a little sugar with water and bake like a large bun.

ANTI-SPARROW PUDDING

Boil together for five minutes one cup of sugar and one cup of water. Mix with one cup of melted suet, bacon fat or shortening and leave to cool. Mix with breadcrumbs, bird seed, a little boiled rice and scraps until the mixture is very stiff. Then pack it into any kind of tin can or glass jar. Lay the can on its side in a tree or on the window sill or in any place where birds can perch and pick out the food.

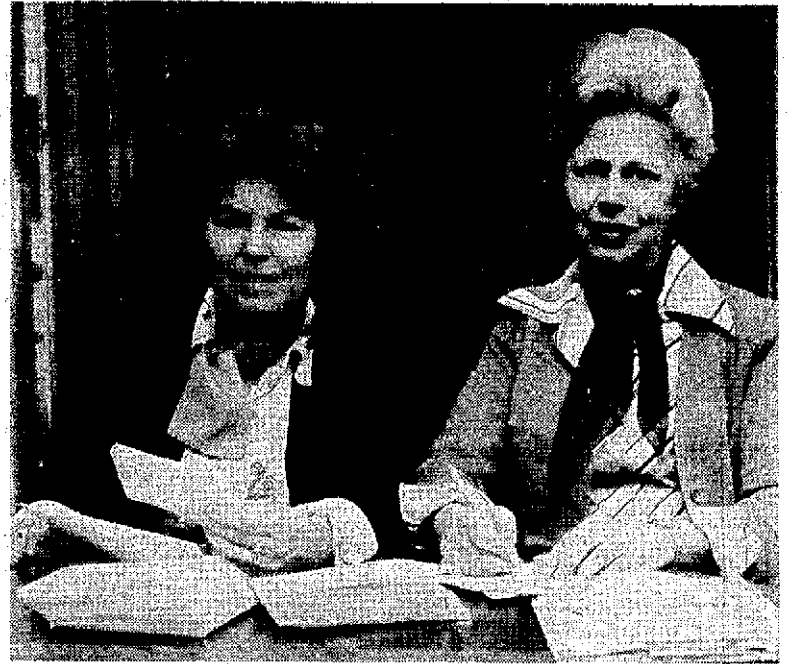

GRIT

Birds require grit (sand or small pebbles) in their crops to grind up seeds. Birds replace the grit occasionally when the grit becomes worn. You can save the birds at your feeder the trouble of finding fresh grit by providing a small handful in or around the feeder.

CAUTION

Nelson cautions that people buying seed for birds should make sure the seed is not for planting. He says seeds meant for planting are often coated with pesticides and will kill the birds you are trying to help.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP) — The Philadelphia orchestra's three-week residency at the Saratoga Performing Arts Center drew almost 2,000 more persons than its four-week stay in 1974.

The attendance figure is due, in part, to the student matinee conducted by Victor Borge which drew 11,318, the largest number for any orchestra concert at the center.

The special events at the center drew an increase of almost 50,000 patrons over last year.

Of the 36 specials, largest crowds were in evidence for the Beach Boys, with 26,892 fans; Eric Clapton, who drew 26,801 and 23,404 for the Doobie Brothers.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Fire-Chasing Dangerous

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a fireman, who needs to get a message across to millions of people. I can't think of a better place to say it. This is for "spectators" of any disaster you care to name.

Just exactly what are you doing there? Obviously, you are looking for excitement. A fireman has his hands full fighting the fire and trying to protect himself and his fellow firemen from smoke, heat and poisonous gases. Have you thought about the congestion you create when you park your car and run to rubber-neck? Don't you realize ambulances and emergency equipment need to be as close to the scene of the accident or fire as possible? I shudder to think of the people I've seen smoking cigarettes around gas tank leaks. They must be nuts.

If you want to help, folks, please join your local volunteer fire department or emergency unit. If you want to see a free show, go home and turn on the TV. We'll both be a lot safer. — A Fireman Who Wants To Do His Job.

Dear Fireman: Here's your letter and a special plea from me to all who read it. It might be YOUR home or child in the accident who cannot be reached in time because gawkers blocked the area. Please think about this, folks, the next time you are inclined to chase a siren looking for kicks.

all these kids who complain because they are the oldest or the youngest or the one in the middle.

Dear Nuts: Quit griping. You are lucky whether you know it or not. Just think what it would be like to be an only child.

When there are errands to run, chores to be done, the garden to be weeded — it all falls on one head: There's no Tom, Dick, Harry or Mary to take turns with. You have to do everything. When it comes to gifts you don't get too many because they don't want to "spoil you." I know what it's like because my best buddy is an only child and he hates it.

I'm the one in the middle. Whenever I get to feeling a little crowded I tell myself I'm lucky to have someone bigger to lean on and someone littler who leans on me. — Got It Made

Don't Be Pushy

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a widow, 55, but look younger. I lost my husband ten months ago and am very lonely. Nobody wants an extra woman at a dinner party. (Extra men, however, are at a premium.) The friends my husband and I used to entertain showered me with attention for three weeks after my husband died. I haven't heard from them since.

A man I met casually at a church affair several years ago lost his wife last July. He is about my age and as I recall, very attractive. Would it be all right if I dropped him a note and told him that I, too, am alone and would like to renew our acquaintance?

I don't want to come off looking too pushy. Please advise. — Long Nights

Dear Long: Don't do it, honey. Most widowers would head for the hills if they received such a note. Unless you have a mutual friend who might be kind enough to invite you both to a party at her home, forget it.

Is alcoholism ruining your life? Know the danger signals and what to do. Read the booklet, "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

A Honeymoon Hall of Fame is being established at a resort hotel in the Poconos.

According to publicity, a heart-shaped alcove will feature photos, mementos and memorabilia of famed loving couples of history and fiction.

To date, they have included a recording of the Duke of Windsor's history-making declaration of love in which he renounced the British throne, early cartoons of Blodine and Dagwood, and film clips of Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor. (If they could only get the drip-dry wedding dress.)

Next to hot chicken soup, a tattoo of an anchor on your chest, and penicillin, I consider a honeymoon one of the most overrated events in the world.

It's one of those awkward times when you know everyone else had a better time than you did but you're too proud to admit it.

It boggles the mind to imagine how they are going to determine who will enter the Honeymoon Hall of Fame and for what reasons, but here are a few nominations.

Ruth and Walter, who enjoyed the shortest honeymoon in history. Ruth shot him in the leg at the reception for footing around with the maid of honor.

Sue and Ted for the most unique honeymoon in history. While Sue swam, danced, played tennis and shopped, Ted ice fished, skied, played cards and drank with the boys. While separate honeymoons don't work for everyone, it worked for Sue and Ted.

Laura and Stewart the couple who were the greatest sports on their honeymoon. Right after the wedding, Laura discovered Stewart was out on bail for armed robbery, was coming down with three-day measles, was already married, had a 12-year-old son who sets fires, and had taken out $75,000 worth of life insurance on her at the reception, but what the heck, as Laura explained, "Honeymoons are always a time of adjustment."

Yvonne and Burt: The longest honeymoon in history. For three years Yvonne and Burt shared bliss. They anticipated one another's moods, thought only of each other's comfort, and never went to bed on a harsh word. The honeymoon was so successful, they plan to be married in June.

Awkward, Overrated

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband gets an attack of angina whenever he gets aggravated or does the slightest work around the house. He is terrified and sits in the chair all day.

Mrs. B.V., N.H.

Dear Mrs. V.: Before any contribution can be made to such a person one must understand what angina is, what causes it and how it can be reduced in severity and frequency.

Angina is a painful, oppressive sensation that occurs around the heart and chest in people whose blood supply to the heart muscle is inadequate.

The coronary arteries bring blood and oxygen to the heart muscle to keep it functioning. When these coronary arteries are narrowed by arteriosclerosis, the blood flow is reduced. Consequently, any additional exertion demands that the heart beat more rapidly.

This added effort causes the pain of "angina pectoris."

It is true that emotional stress can be responsible for anginal pain. The burden of heated discussions and anger may precipitate an attack.

Eating large meals draws vital blood away from the heart muscle and brings it to the stomach instead. Walking rapidly, especially against the wind, diverts blood from the heart muscle to the lungs. This, too, may induce the painful constriction of angina.

Unusual fatigue, tobacco, alcoholic excesses and unaccustomed physical exertion can also produce these painful spasms.

As you undoubtedly know, there are a number of excellent drugs which can relieve the "coronary" blood vessel spasms. Nitroglycerin tablets placed under the tongue are very effective.

Incidentally, it should be mentioned that these tablets may deteriorate with time, heat and humidity. Therefore, they may not be as effective as when purchased.

For sufferers of chronic, incapacitating attacks of angina, special "by-pass" surgery is often recommended. Before such a decision is made there must be intensive cardiovascular studies.

The oppressive pain of angina very often makes chronic invalids out of the sufferers. Your husband must be encouraged, by you and the family, and by his doctor, to learn to live within the limits of his capacity as a normal, functioning human being.

DR. LESTER COLEMAN has prepared a special booklet entitled "What to Do About Ulcers." For your copy, send 25 cents in coin and a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lester L. West had two reasons for his four-spade call. The first one was that he just might make it. East might well be short in diamonds and hold the queen of clubs.

The second reason was that he knew his opponents; North just hated to let an opponent play the hand when he had some cards. West didn't know if he could beat four hearts or even five hearts, but he sure knew that he had a far better chance against five. He didn't double. It is downright silly to double merely because you think you may beat the contract. The odds against you are too great.

The contract did go down. West opened his king of spades and wound up with a spade trick and his two side aces.

Of course, North should not have bid five hearts. He should have passed. South would double four spades, set it two tricks and pick up 300 points, which is a most better result than being set at five hearts.

Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Postal Service, which has posted new limitations on overtime and hiring extra workers because of its $7-million-a-day deficit, says it still can handle what may be its busiest holiday mail season.

More than 9 billion pieces of mail are expected to move through the nation's post offices between today and Christmas Eve.

An additional burden could be mass mailings by businesses in advance of the Dec. 28 increase in postal rates. The cost of mailing a first class letter is scheduled to increase from 10 cents to 13 cents.

"All of the big mailers are going to throw in their stuff before that new rate increase comes in and it could conceivably jam up the mails very badly," said Henry Cooper, executive director of the National Association of Greeting Card Publishers.

But a Postal Service spokesman said, "We think we have anticipated every possible problem and post offices will be cleared of all mail on Christmas Eve."

Deputy Postmaster General W.J. Bolger this month ordered "substantial reductions in the amount of overtime used for the distribution and delivery of mail" because of the Postal Service's deficit, currently running at $7 million a day.

His letter to regional postal officials added, "The Christmas mailing period should not be excluded from our effort to reduce overtime. To the contrary, it is a unique opportunity to really reduce costs."

But heads of the two largest postal unions say overtime is the key to moving the mail this Christmas season.

"If the mail is there, then they have to pay overtime to move it out. We will get bombed with mail other than Christmas cards, but if they let the professional staff handle it, then there won't be any problem," said James Rademacher, president of the National Association of Letter Carriers.

Francis Filbey, president of the American Postal Workers Union, said, "The postmaster general has assured me that overtime will be used whenever it is really necessary."

The Postal Service has conceded that there was "a very serious strangling of the mail" in the Christmas season of 1972 when strict limitations on overtime and hiring temporary workers were in force.

The Postal Service spokesman said, "The (1975) regulations on overtime and outside hiring were drawn up with consideration for Christmas and any extra mail we might get from people trying to beat the new rates.

"Overtime is permissible when it is needed to move the mail, and if there is a genuine need for extra help then people can be hired," he said.

VA Nurses Charge They're Harassed

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A lawyer for two nurses employed at the Veterans Administration Hospital says his clients have been harassed by FBI agents probing a series of mysterious breathing deaths last August.

Attorney Thomas O'Brien said Lorraine Perez and Filipina Narciso were the targets of improper questioning by the FBI after it was discovered the hospital had recorded 56 respiratory and cardiac arrests during a six-week period.

O'Brien said he would take his allegations to either the Justice Department or before Sen. Frank Church's Senate committee probing both the FBI and the CIA.

Richard DeLoris, chief of the criminal division of the U.S. Attorney's office in Detroit, conceded that the nurses and others at the hospital had been questioned numerous times, sometimes at great length. But he said the questioning was justified.

O'Brien said Miss Narciso had been subjected to a marathon six-hour grilling.

"She asked to leave the room three times but was not allowed to," O'Brien said. "On another occasion, agents told her she either had to confess or take a lie detector test to clear her, and gave her five minutes to respond."

SHOW OF FORCE: Squadron of 20 Portuguese air force jets sweep low across Lisbon Thursday in show of force after Tuesday's leftist revolt by dissident paratroopers failed. Some leftists still resisted today. (AP Wirephoto)

Leftists Still Challenge Portugal Authority

By STEPHENS BROENING
Associated Press Writer

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Despite their boasts of total control, Portugal's moderate military leaders were challenged today with stubborn pockets of mutinous leftist resistance in the ranks.

Military sources expressed confidence that the remaining rebels could be talked into surrender without the use of force.

Most dangerous was the paratroop base at Tancos, which authorities said Wednesday was under control. Paratroopers who led last Tuesday's leftist revolt and then gave up without a fight have withdrawn to Tancos and were refusing to recognize central authority.

Military sources said there were 1,500 rebellious troops at the paratroop base about 60 miles northeast of Lisbon.

For the moment force was not being threatened and the paratroopers gave no sign they were ready to make a sortie from the base.

The sources also reported that soldiers in the 4th Infantry Regiment in Faro on the Algarve coast were refusing to obey orders.

Socialist party and Popular Democrat (PPD) activists massed at the regiment's gates early today as a form of pressure to gain obedience. There were no incidents.

Sources said that in the Algarve town of Lagos, the local base commander was refusing to obey his superiors' orders.

Air force chief of staff Gen. Jose Morais da Silva, who commands the paratroops, offered amnesty to enlisted men who ended their mutiny. He said only officers and noncoms responsible for the revolt would be punished.

Meantime, air force planes dropped leaflets on Lisbon this morning explaining the martial law restrictions in force since Tuesday when President Francisco de Costa Gomes proclaimed a state of siege for the Lisbon area.

The state of siege imposed on the Lisbon military region

Nov. 25 consists of the temporary suppression of rights guaranteed to citizens in order to safeguard the supreme interest of public safety," the leaflets said.

The handbills listed the military headquarters where civilians with critical jobs could obtain safe-conduct passes to be on the streets during the midnight-to-5 a.m. curfew.

A presidential announcement late Thursday said Col. Ramalho Eanes had replaced Carlos Fabiao as army chief of staff. Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo held Fabiao responsible for inciting leftist dissent.

The government also stationed commandos around the former headquarters of Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, the radical military security chief who was stripped of his command and demoted to major after the revolt was crushed by loyalists.

Military sources said Carvalho had left Lisbon "for his own safety" after being given an open-ended furlough but other sources said later Thursday that he remained at his home.

A senior official said the government had evidence the plotting involved many officers and civilian activists not yet arrested.

"The coup was much more profound than anyone could have supposed," he said. "Many people were involved. We have indications of who was involved and which political forces were behind them, not only individuals but organizations. This has to be told to the people."

Eanes, who was promoted to general, is known to have planned the loyalist assault on the dissident paratroopers who seized four bases around the capital in the short-lived revolt Tuesday.

Military authorities published a list of 51 officers and noncoms imprisoned in an army stockade in Oporto, 175 miles north of Lisbon. Several other officers were reported to have gone into hiding, including Maj. Jose Costa Martins, a former labor minister and described by associates as a pro-Communist.

Socialist leader Mario Soares has accused the Communists of prime responsibility for the uprising.

Costa Gomes ordered troop reinforcements to strategic points in and around Lisbon today to prevent further action by leftist radicals.

Lisbon itself remained under a state of siege. A 25-year-old woman was killed near the capital when she disobeyed an order to stop at a check-point during the midnight-to-6 a.m. curfew. Loyalist forces showed their strength as military jets made low sweeps over the capital and the country was reported generally calm.

$36,000 AND 30 POUNDS

He's Divorce Fight Loser

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — After two years of divorce proceedings, James Wolfe has spent $36,000 on attorneys, shed 30 pounds and lost custody of his 8-year-old son John.

What's more, he says the divorce trail has left him "feeling like a squeezed grapefruit."

It all began when his wife, Judith, filed for divorce two years ago on grounds of mental cruelty. Since then Wolfe, 46, a real estate broker in this northern suburb of Chicago, says he has made 25 ap-proposals to settle the divorce. In fact, says Wolfe, the husband was still alive.

Wolfe said his religious beliefs would have prevented appearances before eight different judges in divorce, chancery and criminal courts.

And litigation lingers on. Wolfe said he now lives with his parents. He says they're the only two people he can really trust.

Wolfe says he found evidence his wife hoodwinked him when they were married in 1963. He says she told him her former husband died in 1963 in an auto accident in Arizona. In fact, says Wolfe, the husband was still alive.

Wolfe said he then filed a countersuit, asking for an annulment. He charged that his wife had produced a death certificate saying her first husband had been killed.

The complaint led to forgery charges against Mrs. Wolfe, who now lives in Fremont, Mich., with her son. The charges by the state's attorney's office are scheduled to be heard in Circuit Court here Jan. 19.

Mrs. Wolfe countered by charging that Wolfe had deleted her name from deeds to property they held jointly.

When his wife first sued for divorce, the court granted her temporary custody of their son, occupancy of the family home in Wilmette and $200 a month for child support.

Policy Panel Has Questions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state House Policy Committee probably will pose several constitutional questions about Michigan's new campaign disclosure and political reporting law next week, says Rep. John Markes, committee chairman. The list will specify in detail the parts of the 71-page law which the legislature wants the State Supreme Court to review, said Markes, D-Livonia. The Supreme Court earlier this week rejected a request, made in writing at the end of the printed law, that certain sections be reviewed by the high court.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Despite their boasts of total control, Portugal's moderate military leaders were challenged today with stubborn pockets of mutinous leftist resistance in the ranks.

Military sources expressed confidence that the remaining rebels could be talked into surrender without the use of force.

Most dangerous was the paratroop base at Tancos, which authorities said Wednesday was under control. Paratroopers who led last Tuesday's leftist revolt and then gave up without a fight have withdrawn to Tanco and were refusing to recognize central authority.

Military sources said there were 1,500 rebellious troops at the paratroop base about 60 miles northeast of Lisbon.

For the moment force was not being threatened and the paratroopers gave no sign they were ready to make a sortie from the base.

The sources also reported that soldiers in the 4th Infantry Regiment in Faro on the Algarve coast were refusing to obey orders.

Socialist party and Popular Democrat (PPD) activists massed at the regiment's gates early today as a form of pressure to gain obedience. There were no incidents.

Sources said that in the Algarve town of Lagos, the local base commander was refusing to obey his superiors' orders.

Air force chief of staff Gen. Jose Morais da Silva, who commands the paratroops, offered amnesty to enlisted men who ended their mutiny. He said only officers and noncoms responsible for the revolt would be punished.

Meantime, air force planes dropped leaflets on Lisbon this morning explaining the martial law restrictions in force since Tuesday when President Francisco da Costa Gomes proclaimed a state of siege for the Lisbon area.

"The state of siege imposed on the Lisbon military region

Nov. 25 consists of the temporary suppression of rights guaranteed to citizens in order to safeguard the supreme interest of public safety," the leaflets said.

The handbills listed the military headquarters where civilians with critical jobs could obtain safe-conduct passes to be on the streets during the midnight-to-5 a.m. curfew.

A presidential announcement late Thursday said Col. Ramalho Eanes had replaced Carlos Fabiao as army chief of staff. Premier Jose Pinheiro de Azevedo held Fabiao responsible for inciting leftist discontent.

The government also stationed commandos around the former headquarters of Otelo Saraiva de Carvalho, the radical military security chief who was stripped of his command and demoted to major after the revolt was crushed by loyalists.

Military sources said Carvalho had left Lisbon "for his own safety" after being given an open-ended furlough but other sources said later Thursday that he remained at his home.

A senior official said the government had evidence the plotting involved many officers and civilian activists not yet arrested.

"The coup was much more profound than anyone could have supposed," he said. "Many people were involved. We have indications of who was involved and which political forces were behind them, not only individuals but organizations. This has to be told to the people."

Eanes, who was promoted to general, is known to have planned the loyalist assault on the dissident paratroopers who seized four bases around the capital in the short-lived revolt Tuesday.

Military authorities published a list of 51 officers and noncoms imprisoned in an army stockade in Oporto, 175 miles north of

He's Divorce Fight Loser

WILMETTE, Ill. (AP) — After two years of divorce proceedings, James Wolfe has spent $36,000 on attorneys, shed 30 pounds and lost custody of his 8-year-old son John.

What's more, he says the divorce trail has left him "feeling like a squeezed grapefruit."

It all began when his wife, Judith, filed for divorce two years ago on grounds of mental cruelty. Since then Wolfe, 46, a real estate broker in this northern suburb of Chicago, says he has made 25 ap-proceedings. In fact, says, Wolfe, the husband was still alive.

Wolfe said his religious beliefs would have prevented appearances before eight different judges in divorce, chancery and criminal courts.

And litigation lingers on. Wolfe said he now lives with his parents. He says they're the only two people he can really trust.

Wolfe says he found evidence his wife hoodwinked him when they were married in 1965. He says she told him her former husband died in 1963 in an auto accident in Arizona. In fact, says, Wolfe, the husband was still alive.

He said he then filed a countersuit, asking for an annulment. He charged that his wife had produced a death certificate saying her first husband had been killed.

The complaint led to forgery charges against Mrs. Wolfe, who now lives in Fremont, Mich., with her son. The charges by the state's attorney's office are scheduled to be heard in Circuit Court here Jan. 19.

Mrs. Wolfe countered by charging that Wolfe had deleted her name from deeds to property they held jointly.

When his wife first sued for divorce, the court granted her temporary custody of their son, occupancy of the family home in Wilmette and $200 a month for child support.

Policy Panel Has Questions

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state House Policy Committee probably will pose several constitutional questions about Michigan's new campaign disclosure and political reporting law next week, says Rep. John Markes, committee chairman. The list will specify in detail the parts of the 71-page law which the legislature wants the State Supreme Court to review, said Markes, D-Livonia. The Supreme Court earlier this week rejected a request, made in writing at the end of the printed law, that certain sections be reviewed by the high court.

NEW DANGER: Wind-fanned brush fires in southern California were dying Thursday but hillsides like this — with the trees and brush away — pose a new problem: flooding when heavy rains come. DAMAGE $17.5 MILLION

Rains Help Contain LA Fires

By PATRICK ARNOLD
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The rains were the biggest fire fighter we had," said one weary fireman as two brush fires that had raged in the hills north and east of Los Angeles were contained.

In five days, the fires charred 100 square miles of land, caused $17.5 million damage, drove 5,000 persons from their homes and created the danger of flooding from winter storms.

Mop-up operations continued today, but all but a few of the thousands of fire fighters who struggled with the flames in the San Gabriel Mountains had gone home.

Officials declared the fires contained Thursday night after a cold front swept a quarter inch of rain into the area.

"We had planned three hard days for mop-up operations, but the rains did it in 20 minutes," said Dave Waite, a U.S. Forest Service official. "The rains were the biggest fire fighter we had."

The fires, one in the northern foothills above Los Angeles, the other 20 miles to the east above the San Gabriel Valley, burned mostly through timber lands and brush covered hills. They blanketed the city with smoke by day, and tinted the night sky with an orange glow.

Watershed damage to the now-denuded hillsides was pegged at about $17 million. The 40-odd structures damaged or destroyed by the fires added another $300,000 to the total bill.

Forest Service costs in fighting the flames were estimated at more than $1.5 million. Costs incurred by the Los Angeles city and county fire departments have not been determined.

With the fires contained, officials looked to the approaching winter storm season. Heavy rains frequently have brought floods and mudslides after brush fires in Southern California.

The Forest Service said seeding operations would begin

Sunday, when eight pounds of fast-germinating rye grass would be sowed over each acre. But there were fears the grass would not grow fast enough.

"It's a matter of timing," said Bob Reese, watershed and resources management officer in the Angeles National Forest. "It depends on how the rains come, whether we get gentle rain so the seeds can germinate. If we have a gully washer we're going to have problems."

Grocer Slain In 6th Holdup

DETROIT (AP) — The owner of a small West Side food market, who once shot and killed a Congressional Medal of Honor winner in a holdup attempt, was slain Wednesday during the sixth holdup at his store in two years.

Witness told police two armed men entered the Open Pantry Food Mart about 9:20 p.m. and that one of them immediately, inexplicably, pumped several shots into Charles Van Landeghem as he sat at his desk in the rear of the store.

The bandits fled with $40. Van Landeghem was injured on April 20, 1971, during an exchange of gunfire with Dwight H. Johnson — the first Michigan man to win the Congressional Medal of Honor in Vietnam. Johnson had entered the store alone and was shot to death when he tried to hold up the merchant.

Feeling Runs High In Aussie Campaign

By THOMAS KENT
Associated Press Writer
SYDNEY, Australia (AP) — From the streets of Sydney to the lonely outback, Australia is going through the most bitter and costly election campaign in its 74 years as a nation.

With each major party claiming in all seriousness that dictatorship and economic ruin will ensue unless it is elected, feelings are running high and tempers short as the country approaches election day Dec. 13.

Angry taxi drivers in Sydney have pressed their two-way radios into the political battle, shouting "Rubbish!" and "You mug!" at anyone in the next cab who doesn't like their party.

Party supporters are being urged to buy "bronze loyalty plaques" — at $190 apiece — with the image of their leader.

The Labor party says it expects to spend the equivalent in Australian currency of $882,000 and sources in the conservative Liberal party say they figure their expenses will run about $1.3 million for the three-week campaign. Both say this is the largest they have ever spent on an election.

Individual candidates for the House of Representatives and the Senate are limited to $630 each but this law is winked at by practically everyone.

The nation's seven million voters are rallying behind either Labor party leader Gough Whitlam, who was fired as prime minister Nov. 11 by Queen Elizabeth's representative, or behind the caretaker government under Malcolm Fraser's Liberal party.

There are the usual buttons and bumper stickers — including "I'm a Liberal lover" for Fraser's supporters and the sarcastic "Fraser, you're really beginning to scare me" from the Labor camp. Advertising agencies for both parties are hard at work.

Bumper stickers brought grief to a group of Labor supporters in Canberra, the federal capital. Liberal supporters, who often accuse Labor people of Socialist leanings, poured red paint over the stickers and the rest of the cars.

Labor men, who accuse the Liberals of being in the palm of big business and foreign monopolies, got in their licks by kicking in the sides of a luxury automobile in Sydney.

Fraser's Liberals are stressing Australia's 12.6 per cent inflation rate and the 5 per cent jobless rate — twice last year's — in the 6-million-member work force. They claim the Labor government could have shielded Australia far better from worldwide recession.

Whitlam maintains his government did the best it could under the economic conditions, and is directing most of his effort at claiming Fraser's forces unseated him in a "bloodless coup d'etat" that defied all Australian political conventions.

Governor General Sir John Kerr, the queen's representative, dismissed Whitlam after Fraser's coalition, which controls the Senate, blocked Whitlam's 1975-76 budget for 28 days and the government began running out of money.

Whitlam claims the House of Representatives, which the Laborites controlled, has the exclusive right to make and unmake governments.

Both parties have been struggling to keep their campaigns moving across this country nearly as big as the continental United States. Whitlam and Fraser, riding air force jets, are dispensing their campaign promises at rallies ranging from 20,000 people in big cities to 200 or so at outback towns.

In one of his longest journeys, Fraser flew 1,700 miles to Darwin, still largely a wreck from a 1974 Christmas cyclone. Ignoring meat pies and eggs thrown by Labor supporters, he promised a Liberal government would give full citizenship to the federal territory of barely 70,000 people.

Shortly afterward, Liberal spokesmen in Tasmania, at the southern end of Australia, assured the locals that they would help fund a "national park of world significance" in the state.

Labor politicians are making their own election promises, including continuation of their expensive social programs while simultaneously controlling government spending.

Political leaders on both sides have been calling for verbal restraint, especially since letter bombs were mailed this month to some politicians.

But as the nation moves toward election day, commentators say there is no guarantee that high emotions will not transform themselves again into violence.

"It is a delusion to sanctimoniously proclaim our superior virtue and wisdom by disdainfully referring to banana republics elsewhere," the Canberra Times said in an editorial. "It can happen here, too."

Time Is Running Out For Four Lottery Winners

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Four lottery winners from last December are either lingering or losing by not coming forward to claim minimum $10,000 prizes, the state Lottery Bureau said Wednesday.

The 50-cent green winning tickets were drawn in December, 1974, and winners have only a year after their ticket is drawn to claim their prize.

The four tickets qualify their holders for a spot on the lottery's television show, Super

Play, where they can win up to $200,000 and are guaranteed of at least $10,000.

For last year's Dec. 12 drawing, tickets with the winning numbers 350-175 were bought from Ara's Party Store in Dearborn and Dunleavy's Horseshoe Bar in Detroit. For last year's Dec. 19 drawing, winning tickets with numbers 947-584 were bought at Flair Cleaners in Farmington and Uptown Laundry in Highland Park.

Lottery prizes unclaimed after a year are put in Michigan's general fund.

Judge Visits Troubled School

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. heard testimony Monday on the motion filed by the NAACP and visited the school Wednesday. Closing arguments are scheduled before him today.

Wedding Reception Ends With Death Of Bridegroom

WESTLAND, Mich. (AP) — A wedding reception ended in tragedy early Thursday when the bridegroom was killed while trying to break up a fight between his two brothers.

Westland police said the fight occurred outside the wedding reception for Robert E. Lee, 23, and Sandra Niemi.

Witnesses told police the scuffle involved Carl Lee, 25, and 20-year-old Terry Lee. It was their third fight of the evening, said police, who were called to break up the first two encounters.

Witnesses told police that Carl struck Robert when he intervened and that Robert's head hit a wooden column. Police said he was dead at the scene.

Police said they were holding Carl pending further investigation.

Asks Contractor Licenses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman of a special House committee investigating the Port Huron and Mount Clemens tunnel explosions said the state should find some way to license or regulate underground contractors to prevent future disasters.

Testimony before the committee by two Labor Department officials revealed that current law does not require underground contractors to be licensed or registered with the state. Officials also acknowledged the labor department has not done safety ratings on contractors for at least two years, though once required by law.

Fleecing Aged Irks Judge; Woman Wins $892,000

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County Circuit Court judge has awarded a $892,000 settlement to a 66-year-old woman because the judge says he's tired of seeing a "fleecing of the elderly" by elements of the dance industry.

Judge Joseph A. Sullivan awarded former Detroit Anna Bartruff $300,000 against John Salonz of New York City, who once owned the Fred Astaire Dance Studio in Detroit.

The judge also awarded Miss Bartruff, now of Waukegan, Ill., $592,000 against four other defendants, including the Miami developers of Fred Astaire Dance Studios.

"I'm very pleased," Miss Bartruff said following the settlement Wednesday. "It will give me the money that I need so that I can live in a dignified manner."

Mrs. Bartruff claimed in a five-year legal battle that operators of the dance studio had bilked her of her entire $82,000 life savings by convincing her she had a future in dance.

"It seems to me that there must be some sanction utilized to discourage this kind of fleecing of the elderly, and hopefully, if nothing else works, maybe very large judgments will do the job," Sullivan said.

"My own feeling is that the dance industry is really doing nothing to discourage this type of conduct."

Kidnap Victim Reported To Be American Citizen

TURIN, Italy (AP) — U.S. Consular officials today said the kidnaped 54-year-old relative of Italian auto magnate Gianni Agnelli is a naturalized American citizen.

The woman, Carla Barba Navaretti, was abducted in Turin on Wednesday. Her son is married to Agnelli's daughter.

"We are going to express our concern to local authorities," a U.S. official said.

Mrs. Barba Navaretti was Italy's 52nd known kidnap victim this year.

Time Is Running Out For Four Lottery Winners

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Four lottery winners from last December are either lingering or losing by not coming forward to claim minimum $10,000 prizes, the state Lottery Bureau said Wednesday.

The 50-cent green winning tickets were drawn in December, 1974, and winners have only a year after their ticket is drawn to claim their prize.

The four tickets qualify their holders for a spot on the lottery's television show, Super

Play, where they can win up to $200,000 and are guaranteed of at least $10,000.

For last year's Dec. 12 drawing, tickets with the winning numbers 350-175 were bought from Ara's Party Store in Dearborn and Dunleavy's Horseshoe Bar in Detroit. For last year's Dec. 19 drawing, winning tickets with numbers 947-584 were bought at Flair Cleaners in Farmington and Uptown Laundry in Highland Park.

Lottery prizes unclaimed after a year are put in Michin's general fund.

Fleecing Aged Irks Judge; Woman Wins $892,000

DETROIT (AP) — A Wayne County Circuit Court judge has awarded a $892,000 settlement to a 66-year-old woman because the judge says he's tired of seeing a "fleecing of the elderly" by elements of the dance industry.

Judge Joseph A. Sullivan awarded former Detroit Anna Bartruff $300,000 against John Saionz of New York City, who once owned the Fred Astaire Dance Studio in Detroit.

Mrs. Bartruff claimed in a five-year legal battle that operators of the dance studio had bilked her of her entire $82,000 life savings by convincing her she had a future in dance.

Mrs. Barba Navaretti was Italy's 52nd known kidnap victim this year.

The judge also awarded Miss Bartruff, now of Waukegan, Ill., $582,000 against four other defendants, including the Miami developers of Fred Astaire Dance Studios.

"I'm very pleased," Miss Bartruff said following the settlement Wednesday. "It will give me the money that I need so that I can live in a dignified manner."

Judge Visits Troubled School

BOSTON (AP) — A federal judge, having made a personal inspection of South Boston High School, will hear final arguments on a motion to close the racially troubled school that has been a center of antibusing protest in Boston.

U.S. District Court Judge W. Arthur Garrity Jr. heard testimony Monday on the motion filed by the NAACP and visited the school Wednesday. Closing arguments are scheduled before him today.

Wedding Reception Ends With Death Of Bridegroom

WESTLAND, Mich. (AP) — A wedding reception ended in tragedy early Thursday when the bridegroom was killed while trying to break up a fight between his two brothers.

Westland police said the fight occurred outside the wedding reception for Robert E. Lee, 22, and Sandra Niemi.

Witnesses told police the scuffle involved Carl Lee, 25, and 20-year-old Terry Lee. It was their third fight of the evening, said police, who were called to break up the first two encounters.

Witnesses told police that Carl struck Robert when he intervened and that Robert's head hit a wooden column. Police said he was dead at the scene.

Police said they were holding Carl pending further investigation.

Asks Contractor Licenses

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The chairman of a special House committee investigating the Port Huron and Mount Clemens tunnel explosions said the state should find some way to license or regulate underground contractors to prevent future disasters. Testimony before the committee by two Labor Department officials revealed that current law does not require underground contractors to be licensed or registered with the state. Officials also acknowledged the labor department has not done safety ratings on contractors for at least two years, though once required by law.

Ford Plan For NYC Aid Heads Congress Agenda

WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess, the top item on its agenda will be President Ford's proposal that the United States loan New York City the money it needs to avoid default.

Boy Sues Father To Win Freedom

DETROIT (AP) — An 11-year-old mental patient kept in Ypsilanti State Hospital under his father's authority has sued for his release in U.S. District Court.

The boy, John C. Campbell Jr., of Westland, was admitted to the hospital in April 1973.

Under the state's new mental health code, his father last February signed a form to keep the boy in the hospital.

Attorney Gabe Kaimowitz said Wednesday the law entitles the boy to a hearing, but he never got one.

The class action suit was filed on behalf of all persons in Michigan under 18 years old who are in state mental hospitals on their parents' signatures but without hearings.

The suit charges they are being held in violation of the equal protection and due process provisions of the 14th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The suit says those under 18 are "subjected to incarceration, forced chemotherapy...and arbitrary transfers to and from hospitals."

A Dec. 15 hearing was scheduled before U.S. District Court Judge Cornelia Kennedy.

A representative of the state Department of Mental Health declined direct comment pending a study of the suit.

CELLIST WON'T RETURN

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Russian cellist Mstislav Rostropovich says he hopes to retain his Soviet citizenship but has no plans to return to his homeland when his two-year exit visa expires next spring.

to any aid to the city, mostly from Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Ford said self-help steps taken by New York City and the state to increase revenues and cut expenses led him to reconsider his stand. He said the city "has bailed itself out."

Ford's proposal would require the city to pay back borrowed money each year with interest. The interest rate would be at least the going rate at which the federal government itself borrows money — now about 7 per cent — but the treasury secretary would be empowered to assess an additional 1 per cent interest on top of that.

Under Ford's plan, the federal government will have first call on all city funds to assure repayment of the loans.

Mayor Abraham D. Beame said New York's problems are far from being resolved, but he called Ford's proposal "a crucial turning point" in the city's year-long fiscal crisis.

Gov. Hugh Carey said that "talk of collapse and chaos should now disappear."

Even with federal aid, New York officials said the city still must end a $725 million operating deficit in its budget by June 30, 1978. Officials indicated this will mean further layoffs and cutbacks in city services.

New York state also will have to balance its budget. Carey says the state will end up $700 million in the red this year. State Republicans say the deficit will be $300 million.

In addition, it is possible four state agencies still could default on their bonds next month. David Rockefeller, chairman of the Chase Manhattan Bank, said Thursday that the four agencies might need federal help to come up with the money in time to avoid default.

The four agencies are the Housing Finance Agency, the Dormitory Authority, the Department of Mental Health and the Environmental Facilities Corporation.

Oil Drilling Could Hurt Environment--DNR Report

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Oil and gas drilling could have ill effects on plant and animal life in the Pigeon River Country State Forest, according to a Department of Natural Resources report which was obtained by the student newspaper at Michigan State University.

The State News obtained material included in the DNR's environmental impact statement and published a story on its conclusions in Wednesday's editions.

The study wasn't scheduled to be released to the public until next month, but DNR Director Howard Tanner confirmed the excerpts published by the students.

Drilling in the 90,000-acre Pigeon River area, northeast of Gaylord in the northern Lower Peninsula, would disturb sensitive wildlife, including elk, bear and bobcat, and would adversely impact the quality of recreational experience, according to the DNR study.

Drilling also would temporarily "disturb" plant communities in upland areas of the forest and result in some stream siltation, the report said.

Tanner ordered the environmental impact study following the state's decision earlier this year to halt drilling on Pigeon River lands leased by major oil companies more than five years ago.

The rare elk herd, one of the state's few remaining such herds, almost certainly would have to leave the area during the estimated 30 years the oil companies want to drill in the area, the study said.

"Some lesser impact will occur to bear and bobcat which, like elk, are sensitive to man-made intrusions," the study said.

The summary's lone recommendation was that royalties the state would be paid by the drillers could be applied to buy up other unspoiled natural areas to preserve for future generations.

Ford Plan For NYC Aid Heads Congress Agenda

By DAVE RILEY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — When Congress returns from its Thanksgiving recess, the top item on its agenda will be President Ford's proposal that the United States loan New York City the money it needs to avoid default.

Ford, backing away from his hard-line stand against offering any federal assistance to the city, said at his Wednesday night news conference that he would submit legislation to Congress which would provide up to $2.3 billion in federal loans to the city. The year-to-year loan authority would expire in 1978.

Lawmakers indicated Ford's plan would receive immediate consideration when Congress reconvenes Monday and there were numerous predictions it would win quick approval. But some cited continued opposition to any aid to the city, mostly from Republicans and conservative Democrats.

Ford said self-help steps taken by New York City and the state to increase revenues and cut expenses led him to reconsider his stand. He said the city "has bailed itself out."

Narc Chief Says Arrests Imply A 'Bundle Of Users'

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Arrests of 10 people as alleged heroin merchants imply "there's one bundle of users" in the Benton Harbor-Benton township area, according to Lt. Jack Drach, commander of the Berrien Metro narcotics squad.

The 10 were arraigned Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court along with seven others named in warrants charging delivery of drugs. Ten other people were still being sought on warrants charging sale of drugs.

Drach said that if those accused of selling heroin are convicted, it could shut off major sources of supply in the Twin City area.

Wednesday's raids climaxed a two-month investigation, aimed at alleged high and middle echelon dealers in Berrien county, he said. District Judge John T. Hammond set high bonds on those arraigned Wednesday, and it was not clear immediately, due to a new bonding procedure, who had posted bail.

Demanding examinations on the following charges were:

Delivery of heroin — Johnnie Lee Cates, 25, of 275 Pleasant, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bonds totaled $40,000; Anthony L. Johnson, 22, of 518 Whitecomb court, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bonds totaled $40,000; Tyronne "DD" Hitchcock, 26, of 1008 Superior, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bond was $20,000; Fred M. Wallace, 28, of 150 Smith, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Anthony T. Love, 23, of 855 Mineral, Benton Harbor, on a second offense, bond was $25,000.

Others charged with delivery of heroin were: Richard A. Cobb, 17, of 2153 Ruth, Benton township, bond was $20,000; Freddie Johnson, 24, of 356 Washington, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Mrs. Cynthia Scales, 33, of 723 Columbus, Benton Harbor, on a second offense, bond was $25,000; Wilbur Gillespie, Jr., 33, of 207 Bellview Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000.

Delivery of cocaine — Charles Perry, 35, of 368 1/2 Brunson, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Roy D. Huddleston, no address, bond was $15,000.

Delivery of marijuana — Clinton Pierce, 22, of 573 Baird, Benton Harbor, on three counts, bonds were $8,000; Thomas L. Hill, 26, of same address, bond was $2,000; Leon Johnson, 27, of 1775 Council, Benton township, bond was $2,000.

Others demanding examination were:

Franklin L. Barber, 21, of 945 Buss, Benton Harbor, on charges of delivery of heroin and marijuana. Bonds totaled $2,000.

Stanley L. Shafer, 21, of 1879 Union, Benton township, charged with delivery of cocaine and heroin. Bonds totaled $35,000.

Freddie Davis, 26, of 341 Brunson, Benton Harbor, on a charge of delivery of phenmetrazine Oct. 29 in Benton Harbor. Bond was $10,000.

White Couple Charges Bias In Placing Biracial Children

DETROIT (AP) — A white Detroit couple has filed a federal discrimination suit against the Michigan Department of Social Services for giving black families priority in the placement of biracial children.

Patrick Sevon and his wife, Joan, filed the class action suit after their biracial foster daughter, Erica, was taken from them Tuesday and placed in the home of black foster parents.

Erica is 6 months old, and the Sevons say they are concerned about the impact of moving her, without good reason, from one home to another.

"What I am so upset about is that they are taking away an innocent child and placing her in another foster home with the possibility of emotional problems resulting," Mrs. Sevon said.

"I may lose my (foster parent) license, but I'm going to fight this all the way. I'm tired of the social services department emotionally destroying children by moving them all the time."

The suit asks that Erica be returned to the Sevons and asks an injunction against continuation of the policy.

The Sevons' attorney, Henry Baskin, said the policy is "tantamount to reinstating the past philosophies of racial discrimination in this country in years past and abortively attempted by certain European dictatorships."

"The placement of these children is not based on their best interest and stability, but it is based on their color," he said.

"The social service department uses their own rules and regulations and not the (Michigan) Child Custody Act, which considers the stability of the child and not racial or (biological) parentage considerations."

The department's policy stems from pressure brought by the National Association of Black Social Workers, which argues that children who look black should be considered black and not biracial, a department spokesman said.

The department is even getting away from the "biracial designation," he said.

"If a child appears to be black, we prefer to indicate the child is black even though there may be some white heritage," the spokesman said. "If he appears black, that is the way he will be treated by society, and that is the way we have to plan for him in terms of the racial identity he needs."

A hearing on the request for a restraining order was set for Monday before U.S. District Court Judge Fred Kaess.

Narc Chief Says Arrests Imply A 'Bundle Of Users'

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Arrests of 10 people as alleged heroin merchants imply "there's one bundle of users" in the Benton Harbor-Benton township area, according to Lt. Jack Drach, commander of the Berrien Metro narcotics squad.

The 10 were arraigned Wednesday in Berrien Fifth District court along with seven others named in warrants charging delivery of drugs. Ten other people were still being sought on warrants charging sale of drugs.

Drach said that if those accused of selling heroin are convicted, it could shut off major sources of supply in the Twin City area.

Wednesday's raids climaxed a two-month investigation, aimed at alleged high and middle echelon dealers in Berrien county, he said. District Judge John T. Hammond set high bonds on those arraigned Wednesday, and it was not clear immediately, due to a new bonding procedure, who had posted bail.

Demanding examinations on the following charges were:

Delivery of heroin — Johnnie Lee Cates, 25, of 275 Pleasant, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bonds totaled $40,000; Anthony L. Johnson, 22, of 518 Whitcomb court, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bonds totaled $40,000; Tyrone "DD" Hitchcock, 26, of 1008 Superior, Benton Harbor, on two charges, bond was $20,000; Fred M. Wallace, 29, of 150 Smith, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Anthony T. Love, 23, of 855 Mineral, Benton Harbor, on a second offense, bond was $25,000.

Others charged with delivery of heroin were: Richard A. Cobb, 17, of 2153 Ruth, Benton township, bond was $20,000; Freddie Johnson, 24, of 356 Washington, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Mrs. Cynthia Scales, 33, of 723 Columbus, Benton Harbor, on a second offense, bond was $25,000; Wilbur Gillespie, Jr., 33, of 207 Bellview Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000.

Delivery of cocaine — Charles Perry, 35, of 368 1/2 Brunson, Benton Harbor, bond was $20,000; Roy D. Huddleston, no address, bond was $15,000.

Delivery of marijuana — Clinton Pierce, 22, of 573 Baird, Benton Harbor, on three counts, bonds were $6,000; Thomas L. Hill, 26, of same address, bond was $2,000; Leon Johnson, 27, of 1775 Council, Benton township, bond was $2,000.

Others demanding examination were:

Franklin L. Barber, 21, of 945 Buss, Benton Harbor, on charges of delivery of heroin and marijuana. Bonds totaled $22,000.

Stanley L. Shafer, 21, of 1879 Union, Benton township, charged with delivery of cocaine and heroin. Bonds totaled $35,000.

Freddie Davis, 25, of 341 Brunson, Benton Harbor, on a charge of delivery of phenemetraxine Oct. 29 in Benton Harbor. Bond was $10,000.

White Couple Charges Bias In Placing Biracial Children

DETROIT (AP) — A white Detroit couple has filed a federal discrimination suit against the Michigan Department of Social Services for giving black families priority in the placement of biracial children.

Patrick Sevon and his wife, Joan, filed the class action suit after their biracial foster daughter, Erica, was taken from them Tuesday and placed in the home of black foster parents.

Erica is 6 months old, and the Sevons say they are concerned about the impact of moving her, without good reason, from one home to another.

"What I am so upset about is that they are taking away an innocent child and placing her in another foster home with the possibility of emotional problems resulting," Mrs. Sevon said.

"I may lose my (foster parent) license, but I'm going to fight this all the way. I'm tired of the social services department emotionally destroying children by moving them all the time."

The suit asks that Erica be returned to the Sevons and asks an injunction against continuation of the policy.

The Sevons' attorney, Henry Baskin, said the policy is "tantamount to reinstating the past philosophies of racial discrimination in this country in years past and abortively attempted by certain European dictators."

"The placement of these children is not based on their best interest and stability, but it is based on their color," he said. "The social service department uses their own rules and regulations and not the (Michigan) Child Custody Act, which considers the stability of the child and not racial or (biological) parentage considerations."

The department's policy stems from pressure brought by the National Association of Black Social Workers, which argues that children who look black should be considered black and not biracial, a department spokesman said.

The department is even getting away from the "biracial designation," he said.

"If a child appears to be black, we prefer to indicate the child is black even though there may be some white heritage," the spokesman said. "If he appears black, that is the way he will be treated by society, and that is the way we have to plan for him in terms of the racial identity he needs."

A hearing on the request for a restraining order was set for Monday before U.S. District Court Judge Fred Kaess.

Granny Tackles 2 'Biggies'

DETROIT (AP) — A 79-year-old grandmother, who gets by on a $80-a-month Social Security pension, is tackling two of the state's largest corporations, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. and Kenalmar Engineering Inc.

Sylvia Williams has been asking them for the past nine months to pay for damage done to her garage while they were laying gas lines near her West Side home.

"They're giving me the runaround, boy," she said.

Mrs. Williams, a widow the past 20 years, used to supplement her pension check by renting her wooden three-car garage to neighbors. It brought her an additional $45 monthly. "You don't know how badly I needed that extra $45 to make ends meet," she said.

But she has been unable to rent the garage since last March when a Kenalmar bulldozer nearly wrecked it while laying pipe nearby for Consolidated.

The garage's doors no longer open, and it is buckled so that it appears on the verge of collapse.

Both companies acknowledge the mishap, although Consolidated says Kenalmar should pay since it was the construction company's bulldozer that caused the damage.

But Travelers Insurance Co., which represents Kenalmar, has offered Mrs. Williams only $100 for the damage.

The feisty little grandmother said that's not enough to fix the garage so that it can be used again, and that's where the stalemate stands today.

"I never heard of people going around wrecking other people's property before," Mrs. Williams said, adding that she will not cash the $100 check "because then they'll close the books and forget about this."

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — The trial of Charles Manson follower Lynette Fromme was a "trying" time for the jurors who convicted her of attempting to assassinate President Ford, the judge says.

U.S. District Court Judge Thomas J. MacBride said the jury, which had been sequestered during the three-week trial, sent him word that they wanted no public exposure — no press interviews, no photographs.

"This has been a trying experience for them, to say the least, and they do not want to be subjected to any more publicity than they have already," he explained.

On Thanksgiving Day, members of the jury could not be reached at their homes for comment on the deliberations preceding their verdict Wednesday.

After the verdict, Sandra Good, a friend of Miss Fromme, predicted violence to those who oppose the cult of Manson, who is serving a life sentence in connection with the 1969 slayings of actress Sharon Tate and six others.

"Your children will rise up and kill you," Miss Good told reporters. "Your own children saw what you've done. Now you've judged yourself again. You all know money is your god." During the jury's 18½ hours of deliberations, the panel was reported deadlocked at one point, but they offered no hint of their initial voting or how they reached the guilty verdict that could send Miss Fromme to prison on a life sentence.

Both the defense and prosecution agreed that Miss Fromme was seeking publicity for Manson when she pointed a .45-caliber pistol at Ford here Sept. 5 in a park outside the state Capitol.

But the prosecution argued — successfully — that she intended to fire the gun, while the defense claimed she was just threatening the President and called for a verdict of assault, which carries a maximum 10-year sentence.

Authorities said the automatic pistol's chamber was empty, but there were four shells in the magazine.

The trial included the first oral testimony at a criminal trial by a president in office. President Ford gave videotape testimony that he saw little more than a hand point a gun from a crowd.

Miss Fromme told the judge in court that she did not try to kill Ford and her only purpose was to get a new trial for Manson.

The diminutive 27-year-old red-haired defendant was the first person convicted under a 1965 federal law which provides a maximum of life imprisonment for presidential assassination attempts. Sentencing is set for Dec. 17.

Library Board Foes Of Males, Applicant Says

HULL, Mass. (AP) — John J. McCauley says he lost his bid for a job because the people who rejected him are prejudiced against male librarians.

The Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination is investigating the 58-year-old Hull resident's charge that he was turned down for a job as assistant librarian at Hull Public Library because all of the library staff are women and he would be the only male.

He said his application was rejected on a 4-2 vote by library trustees, and said four of them were women. A Hingham woman was named to the part-time post which pays $3.41 hourly for a 30-hour week.

Bloom'dale Township Zoning Panel Calls Hearing

BLOOMINGDALE — The Bloomington township zoning commission will hold a public hearing Dec. 11 to consider five amendments to the township zoning ordinance, according to Allen Van Horn, commission chairman.

The hearing will begin at 8 p.m. in the Bloomington town hall.

The amendments deal with minimum lot sizes for residential uses, keeping of animals in residential areas, mobile home requirements, and the establishment of a minimum fee of $125 for applicants requesting amendments to the ordinance.

Chrysler UK Ruling Due Soon

DETROIT (AP) — A decision on the fate of Chrysler Corporation's ailing United Kingdom subsidiary is expected soon, probably next week, says a company spokesman.

Chrysler chairman John Riccardo and president Eugene Caliero met Wednesday and Thursday with British leaders, the spokesman said.

"The Chrysler officials laid out undisclosed options for keeping the U.K. automotive operation afloat or allowing it to go out of business, the spokesman said.

"Chrysler has put alternative proposals to the government," the firm and government said in a joint statement Thursday. "A joint examination of these difficult issues is now approaching completion and the secretary of state for industry (Eric Varley) expects to be able to make an announcement shortly."

Riccardo has said recently that he is anxious to rid his firm of Chrysler U.K. as quickly as possible. The subsidiary has amassed losses of $68.7 million since July 1974 and is expected to continue heavily in the red.

NINE TOLL AT 11 MIKASA, Japan (AP) — The death toll from a gas explosion inside a coal mine on Hokkaido Island climbed to 11 today with the recovery of another body.

The parent firm has lost $313 million in the same period.

Shutting down the entire operation reportedly would involve a one-time loss to the firm of $100 million to $170 million. Chrysler U.K. has some $350 million worth of plant equipment and employs 27,000 workers.

Among the various proposals reportedly before Prime Minister Harold Wilson is a plan for the government to take over the firm.

But Britain recently did just that with the British Leyland auto firm, and observers say a merger of Leyland and Chrysler U.K. would not be workable.

Caroline Notes 18th Birthday

LONDON (AP) — Caroline Kennedy celebrated her 18th birthday in London with a modest hamburger and glass of wine, a London Daily Mail columnist reported today.

President Kennedy's daughter even refused a bottle of champagne on the house during the sparse luncheon gathering Thursday at Morton's Restaurant.

heavily guarded plantation just outside this university town.

This pampered, pedigree marijuana is from the University of Mississippi's five-acre farm, the country's only legal marijuana fields. The crop has been going to researchers at other universities including Columbia, Tulane, Stanford and Berkeley because scientists desire a standard variety of marijuana that allows experiments at different locations to be compared.

Dr. Carlton Turner, director of the project, said the program also provides marijuana of precisely calibrated strength to aid experiments in countries ranging from Brazil to Great Britain, Norway and Greece.

Another Ole Miss scientist, Dr. Coy W. Waller, said the Mississippi marijuana project has sought to maintain a "very low profile" since its inception in 1968, partly because of security problems.

Protection around the marijuana plantation and a storage warehouse includes high fences, guards, television monitors and other measures — accounting for some $40,000 of the project's $150,000 budget.

However, Waller indicated that the calm campus spirit here has helped the project's security.

"This is one of the few campuses where we could get away with our program" without such trouble, the researcher said.

He added: "People in Mississippi have always respected authority. We still have our students saying: 'Yes, sir.'"

The project at Ole Miss also is launching a new effort to monitor the potency of marijuana seized by law enforcement officers throughout the United States.

Turner said in an interview at the university's School of Pharmacy that under a grant from the National Institute on Drug Abuse, the program was starting to analyze samples sent to Oxford by the U.S. Drug Enforcement Administration from major seizures of marijuana, hashish and hashish oil.

Waller, told a Senate panel earlier this year that there was evidence of a continuing increase in the strength of marijuana being used in this country.

Waller, head of the school's Research Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences, noted recent growth in smuggling of marijuana from Colombia and Jamaica, competing with lesser-strength Mexican cannabis.

He said the concentration of Delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) — the prime drug in marijuana — could range up to 6 per cent for some varieties from Brazil, compared with about 1.5 to 2 per cent for Mexican marijuana.

The Senate internal security subcommittee plans to hold further hearings in January to examine the marijuana situation. The subcommittee is chaired by Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Bombs Found On Jet

MIAMI (AP) — A jetliner on which two timebombs were found would have been in the air when the devices were to explode, officials say.

Police said the bombs were found on the Bahamasair plane Thursday just minutes before 62 holiday travelers were to board the Nassau-bound flight.

Airline official Thomas Hughes said the plane's schedule would have put it in the air on a return flight to the U.S. at noon, when the devices were set to explode.

"There was a telephoned bomb threat to airport personnel," said Police Sgt. Denis Shaw. "We found two bombs — plastic explosives with a detonator and a watch for a timer — in two different places in a lavatory."

"We removed the aircraft away from the terminal to the center of the field, and an officer of the bomb squad deactivated them. Other aircraft were searched but nothing else was found."

After the bombs aboard the aircraft were disarmed, a man identifying himself as "Ernesto" telephoned news media in Miami, said he was the leader of an organization called "Cuban Power 76" and claimed responsibility for the bombs.

He said the action was to protest the Bahamian government's law banning Miami-based Cuban lobster fishermen from waters surrounding the Bahamas.

"I don't want no innocent Americans killed," the caller said. The Bahamas passed a law July 9 declaring the spiny lobster off limits to U.S. fishermen. More than 1,200 Cuban exile fishermen have been thrown out of work by the edict.

In an apparently unrelated incident, a pipe bomb was discovered at an apartment complex at the University of Miami, in suburban Coral Gables, police said.

Officers said a bomb was found wedged between the solid wooden door and screen door of an apartment belonging to a Cuban-American couple.

"That thing should have gone off," said Sgt. Richard Keller. "The fuse had burned down to the cap, and it just didn't explode."

Mrs. Groth said the deadline has passed for entering dogs.

FORD'S HOME TOWN 'WENT BUST'

NYC To Follow Grand Rapids?

By RUSS FULMAN

Associated Press Writer

If New York City goes bankrupt, it will be following in the footsteps—though some 40 years later—of the home town of President Ford.

Grand Rapids, Mich.—where Ford grew up—went into default during the Depression after struggling several years to avoid bankruptcy. At the time, Ford was attending the University of Michigan.

Ford was a student at the University of Michigan when his home town was sliding into default in 1933. "His chief interest," according to his biographer J.F. terHorst, "was helping Michigan win the Big Ten football championship."

Ford has repeatedly opposed federal loan guarantees or other aid to save New York City from default. But New York Gov. Hugh Carey has assembled a $6.4 billion debt-refinancing plan along with New York City tax increases in hopes that Ford will change his mind and support part of the plan with federal guarantees.

Grand Rapids, like other industrial cities, was hit hard by the Depression as businesses shut down and tax revenues declined. The Ford family business, a paint company, was hurt by bad times, and Ford consequently had to work his way through college.

By 1931, two years after the 1929 stock market crash triggered a massive decline in the nation's economy, Grand Rapids had reported to paying employees with scrip, according to the current Grand Rapids Comptroller, Robert Jamo. New York City officials also have considered the use of scrip to pay employees in a default.

The final blow which threw Grand Rapids into bankruptcy was the closing of Michigan banks in 1933, cutting the city off from $1 million it had deposited.

The state legislature gave cities in Michigan permission to refinance debts through new bonds, which were paid off by Grand Rapids in 1955.

Grand Rapids also received federal assistance for its recovery in the form of a $1.1 million loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corp. The loan became an outright grant later in the 1930s.

Andrews Linguist Finishes Translation

Dr. Jose Pacheco, assistant professor of modern language at Andrews university at Berrien Springs, recently completed translating a vocational training cassette tape and textbook from English to Spanish.

Dr. Pacheco, a member of the Andrews faculty for the past three years, was commissioned by the Whirlpool Corporation Technical Training center to translate the tape program and textbook, "Basic Electricity for Appliances," for the benefit of Spanish-speaking people in this country.

The translated book and tape, "Electricidad Basica Para Aparatos Caseros," is being offered to Spanish-speaking students training as appliance technicians.

Dr. Pacheco translated the textbook and script and narrated the two 90-minute Spanish cassette tapes. The staff of WAUS-FM radio station on the Andrews campus provided the facilities and engineering services to produce the Spanish recording.

A native of Cuba and a 15-year resident of the United States, Dr. Pacheco holds a master's degree and doctorate in Spanish literature and language, and attended the University of California graduate school. His wife, Elsa, a native of the Dominican Republic, is a registered dietitian and assistant food director at Andrews.

heavily guarded plantation just outside this university town. This pampered, pedigree marijuana is from the University of Mississippi's five-acre farm, the country's only legal marijuana fields. The crop has been going to researchers at other universities including Columbia, Tulane, Stanford and Berkeley because scientists desire a standard variety of marijuana that allows experiments at different locations to be compared.

Dr. Carlton Turner, director of the project, said the program also provides marijuana of precisely calibrated strength to aid experiments in countries ranging from Brazil to Great Britain, Norway and Greece. Another Ole Miss scientist, Dr. Coy W. Waller, said the Mississippi marijuana project has sought to maintain a "very low profile" since its inception in 1968, partly because of security problems.

Protection around the marijuana plantation and a storage warehouse includes high fences, guards, television monitors and other measures — accounting for some $40,000 of the project's $150,000 budget.

However, Waller indicated that the calm campus spirit here has helped the project's security.

"This is one of the few campuses where we could get away with our program" without such trouble, the researcher said.

He added: "People in Mississippi have always respected authority. We still have our students saying: 'Yes, sir.'"

SCHOOL SYSTEM SUED

Hyperactivity Pills For Pupils Hit

By RICHARD SALTUS
AP Science Writer

TAFT, Calif. (AP) — The growing national controversy over widespread drugging of children diagnosed as "hyperactive" has focused on a lawsuit against a school system in this remote desert oil field town.

The suit, filed by a San Francisco law reform agency on behalf of 18 pupils, does not directly attack the use of drugs to treat the condition, which is characterized by wild, restless behavior.

It does allege "coercion" by school officials, who are accused of threatening to keep children out of school unless they took the daily doses of pills.

Lawyers say it is the first civil suit to arise out of the controversy that has intensified during the past few years as use of the drugs has become more and more common. Estimates are that 500,000 to one million pupils take the pills every day.

If successful, says the author of a just-published book about the issue, the suit, which asks $450,000 damages, could "chasten" school officials across the country.

Administrators of the Taft City School District, which has about 1,800 pupils, mostly children of oil field workers, deny every charge. Supt. F. Gordon Cairns said the decision to prescribe drugs is "strictly between parents and their family doctor," and news reports about "school officials drugging students" anger him.

"We don't drug anybody, we don't write prescriptions; no one who works for the district has ever threatened to exclude a child from classes," Cairns says. He estimated that 60 or 70 district pupils, ranging in age from about 7 to early teens, were taking the drugs.

And, privately, some school officials say that the urban, reform-minded lawyers of the San Francisco Youth Law Center are pressing the suit to promote their own reputations.

Susanne Martinez, a Youth Law Center attorney, dismissed that accusation as a "diversionary tactic."

Just what is hyperactivity? To some doctors and psychologists, it is a definite syndrome also known as minimal brain dysfunction, with a group of symptoms that include restlessness, chronic inability to concentrate, emotional ups and downs, impulsive activity. It is likely to make the child fall far behind his classmates in learning.

There are many skeptics. Some believe a small percentage of children may have the condition, but that lots of others who are merely slow to mature emotionally, or who just have excess energy, are pinned with the label by teachers tired of coping with them.

There is no one sure test for the condition, rather, diagnosis depends on an accumulation of signs.

Peter Schrag, coauthor of "The Myth of the Hyperactive Child," says the diagnosis is made too frequently, and the drugs, which calm the child down, are in some cases overprescribed.

What usually leads to a prescription for the pills (most often Ritalin, a stimulant that for some reason has a calming effect on children) is a teacher's feeling that a student's distractibility is abnormal.

Taft school psychologist William Kent, a defendant in the suit, said: "Whenever I see a serious learning problem, my first thought is to get a medical referral."

The teacher or a school doctor or nurse may suggest to the parents that a pupil be seen by a local physician, who, after appropriate tests, may prescribe the drug. Specialists always emphasize that drugs are an adjunct to psychological and educational help.

Cairns concedes there may be some confusion in the Taft case because the school physician, Dr. Agnes Tarr, is the town's only pediatrician. She has said that during school hours, she merely suggests that the parent bring the child to her office in town after school.

But time after time in the 83-page complaint, Dr. Tarr is alleged to have phoned a drugstore from school for a prescription, sometimes without thoroughly examining the child.

Al Schaffer, who was seriously injured in a motor-cycle accident just before his son, Jamie, began having fights at school, feels his injury and resulting amnesia may have had a lot to do with Jamie's behavior.

"But they called him hyperactive and put him on the pill," he said. "Now, he has to line up at 11:30 every morning to take his pill, and the other kids call him 'dumbhead' and 'pillhead'."

Side effects of Ritalin are another issue in the suit. In at least one case, the drug is alleged to have induced an epileptic seizure, and several parents said their children acted like "zombies" while on the pill. This brings up the law of informed consent, which says the doctor has to give warning of all possible side effects — and any alternatives that could be tried — before a treatment is given on the patient's consent.

"We were never told there could be any side effects from Ritalin," said Juanita Morrison, whose son Anthony is a plaintiff. She says the pills give him headaches and a poor appetite.

Most people agree that the drugs do quiet hyperactive children. But does it solve their learning problems?

Psychologist Kent says: "I wouldn't want to make that claim. But I have noticed that hyperactive children in very early grades will regress as time goes by, and drug treatment seems to prevent them from slipping back."

"After reading through 500 to 1,000 journal articles," said Schrag, "we found no studies to indicate that the drugs make hyperactive kids learn any better. And we have found a large range of medical side effects."

BOYS AND PILLS: Three Taft, Calif., children display type of pills they take daily because they are considered "hyperactive." Lawsuit, backed by some Taft parents, alleges Taft school officials threaten to keep those they believe hyperactive out of school unless they take pills. Soo Men Awarded Nearly $1.3 Million

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A Chippewa County Circuit Court jury awarded $350,000 in damages this week to Frank Sauro of Sault Ste. Marie, whose wife was one of eight persons killed in a rail crossing accident last year.

The same jury earlier awarded $405,000 to Frank Darling and $450,000 to Forrest Cryderman. Both of those Sault Ste. Marie men lost a wife and two children in the mishap.

All three contended negligence by the Sault Line Railroad and the county road commission caused the mishap, which occurred in July 1974 near Rudyard when the train and a car collided at a crossing.

Jack Scott In Vegas Hospital

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Walter Scott, brother of sports activist Jack Scott, was in a local hospital today for "rest and observation" after telling police unknown persons wanted to kill him because they believed he was an FBI informer in the Patricia Hearst case.

Scott, 42, was taken to the Southern Nevada Memorial hospital after police responded to a disturbance call at an apartment complex managed by his father, John Scott.

Total awards sought in the suits by the three men were $1.2 million.

A suit filed by Fred Chamberlain, who lost his wife in the collision, has not come to trial.

"We don't drug anybody, we don't write prescriptions; no one who works for the district has ever threatened to exclude a child from classes," Cairns says. He estimated that 60 or 70 district pupils, ranging in age from about 7 to early teens, were taking the drugs.

And privately, some school officials say that the urban, reform-minded lawyers of the San Francisco Youth Law Center are pressing the suit to promote their own reputations.

Susanne Martinez, a Youth Law Center attorney, dismissed that accusation as a "diversionary tactic."

Just what is hyperactivity? To some doctors and psychologists, it is a definite syndrome also known as minimal brain dysfunction, with a group of symptoms that include restlessness, chronic inability to concentrate, emotional ups and downs, impulsive activity. It is likely to make the child fall far behind his classmates in learning.

There are many skeptics. Some believe a small percentage of children may have the condition, but that lots of others who are merely slow to mature emotionally, or who just have excess energy, are pinned with the label by teachers tired of coping with them.

There is no one sure test for the condition, rather, diagnosis depends on an accumulation of signs.

Peter Schrag, coauthor of "The Myth of the Hyperactive Child," says the diagnosis is made too frequently, and the drugs, which calm the child down, are in some cases overprescribed.

What usually leads to a prescription for the pills (most often Ritalin, a stimulant that for some reason has a calming effect on children) is a teacher's feeling that a student's distractiveness is abnormal.

Taft school psychologist William Kent, a defendant in the suit, said: "Whenever I see a serious learning problem, my first thought is to get a medical referral."

The teacher or a school doctor or nurse may suggest to the parents that a pupil be seen by a local physician, who, after appropriate tests, may prescribe the drug. Specialists always emphasize that drugs are an adjunct to psychological and educational help.

Cairns concedes there may be some confusion in the Taft case because the school physician, Dr. Agnes Tarr, is the town's only pediatrician. She has said that during school hours, she merely suggests that the parent bring the child to her office in town after school.

But time after time in the 83-page complaint, Dr. Tarr is alleged to have phoned a drugstore from school for a prescription, sometimes without thoroughly examining the child.

Al Schaffer, who was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident just before his son, Jamie, began having fights at school, feels his injury and resulting amnesia may have had a lot to do with Jamie's behavior.

Pearl, Sadat Cheek-To-Cheek

His Dance Irked Moslems

Q: Pearl Bailey is certainly one of our best goodwill ambassadors. I loved her dancing with President Sadat at the White House, but wondered how the Arab world felt about it. — O.J., Philadelphia, Pa.

A: Most Americans agree with you but not so in the Moslem world. In countries like Syria, Iraq and Libya the strict Moslem men will not dance in public with women and Sadat, in being very gracious, offended many of his Arab neighbors.

Q: Mick Jagger's wife, Bianca, certainly has an interesting face. Is she an actress? — D.D., Paducah, Ky.

A: When Bianca applied recently in London for an Actors Equity card to appear in a film there, she was classified as "not a professional actress." Since Equity's consent is required for hirings in this category the film was briefly held up until an agreement was worked out. So Bianca will star in "Trick or Treat" playing the role of a rich lesbian in the production to be filmed by Goodtimes Enterprises.

Q: I tried to buy a record by that wonderful singer Phoebe Snow. So what gives — nothing for sale by her? — B.V., Trenton, N.J.

A: Phoebe Snow's real name is Phoebe Laub and she made her first record for Columbia. But a company called Shelter now claims "Phoebe Snow" is a registered trademark and has enjoined Columbia from using the name temporarily. They are fighting it out of court.

Q: Remember when there was such a furor about the "high cost of dying"? Has it gotten any cheaper? — C.O., Racine, Wis.

A: We don't have any figures on this but if Threshold Inc. of Los Angeles has its way, dying may become slightly more costly but, perhaps, more pleasant. Threshold abhors the fact that four out of five Americans die in hospitals, alone, staring at ceilings and walls. For about $6 an hour Threshold plans to offer trained surrogates, or "death guides," who will stand by the terminally ill patients and ease their transition through "the final stage of human growth."

Q: Is Omar Sharif very popular in his native Egypt? — S.T., Mobile, Ala.

PHOEBE: Her name is in court.

A: The somewhat bizarre story is that Omar fled Egypt with his wife, Faten Hamama, during the Nasser regime when the secret police wanted them to sign on as undercover agents. In any case, though no longer living together, Faten and Omar have not returned to Egypt since their flight. Omar is said to believe that President Sadat will soon clear up this problem so he can go home as a hero.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Isn't Playboy's chauvinist-in-chief Hugh Hefner about to get some of his own medicine? Yes, indeed. He will soon be seen in the bookstores in the first foldout of him nude. It's Ballantine's paperback of the Hefner expose by Frank Brady and is a takeoff on Playboy's centerfolds. A feminine art director, Alice Turner, came up with the idea.

PEARL & SADAT: Dancing partners, but...

Early American Theater Was Shunned As Impious

By DONALD SANDERS
Associated Press Writer

Of all the arts in colonial America, theater was the slowest to develop, partially for economic reasons but perhaps more importantly because of the Puritan ethic.

Even the ferment of the Revolution, which increased the number of pamphlets, newspapers and other forms of the printed word, did not stimulate drama.

Then after the Revolution, the frequent playgoings of George Washington, a revered national figure, made theater-going more respectable and popular. By the late 1790s, respected citizens of many cities supported theaters and when the Chestnut Street Theater opened in Philadelphia in 1794, a contemporary account says it "immediately became a place of fashionable resort."

There was theater in the colonies long before the Revolution, much of it marked by harassment. John Anderson, in his book "The American Theater," says the first definite record is unhappily a police record dating from Aug. 27, 1685.

Some citizens of Accomac, Va., produced a playlet called "Ye Bare and Ye Cub." They were ordered to appear in court. "In those habiliments that they then acted in, and give a draught of such verses and speeches which were then acted by them." They were acquitted. Colonial Americans generally spurned the theater on grounds that it was impious, immoral and expensive. The Puritans regarded it as a worthless distraction from industry and religion. That view was shared by the New York burghers and the Pennsylvania Quakers.

Only in the aristocratic South were the planters more cordial. There was a theater at Williamsburg, Va., as early as 1716. A transplanted London actor named Anthony Aston played in New York in 1703 and wrote that he authored a play about the new country on his arrival in Charleston, S.C., a few years later.

About 1700, the New York governor approved a license for one Richard Hunter, who said he "had been at great charge and expense in providing persons and necessaries in order to the acting of plays in this city." There is no record whether he ever produced one.

By 1709 New York had enacted a law forbidding "play acting and prize fighting." Pennsylvania had a law stipulating a fine for anyone who built a theater or sold theater tickets, but it was set aside by the King's Council.

In October 1774, as the Revolution approached, the Continental Congress passed a resolution urging suspension of all public amusements; it was made mandatory four years later. On the British side, a group of officers in 1776 presented in Boston a play called "The Blockade of Boston," generally attributed to British Gen. John Burgoyne, a playwright by avocation.

It was not until 1787 that Royall Tyler, later to be a Vermont supreme court justice, wrote the first play by an American to be produced on an American stage.

Drama historians regard the play, called "The Contrast," as primitive. The play deals with a man named Jonathan, who affirms a preference for "Tabitha, her Bible, a cow and a little peaceable bundling."

Tyler did influence William Dunlap, an Irishman who became the country's first professional playwright with some 60 generally mediocre scripts to his credit near the end of the 18th century and the early part of the 19th.

Dunlap went bankrupt when he tried management, but he had one happy moment: George Washington attended a production of his "Darby's Return" in New York.

Early audiences seem to have been rather critical. As early as 1720, a notice in a Philadelphia newspaper read: "A Pistole (a Spanish coin worth $3.80) reward will be given to whoever can discover the person who was so very rude as to throw Eggs from the Gallery upon the Stage last Monday, by which the Cloaths of some Ladies and Gentlemen were spoiled, and the performance in some measure interrupted."

Profits Take Big Plunge

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Recession cut Rosapatch Corp. consolidated profits for fiscal 1975 by 44 1/2 per cent.

The label maker said its sales to the textile and apparel industries were hit particularly hard. Profits dipped to $688,600 compared with $1,240,400 a year earlier.

Earnings per share dropped from $1.39 to 77 cents although sales rose from $25.2 million to nearly $28.8 million.

R.F. Brush, the firm's president, said a favorable sales trend developed by the end of the year's final quarter. He said the trend is accelerating and predicted "significantly improved profitability in 1976 appears probable."

Today In History

By Associated Press
Today is Friday, Nov. 28, the 332nd day of 1975. There are 33 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:
On this date in 1520, the Portuguese navigator, Ferdinand Magellan, reached the Pacific Ocean after passing through the South American strait which now bears his name.

On this date:
In 1821, Panama declared itself independent of Spain and joined the Republic of Colombia.

In 1843, Britain and France recognized the independence of Hawaii.

In 1863, Americans observed the first Thanksgiving Day set aside by national proclamation.

In 1919, the first woman to be seated in the British House of Commons, Lady Astor, was elected.

In 1942, nearly 500 persons died in a fire that destroyed the Coconut Grove night club in Boston.

In 1960, West Germany's new government under Chancellor Willy Brandt took its first major foreign policy step by signing the nuclear nonproliferation treaty.

Ten years ago: The Roman Catholic Church in Rhodesia bitterly criticized the government of Prime Minister Ian Smith for having seized independence from Britain.

Five years ago: Rogers Morton was taking over as U.S. Secretary of the Interior after President Richard Nixon's firing of Walter Hickel.

One year ago: Secretary of State Henry Kissinger ended talks with Communist Chinese officials in Peking without any new major breakthrough in improving relations between the U.S. and China.

Today's birthdays: Singer Rose Bampton is 88. Italian writer Alberto Moravia is 88. Thought for today: Blessed is he that considereth the poor — the Psalms.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, the New Jersey Assembly in Burlington recommended that the Continental Congress do everything possible to secure redress of American grievances and restore union with Britain.

On the eve of revolution America was a rich and undisturbed land whose virgin vistas called out to men with fruitful promise. This was a country of big sky, undefined waters and boundless opportunity. So trackless was America west of the cities that years might pass before two men glimpsed the same wooded glen or valley.

Forests in that era were rich with northern elms, birches and long-standing oaks. They bore a totally different character than the woods of today, heavily planted with the omnipresent pine. Then a man might shoot his own game, although neither schooled in stealth nor expert marksmanship. Canvasback ducks, busily gorging themselves on wild celery, gathered thick along the banks of the Susquehanna and Potomac rivers. Men talked matter-of-factly of shoals of perch so plentiful in Tiber Creek that a fisherman could gather a fine mess by firing a shotgun into them.

Pheasant, partridge, pigeon, turkey, squirrel, rabbit, crab and oysters came regularly to colonial tables. Deer, however, had been wantonly slaughtered by burning great stretches of forest, and by 1800, venison would be considered a delicacy.

Far-flung communities checkerboarded the wilderness. Breaking out of the burly woods with busy and business-like exuberance, they greeted travelers with a sudden flash of color, the scent of fresh-broke sod, ripening hay and the song of flails at work in the fields.

A generation removed from the Revolution, Pennsylvania chronicler George Lippard describes Germantown, one such typical village in the year 1777.

"The roofs of the ancient village, extending in one unbroken line along the great northern road, arose gray and massive in the sunlight, as each conical gable and substantial chimney looked forth from the shelter of the surrounding trees."

Inside the houses of Germantown, comforts were sparse. Many walls were only a homely coat of plaster. Joists and crossbeams showed in every ceiling, scoured white and planed smooth. Wallpaper and painting were rare save in the homes of the moderately well-to-do. General Neville's Pennsylvania home, for instance, was remarkable because it was furnished with such marvels as carpets, mirrors, pictures and prints, and an eight-day clock.

Furniture was built for utility. Contrary to current fashion, almost everything sat well off the floor on stout legs. Chippendale sideboards, bureaux, bedsteads, cabinets and dressing cases were set a foot high in tidy fashion.

Metal gutters projected from almost every home to the center of the street. Much to the distress of passers-by, this battery of gutters resembled Niagara Falls in rainy weather.

Ceilers and garrets hung redolent with dried herbs. Bins of apples, potatoes, turnips, beets and parsnips were marshaled in swelling rows. There were hogheads of corned beef, barrels of salt pork, tubs of hams being salted in brine, tunnekins of salt shad and mackerel, firkins of butter, kegs of pigs' feet, tubs of souse, kilderkins of lard. Stout racks bulged with barrels of cider, vinegar, and sometimes beer, rum and a pipe of Madeira. On a long swing shelf sat tumblers of spiced fruit, and "rolliches," headcheese and strings of sausages — all German delicacies that recall Benjamin Franklin's remark: "I saw few die of hunger; of eating, one hundred thousand."

A visitor from the northernmost American settlements, like Maine, where the fundamental comfort of glass windows was unknown until 1745, might well envy his relatives and connections to the south. But there was little pressure to keep up with the Joneses, if only because the Joneses — or Delanceys, Sluysens and Curters — were so remote. To reach the burgeoning colonies and groaning boards of Pennsylvania, or to plunge even deeper into the tidewater and plantation country of Maryland and Virginia, a man had to traverse a wilderness.

The hardships of inland travel reached a point of down right peril. Roads were interrupted by large streams, rivers and tidal waters. Travelers, carriages and skittish horses were crowded aboard flimsy ferries to be poled or rowed across, often by dirty, destitute Indians suspected of "homicidous" inclinations.

Grand Beach Jetty Gets Corps' OK

GRAND BEACH — A Lake Michigan shoreline property owner here has received approval from the Army Corps of Engineers to construct a 30-foot steel jetty into the lake to protect against erosion.

According to a corps spokesman, Frank Giglio received approval for the jetty to be built behind his house on Lake View drive at Cedar street.

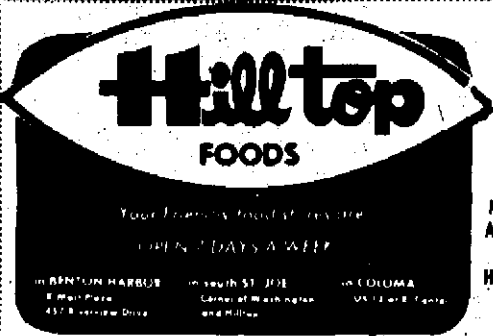

Parroll Bender, well known, local men's wear sales consultant has joined the staff of Blakes Inc., downtown St. Joseph. Mr. Bender, extends a cordial welcome to all his customers to stop and shop at Blakes, where you'll find a great selection of famous name brand ready to wear.

Ford Slips In California Poll

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For the first time since becoming president, Gerald R. Ford trails two possible Democratic presidential contenders — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., in a statewide public opinion poll in California.

Both Democrats have said they are not candidates for their party's presidential nomination.

"Mr. Ford now trails both of these men by decisive margins," pollster Mervin Field said today.

Field said that in a sampling of registered voters earlier this month, the Massachusetts senator, who had trailed Ford by six percentage points last May, is now ahead of the President by 10 points — 52-42 with 6 per cent undecided.

Brown, who enjoys strong bipartisan support in the state, ran seven percentage points ahead of Ford — 49-42 with 9 per cent undecided — Field said. The poll never before tested Brown in a "trial heat" against Ford.

Panel Gets Donor Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill designed to provide quick identification of people who wish to donate reusable body parts has been sent to a legislative conference committee. The House and Senate committee will attempt to iron out a disagreement between Secretary of State Richard Austin and the bill's sponsor. At the urging of sponsor Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Hazel Park, the House voted 98-0 this week to name several of its members to meet with senators and modify amendments put on the bill by the Senate. The Senate-passed version of Symon's measure permits information about willingness to donate organs to appear on the back of drivers' licenses. There would be no extra license processing costs to the state and people would have to request the donor identification.

Twelve-Hour Fire Fight

CONSTANTINE, Mich. (AP) — St. Joseph County firemen say it took them nearly 12 hours Wednesday night to extinguish a blaze at the Constantine Co-op grain mill. During the height of the blaze, officials said, departments from nearby White Pigeon and Three Rivers had to be called in to prevent the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. An office and storage area, as well as a supply of grain, was destroyed by the fire. Officials expect the loss to be close to or exceed $50,000.

Appointment Approval Near

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Donald Smith apparently will meet no serious obstacles in his confirmation as director of the state Department of Mental Health. The Senate Business Committee, which is considering Smith's appointment by Gov. William Milliken to head the department, heard from Smith and other witnesses this week. Afterward, committee members said they foresaw no roadblocks to his confirmation, either in committee or in the full Senate. Smith's appointment originally aroused considerable controversy and some opposition. Some lawmakers, notably Sen. Joseph Sayden, D-St. Clair Shores, criticized his inexperience in mental health.

Promotion Ban Lifted

DETROIT (AP) — A circuit court injunction blocking the promotion of 21 new police lieutenants was lifted this week, opening the way for elevation of the officers. The promotions are part of the Detroit Police Department's affirmative action program and follow several months of efforts by the Detroit Lieutenants and Sergeants Association, a police union, to block the plan. The union wants promotions to be based entirely upon the basis of seniority and testing. Affirmative action is aimed at helping minorities achieve officers status.

New Building, More Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — The new $55 million Patrick V. McNamara federal building in downtown Detroit will open in January, bringing 1,400 new jobs to the city. The 28-story glass and concrete structure will house about 4,500 employees with an estimated total payroll of $40 million.

Mobile Home Levelled By Fire In Van Buren

DECATUR — A mobile home on Territorial road here was destroyed by fire last night about 6 p.m. while the occupants were away visiting relatives, according to Decatur firemen.

The home, located about four miles northwest of Decatur in Hamilton township, was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived, they said.

Firemen said the home was being rented by the Charles Stewart family and was owned by Mrs. Dorothy Goodrich, who lives next door.

Cause for the blaze has not been determined and an investigation will continue, firemen said.

The home was insured but the contents were not, firemen said.

Officials Think Fire Started In Bedroom

NEW BUFFALO — Police and firemen here said today they believed a fire which gutted a house Tuesday afternoon started in a bedroom.

The officials said matches were found on a bed in the room of the two-story house at 109 East Mechanic street. According to the officials, a four-year-old son of the family living in the house had been left alone just before the fire was reported.

Firemen Tuesday had said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, had gone to a neighbor's house where his mother was visiting to report the fire.

Alvin Schroeter, city fire chief, estimated damage to the house at $10,000 to $12,000. His department was assisted by the New Buffalo township fire department in fighting the blaze.

No one was injured in the blaze.

The Smiths were reported to be staying with neighbors until they found a new place to live. The Smiths have six children.

teach work which may be required for more effective staff development of our welfare dependent staff. We feel that we are within the scope of the poverty mission, and we do not agree with the Berrien County CETA administration that our work is disallowed because we offend the persons that the county does not want offended.

Our intent is to bring about a better understanding of the process of decision making, and helping our workers know where to go, who to see, and what to do to be more effective in their work."

To Weldon Burden, county CETA director, Mrs. Ford wrote, in part:

"According to the Herald-Palladium story, Mr. Petrie has charged us with lobbying effort, which is not in the least bit true.

I am sorry that such a small matter as the training and staff development of minority group and low income persons would be blown out of proportion by the CETA board of directors, and be made to look like a major crisis by the media.

"The amount of money that we may be discussing cannot exceed one hundred forty-nine dollars and eighty-four cents."

"I am asking you to review the policy of interference with the project underway, and determine if you have violated the civil rights of the Berrien County Action agency by using word of mouth inference to discredit our work, name calling and other unprofessional tactics to take preplanned reprisals because we speak out against the discriminatory practices in Berrien county government."

County Coordinator Petrie said Wednesday said he had asked the county CETA director to request Berrien Action for a report on the names of BCA workers paid with CETA funds, who attended the welfare reform rally in Lansing on Oct. 15.

Petrie said CETA regulations forbid use of the job and training program funds for lobbying or political activities. He said CETA-paid employees who went to Lansing will not lose any wages, but the wages for such persons would be withheld by CETA and that BCA would have to pay the wages.

Rabbi Says Jews Must Take Stand

MIAMI (AP) — With the Jewish celebration of Hanukkah coming this year almost a month ahead of Christmas, a rabbi says Jews will have to put their beliefs on the line.

"There can be no camouflaging a gift in late December as a Hanukkah gift," says Rabbi Victor Zwelling of Temple B'nai Ephraim. "Families will have to take a stand and say Christmas is not our holiday."

Tonight, Jews throughout the world light the first of eight candles to commemorate the liberation of the Maccabees' temple in Jerusalem from the Syrian-Greek rulers in 160 B.C.

Rabbi Zwelling said the holiday is a reaffirmation of Judaism and a protest against assimilation.

But many Jewish families — saying Christmas trees have no religious significance — often set up the trees, which they jokingly refer to as a Hanukkah bush, and exchange gifts on Dec. 25.

"This is an insult to the Jewish heritage and to Christians of conscience," Rabbi Zwelling said.

He said that the two holidays have merged in the public mind as a sort of secular "holiday season."

"The time has come to let each holiday stand on its own merits," he said. "We cling to our uniqueness; we will not be made over. There is an urgent integrity in the Jewish approach to reaching God."

Another passenger, Mrs. William Prady of Lagrange, Ill., said, "It was scary. It happened so quickly. I can't really explain it. One minute everything was fine and the next it was chaos." Mrs. Prady was not injured.

American Airlines would not permit photographs of the interior of the plane. A ground crewman who did not give his name said it looked like "a disaster area."

"There's rice all over the place," he said. "It looks like it snowed inside the plane. There's also refuse from the restrooms on the walls, and panels were broken off the ceiling."

Ford Slips In California Poll

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — For the first time since becoming president, Gerald R. Ford trails two possible Democratic presidential contenders — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and California Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr., in a statewide public opinion poll in California shows.

Both Democrats have said they are not candidates for their party's presidential nomination.

"Mr. Ford now trails both of these men by decisive margins," pollster Mervin Field said today.

Field said that in a sampling of registered voters earlier this month, the Massachusetts senator, who had trailed Ford by six percentage points last May, is now ahead of the President by 10 points — 52-42 with 6 per cent undecided.

Brown, who enjoys strong bipartisan support in the state, ran seven percentage points ahead of Ford — 49-42 with 9 per cent undecided — Field said. The poll never before tested Brown in a "trial heat" against Ford.

Today In MICHIGAN

Panel Gets Donor Bill

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A bill designed to provide quick identification of people who wish to donate reusable body parts has been sent to a legislative conference committee. The House and Senate committee will attempt to iron out a disagreement between Secretary of State Richard Austin and the bill's sponsor. At the urging of sponsor Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Hazel Park, the House voted 98-0 this week to name several of its members to meet with senators and modify amendments put on the bill by the Senate. The Senate-passed version of Symon's measure permits information about willingness to donate organs to appear on the back of drivers' licenses. There would be no extra license processing costs to the state and people would have to request the donor identification.

Twelve-Hour Fire Fight

CONSTANTINE, Mich. (AP) — St. Joseph County firemen say it took them nearly 12 hours Wednesday night to extinguish a blaze at the Constantine Co-op grain mill. During the height of the blaze, officials said, departments from nearby White Pigeon and Three Rivers had to be called in to prevent the flames from spreading to adjoining buildings. An office and storage area, as well as a supply of grain, was destroyed by the fire. Officials expect the loss to be close to or exceed $50,000.

Appointment Approval Near

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Dr. Donald Smith apparently will meet no serious obstacles in his confirmation as director of the state Department of Mental Health. The Senate Business Committee, which is considering Smith's appointment by Gov. William Milliken to head the department, heard from Smith and other witnesses this week. Afterward, committee members said they foresaw no roadblocks to his confirmation, either in committee or in the full Senate. Smith's appointment originally aroused considerable controversy and some opposition. Some lawmakers, notably Sen. Joseph Snyder, D-St. Clair Shores, criticized his inexperience in mental health.

Promotion Ban Lifted

DETROIT (AP) — A circuit court injunction blocking the promotion of 21 new police lieutenants was lifted this week, opening the way for elevation of the officers. The promotions are part of the Detroit Police Department's affirmative action program and follow several months of efforts by the Detroit Lieutenants and Sergeants Association, a police union, to block the plan. The union wants promotions to be based entirely upon the basis of seniority and testing. Affirmative action is aimed at helping minorities achieve officers status.

New Building, More Jobs

DETROIT (AP) — The new $55 million Patrick V. McNamara federal building in downtown Detroit will open in January, bringing 1,400 new jobs to the city. The 26-story glass and concrete structure will house about 4,500 employees with an estimated total payroll of $40 million.

Mobile Home Levelled By Fire In Van Buren

DECATUR — A mobile home on Territorial road here was destroyed by fire last night about 6 p.m. while the occupants were away visiting relatives, according to Decatur firemen.

The home, located about four miles northwest of Decatur in Hamilton township, was engulfed in flames when firemen arrived, they said.

Firemen said the home was being rented by the Charles Stewart family and was owned by Mrs. Dorothy Goodrich, who lives next door.

Cause for the blaze has not been determined and an investigation will continue, firemen said.

The home was insured but the contents were not, firemen said.

Officials Think Fire Started In Bedroom

NEW BUFFALO — Police and firemen here said today they believed a fire which gutted a house Tuesday afternoon started in a bedroom.

The officials said matches were found on a bed in the room of the two-story house at 109 East Mechanic street. According to the officials, a four-year-old son of the family living in the house had been left alone just before the fire was reported.

Firemen Tuesday had said the boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, had gone to a neighbor's house where his mother was visiting to report the fire.

Alvin Schroeter, city fire chief, estimated damage to the house at $10,000 to $12,000. His department was assisted by the New Buffalo township fire department in fighting the blaze.

No one was injured in the blaze.

The Smiths were reported to be staying with neighbors until they found a new place to live. The Smiths have six children.

Economic Indicators Dip Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said today its index of leading economic indicators declined in October for the second month in a row, pointing to a possible new slowdown in the economy.

The index dropped five-tenths of a per cent last month, compared with a one-tenth of a per cent decline in September. Prior to September, the index had increased for six consecutive months.

The index is considered a barometer of future economic activity, and declines over several months are supposed to point to downturns in the economy, just as increases are supposed to signal improvement.

The Commerce Department said four of 11 indicators in the index declined in October. The drops were registered in total liquid assets, net business formation, money balance in 1967 dollars and building permits.

Five indicators increased — sales deliveries, sensitive price changes, orders for plant and equipment, stock prices, and new sales orders.

But many Jewish families — saying Christmas trees have no religious significance — often set up the trees, which they jokingly refer to as a Hanukkah bush, and exchange gifts on Dec. 25.

"This is an insult to the Jewish heritage and to Christians of conscience," Rabbi Zwelling said.

He said that the two holidays have merged in the public mind as a sort of secular "holiday season."

"The time has come to let each holiday stand on its own merits," he said. "We cling to our uniqueness; we will not be made over. There is an ongoing integrity in the Jewish approach to reaching God."

The judges said "that the intense pretrial publicity and prejudicial closing argument by the government, operating together, deprived the defendant of a fair trial."

Mediator Due In Van Buren Deputy Talks

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — Van Buren county officials and leaders of the union which represents Van Buren sheriff's deputies are scheduled to meet with a labor mediator here Monday in an attempt to work out a new contract. Negotiations, which have been underway since September, have reached an impasse, according to Deputy Jon (Gary) Gruss, steward of Teamsters Local 214 which represents the department's 10 deputies. The deputies are currently in the second year of a two-year contract with the county. It expires Dec. 31.

According to Gruss, the deputies are seeking a raise which would boost the maximum pay for a deputy with three year's service from $10,500 to $12,000. The deputies are also seeking to retain an annual $365 gun allowance, which the county wants to eliminate, he said. No change was being sought in the $10,000 base pay for a beginning deputy.

Gruss said deputies would also like to see some type of progress made in obtaining a pension program, life insurance, and eye and dental coverage, as well as shortening the length of service needed to receive three weeks vacation. Like other county employees, deputies must currently work for 10 years before getting three weeks vacation.

Gerald Rendel, chairman of the finance committee of the county board of commissioners, said deputies have been offered a pay hike of about six per cent, including the gun allowance, and no new fringe benefits.

Rendel said the gun allowance was really only a carryover from the time deputies received $300 per year for doing ambulance work. Subsequently, county voters approved a four-tenth mill property tax levy for ambulance operations, eliminating the need for deputies.

At the time of the last contract, Rendel said the $300 was incorporated into the gun allowance, so as to not cut the deputies' salaries too suddenly.

Under the current contract, deputies received pay raises of 20 per cent over a two-year period, full payment of uniform costs, full-family medical insurance, and time and a half for holiday work.

The request for Monday's mediation session was made by the deputies.

Rendel said the county is also still negotiating with the sheriff's department's seven command officers over a new contract. Their current two-year pact also expires Dec. 31. The command officers are represented by the Fraternal Order of Police.

Rendel said the command officers have been offered a wage increase of about six per cent, and that he believed a settlement with them was closer than with deputies.

J.L. Donald Hognire, one of the officers' representatives in the negotiations, declined to reveal what his group is asking for, saying only that discussions are continuing.

Under the current contract, the top salary for sergeants is $10,900 and for lieutenants $11,300.

Kalamazoo Hotline Helps Battle Poisonings In Area

KALAMAZOO (AP) — What do you do if your young child drinks a bottle of plant food or eats a leaf off your Christmas poinsettia? You can call a hotline in Kalamazoo to find out if the substance is poisonous and whether any antidotes are available in your home.

The new poison control hotline — (616)-383-6409 — has been established at Kalamazoo's Bronson hospital in an effort to battle poisonings in southwestern Michigan children.

It is designed to provide emergency information on accidental poisonings in five southwestern Michigan counties — Berrien, Cass, Van Buren, Kalamazoo and St. Joseph.

Bronson hospital pharmacist John Trestrail, who heads the program, says the holidays are a particularly bad time for accidental poisonings.

The newly-formed Poison Prevention Council, a non-profit organization patterned after a similar group at Children's hospital in Detroit, is working with the Great Lakes Poison Information network at Bronson to provide rapid availability of information on poisonings.

The hotline provides instantaneous retrieval of information on a 24-hour basis. It provides a complete rundown on the makeup of commercial cleaning products, medicines, petroleum products and virtually any kind of poisonous substance or plant found in the area.

Pharmacists at Bronson, where the information system is housed, merely punch codes into a microfilm unit, which screens available information, including antidotes.

The program is part of a nationwide trend to regionalize poison control centers. The object of the plan is to avoid delays and duplication of equipment and literature.

The hotline can be used by physicians as well as the general public.

The Great Lakes network is headed by Bronson pharmacist John Trestrail, a poison information specialist. The cross-indexed system is updated monthly to include new products and information developed through research.

Trestrail said the disruption of the normal home routine, children visiting homes where medicines are habitually left out and unwatched handbags contribute to holiday poisonings.

Some traditional holiday plants also are poisonous, he said.

and Saturday mornings.

Downtown stores will begin Christmas shopping hours Dec. 12 and some are planning to open Sundays through Dec. 21.

Buchanan police said continuous foot patrols would be conducted in the downtown area beginning Dec. 1 because of the shopping season.

Texas A&M Is Trying To Carve Up Tough Longhorns

While most of the country dines on leftover turkey, Texas A&M will be trying to carve up some tough old beef.

The second-ranked Aggies clashed with fifth-ranked Texas today in the first half of a nationally televised college football doubleheader. Tonight, UCLA, ranked No. 14, meets Southern Cal in a battle that will determine who meets Ohio State in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

The Texas-Texas A&M outcome affects several bowls. The Texas Longhorns, 9-1, are headed for the Cotton Bowl if they win and to the Bluebonnet Bowl if they lose.

For the Aggies, a victory would send them into next week's game against Arkansas with the Cotton Bowl spot on the line. A loss to Arkansas would put Texas A&M into the Liberty Bowl and send Arkansas to the Cotton. Boasting the nation's No. 1 defense, the Aggies will be taking on the nation's highest scoring offense when they run up against the Longhorns. Texas A&M, 9-0, is seeking its first football victory over Texas since 1967.

Following the Lone Star State battle, crosstown rivals Southern Cal and UCLA go before the ABC television cameras. Southern Cal is already going to the Liberty Bowl, but UCLA must win if it wants a postseason spot.

A victory would give the Uclians a share of the Pacific-8 conference championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl against Ohio State of the Big Ten Conference.

The Bruins are led by quarterback John Sciarras, who has rushed for 721 yards and 14 touchdowns and passed for 1,015 yards this season while directing the Bruins' Veer 'F' offense.

If UCLA loses, then upstart California will get the shot at top-ranked Ohio State.

Today's gridiron doubleheader will be the middle section of ABC's five-game holiday feast.

Thursday night, 15th-ranked Georgia rolled to a 42-0 lead before running in the reserves in the final period and pulling out a 42-26 victory over Georgia Tech. Georgia is headed for the Cotton Bowl.

Saturday, ABC will telecast the traditional Army-Navy rivalry and another intra-state battle between fourth-ranked Alabama and Auburn.

The Army-Navy matchup is strictly a matter of pride. Navy, 6-4, is a three-touchdown favorite over Army, 2-8. But the Cadets are smarting after being shut out by Navy the past two years and an upset would more than make up for their losing record.

Alabama, 9-1, already has a Sugar Bowl berth against Penn State. But Saturday night's game marks Auburn Coach Shug Jordan's farewell. In his 28th season at the Tigers' helm, Jordan's Auburn team has posted a disappointing 3-5-2 record. A victory over Penn State would be a lovely retirement present.

Rams, Vikings Division Champs

LA Gobbls Up Lions

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A drizzly dome made the Pontiac Stadium turf a soggy synthetic, but the Detroit Lions just weren't able to throw a wet blanket on the Los Angeles Rams' Thanksgiving Day party.

Los Angeles rode to its third consecutive National Conference Western Division title Thursday on the passing arm of James Harris, handing the Lions a 20-0 National Football League loss.

It was the first time the Lions had been shut out since an identical 20-0 setback to Washington in the 1973 Turkey Day.

Although all 80,838 tickets were sold, 11,086 persons decided not to show up for the traditional holiday battle — perhaps choosing to join the estimated 40 million who viewed the game on national television.

Indeed, if they were Lions' fans, they undoubtedly made the right decision. Why spoil a Thanksgiving feast at grandpa's to watch the Rams feast on the Lions?

While the Rams raised their record to 9-2, Detroit fell to 6-5 to see its flickering wild-card playoff hopes just about vanish. The Minnesota Vikings, meanwhile, didn't even have to leave the dinner table to clinch the Midwest Division title. The loss by second-place Detroit did that.

"It's not over for us," said Lions' Coach Rick Forzano, always the eternal optimist. "If I die tomorrow, I'll say on my gravestone that this team gave everything they had. These guys don't know the meaning of the word quit."

The Rams don't know the meaning of the word, either. Harris wouldn't quit throwing touchdown passes and Harold Jackson wouldn't quit catching. Harris completed 11 of 24 passes for 157 yards and three TDs.

The first scoring toss was an 11-yarder to ex-Lion Ron Jesse in the first quarter. The next two were for 17 and 38 yards respectively to Jackson in the third and fourth periods.

Wide receiver Jackson, who had little trouble evading cornerback Levi Johnson, snared five passes for 106 yards.

Forzano praised the coaching of the Rams' Chuck Knox, a former Lions' assistant.

"We all know what Chuck Knox can do," Forzano said. "Los Angeles is a superbly coached team. They have a lot of talent and they use it right. They were well prepared for our multiple defenses."

There was no notable title-clinching celebration in the Rams' dressing room. There was no champagne.

But Knox did light up an awfully big and expensive-looking cigar.

"It's just great to come back here and clinch our division," he said. "That's the biggest thing. It doesn't make any difference who we're playing against."

It was also a homecoming for wide receiver Jesse, who played out his option last year and jumped to the Rams. He and running back Cullen Bryant, who originally was supposed to go to Detroit as compensation, were only slightly booed.

The game was the 36th renewal of the Lions' annual Thanksgiving Day clash, and surprisingly the sloppy weather that has marked the series was again a problem — despite a new domed $55.7 million edifice.

Apparently pumps that were supposed to channel melting snow from the roof weren't available, and workers had to open vents in the fiberglass dome to let the water — from six inches of snow which had fallen overnight — drain.

The field was soaked, and workers had to push gallons of water to the sidelines during game breaks.

Lions' quarterback Joe Reed had a bad day, but Forzano said poor timing had a lot to do with it because some receivers had practiced little during the week due to injuries.

Reed hit on 11 of 26 passes for 117 yards. The closest Detroit got to paydirt was in the closing minutes when the Lions reached the Ram 12. They got to the 14 in the second quarter, but former-Michigan State star Bill Simpson of Royal Oak intercepted a Reed aerial at the goal line and returned it 29 yards.

The Rams made another key interception, in the third quarter, when Simpson's fellow-safety, Dave Elmendorf, picked off a Reed pass at the LA 38. The Rams then drove 61 yards in seven plays to score on the 17-yard TD pass to Jackson. Jesse's touchdown clinched a 38-yard, 11-play march. It featured a 19-yard Harris-to-Jim Bertelsen pass and a 15-yard Harris keeper.

The 38-yard scoring bomb in the final quarter concluded a 71-yard, seven-play drive.

Detroit was hurt by 10 penalties. An illegal motion call against guard Lynn Boden nullified a razzle-dazzle play in which Reed centered the ball to Albie Taylor just before halftime. Taylor rambled 33 yards to the Ram 27.

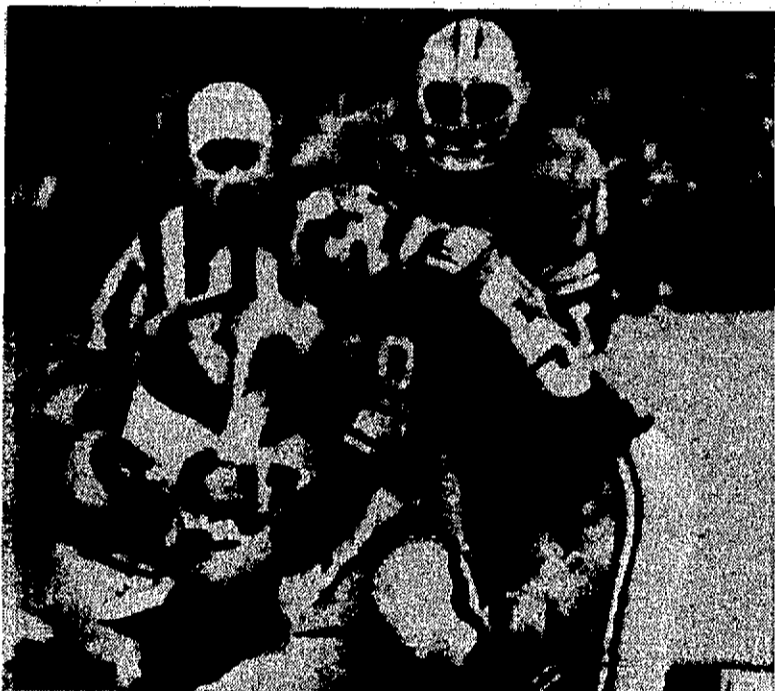

Coaches' sideline ranting over the flag resulted in an additional penalty, and Detroit wound up on its own eight — technically a 65-yard loss.

A 29-yard Reed scamper to the Ram 32 in the third period was ruined by an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against wide receiver Ray Jarvis.

Los Angeles' tight end Bob Klein suffered a sprained knee and teammate Rich Saul, a center, a shoulder injury in the second quarter. The seriousness of the injuries wasn't immediately known.

The Lions, who have lost two straight, could get back on the winning track a week from Sunday in Chicago against the struggling Bears.

Los Angeles, meanwhile, will face the similarly inept Saints in New Orleans.

Western Collegiate Hockey Association weekend series while defending champion Minnesota is home with hopes of keeping the pressure on by sweeping last-place Wisconsin.

"Badger Bob won't be here," said Minnesota Coach Herb Brooks in reference to Wisconsin Coach Bob Johnson, who has taken a year's leave of absence to coach the U.S. Olympic hockey team. "But they've got a lot of Minnesota kids playing for them who'll be ready for this series."

Brooks is confident the Gophers won't be looking ahead to next Wednesday's game against the Olympic Team.

"I'm sure they won't look past Wisconsin," he said. "We can beat them both anyway."

In other games, Minnesota-Duluth visits Colorado College, Michigan is at Denver University and Notre Dame travels to Michigan Tech.

Duluth is presently alone in second place with a 5-3 record and 10 points while Minnesota and Michigan are each 4-2 for eight points along with Tech and Notre Dame, both 4-4.

"They're sitting in the same boat we are," said Notre Dame Coach Lefty Smith about his weekend opponent. "They're a good hockey team and they're always tough to beat at home."

Michigan is the league's top scoring team with an average of 5.8 goals per game, while Minnesota is the leading defensive team allowing 2.5 goals a game.

Coach Dick Nolan said Thursday that William Hall will replace Phillips, who injured his arm in last Sunday's 16-6 victory over the New Orleans Saints.

Braxton Bruises Cardinals Bills Turn Mistakes Into Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bruising Jim Braxton did most things right and the St. Louis Cardinals most things wrong.

Not really so surprising, then, that the two elements added up to a 32-14 Buffalo Bills upset, Thursday in the National Football League.

"This puts us back in the running," beamed Buffalo Coach Lou Saban after his Bills, 7-4, pulled within half a game of the front-running Miami Dolphins in the American Conference East. "It gives us impetus." Saban said. "It was our third game in 11 days. It's sure nice to get out 2-1."

Buffalo's triumph, dropping St. Louis to 8-3, came on the rampaging runs of Braxton, who scored three touchdowns and amassed a pro career rushing high of 180 yards.

But lending a more than a substantial assist to the Bills' effort was a succession of seven St. Louis turnovers, five in the closing half.

Buffalo converted the Cards' second error, a fumble by Steve Jones, into O.J. Simpson's three-yard touchdown run for a 13-7 halftime edge.

Then, with a ball-hawking secondary picking off four Jim Hart passes, the Bills turned the next four St. Louis mistakes into 19 points and a commanding 32-7 lead with 11:28 remaining.

John Leybold booted field goals of 30 and 33 yards. Both resulted from two other turnovers — the first, Dwight Harrison's two interceptions and Don Croft's fumble recovery.

Later, as St. Louis predictably went to the air, rapidfire piracies by Harrison and Tony Greene, both deep in Cards territory, helped seal the outcome.

Braxton blasted five yards to score after Harrison's second theft, boosting Buffalo's lead to 26-7 on the fourth play of the final quarter.

Just 73 seconds later, he slammed one yard into the end zone after an interception by Greene, leaving Eddie Jones' piracy in the waning minutes the last insult to be heaped on Hart following the St. Louis quarterback's four-yard touchdown toss to Terry Metcalf.

Buffalo yielded an early touchdown when a Leybold field goal try was blocked by Pete Barnes, paying the way up a one-yard TD dive by Metcalf.

Braxton, however, crashed across the goal line from the one to pull the Bills within 7-6 seven minutes later. By halftime he had amassed 81 yards on 17 of his 34 carries.

"We do what we can on offense according to what the defense does," explained Braxton, whose production overshadowed 85 yards on 23 carries by Simpson.

"They were playing the off-tackle holes pretty tough," said Simpson. "It left them slightly vulnerable up the middle."

St. Louis' loss trimmed the Cards' lead to half a game over Dallas in the National Conference East. But it didn't dishearten Hart, who completed 13 of 31 passes for 167 yards.

"We just played a poor game, but we shouldn't hang our heads," Hart said. "We're still in first place. We just have to win the rest of our games."

Bulls Trade Nate Thurmond To Cleveland For 2 Players

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bulls, ending several days of speculation, have traded reserve center Nate Thurmond was named to the

and his $350,000 salary to the Cleveland Cavaliers.

Bulls' reserve forward Rowland Garrett also is going to Cleveland, a spokesman for the National Basketball Association team said Thursday. In return, Cavaliers' center Steve Patterson and rookie forward Eric Fernsten will come to Chicago.

In other developments, the Bulls obtained veteran forward Jack Marin from the Buffalo Braves for "future considerations," and guard Jerry Sloan was placed on the injured reserve list, which means he will miss at least five games.

Thurmond, 34, came to the Bulls last year from the Golden State Warriors. The 6-foot-11, 13-year veteran started only a few games before being replaced by Tom Boerwinkle. As a member of the Warriors, NBA all-star team seven times.

He failed to show for Chicago's Tuesday night game against Cleveland and missed Wednesday's team practice. He was fined 1-82nd of his salary for missing the game — the NBA plays an 82-game schedule — and $100 for missing practice.

Thurmond has said the Bulls' front office was making him "a scapegoat" for the team's dismal start this season, and Wednesday he told the club he wanted to be traded.

With a 3-11 record, Chicago is at the bottom of the league.

Texas A&M Is Trying To Carve Up Tough Longhorns

While most of the country dines on leftover turkey, Texas A&M will be trying to carve up some tough old beef.

The second-ranked Aggies clashed with fifth-ranked Texas today in the first half of a nationally televised college football doubleheader. Tonight, UCLA, ranked No. 14, meets Southern Cal in a battle that will determine who meets Ohio State in the Rose Bowl Jan. 1.

The Texas-Texas A&M outcome affects several bowls. The Texas Longhorns, 9-1, are headed for the Cotton Bowl if they win and to the Bluebonnet Bowl if they lose.

For the Aggies, a victory would send them into next week's game against Arkansas with the Cotton Bowl spot on the line. A loss to Arkansas would put Texas A&M into the Liberty Bowl and send Arkansas to the Cotton.

Boasting the nation's No. 1 defense, the Aggies will be taking on the nation's highest scoring offense when they run up against the Longhorns. Texas A&M, 9-0, is seeking its first football victory over Texas since 1967.

Following the Lone Star State battle, crosstown rivals Southern Cal and UCLA go before the ABC television cameras.

Southern Cal is already going to the Liberty Bowl, but UCLA must win if it wants a postseason spot.

A victory would give the Uclans a share of the Pacific-8 conference championship and a berth in the Rose Bowl against Ohio State of the Big Ten Conference.

The Bruins are led by quarterback John Sciarra, who has rushed for 721 yards and 14 touchdowns and passed for 1,015 yards this season while directing the Bruins' Veer T offense.

If UCLA loses, then upstart California will get the shot at top-ranked Ohio State.

Today's gridiron doubleheader will be the middle section of ABC's five-game holiday feast.

Thursday night, 15th-ranked Georgia rolled to a 42-0 lead before running in the reserves in the final period and pulling out a 42-26 victory over Georgia Tech. Georgia is headed for the Cotton Bowl.

Saturday, ABC will telecast the traditional Army-Navy rivalry and another intra-state battle between fourth-ranked Alabama and Auburn.

The Army-Navy matchup is strictly a matter of pride. Navy, 6-4, is a three-touchdown favorite over Army, 2-8. But the Cadets are smarting after being shut out by Navy the past two years and an upset would more than make up for their losing record.

Alabama, 9-1, already has a Sugar Bowl berth against Penn State. But Saturday night's game marks Auburn Coach Shug Jordan's farewell. In his 25th season at the Tigers' helm, Jordan's Auburn team has posted a disappointing 3-5-2 record. A victory over 'Bama would be a lovely retirement present.

In another big game Saturday, eighth-ranked Arizona State, 10-0, goes against No. 12 Arizona, 9-1. The winner earns the Western Athletic Conference crown and the host berth in the Fiesta Bowl against Nebraska.

Rams, Vikings Division Champs

LA Gobblies Up Lions

By LARRY PALADINO
AP Sports Writer

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — A drippy dome made the Pontiac Stadium turf a soggy synthetic, but the Detroit Lions just weren't able to throw a wet blanket on the Los Angeles Rams' Thanksgiving Day party.

Los Angeles rode to its third consecutive National Conference Western Division title Thursday on the passing arm of James Harris, handing the Lions a 20-0 National Football League loss.

It was the first time the Lions had been shut out since an identical 20-0 setback to Washington in the 1973 Turkey Day.

Although all 80,638 tickets were sold, 11,086 persons decided not to show up for the traditional holiday battle — perhaps choosing to join the estimated 40 million who viewed the game on national television.

Indeed, if they were Lions' fans, they undoubtedly made the right decision. Why spoil a Thanksgiving feast at grandpa's to watch the Rams feast on the Lions?

While the Rams raised their record to 9-2, Detroit fell to 6-5 to see its flickering wild-card playoff hopes just about vanish. The Minnesota Vikings, meanwhile didn't even have to leave the dinner table to clinch the Midwest Division title. The loss by second-place Detroit did that.

"It's not over for us," said Lions' Coach Rick Forzano, always the eternal optimist. "If I die tomorrow, I'll say on my gravestone that this team gave everything they had. These guys don't know the meaning of the word quit."

The Rams don't know the meaning of the word, either. Harris wouldn't quit throwing touchdown passes and Harold Jackson wouldn't quit catching. Harris completed 11 of 24 passes for 157 yards and three TDs.

The first scoring toss was an 11-yarder to ex-Lion Ron Jesse in the first quarter. The next two were for 17 and 38 yards respectively to Jackson in the third and fourth periods.

Wide receiver Jackson, who had little trouble evading cornerback Levi Johnson, snared five passes for 106 yards.

Forzano praised the coaching of the Rams' Chuck Knox, a former Lions' assistant.

"We all know what Chuck Knox can do," Forzano said. "Los Angeles is a superbly coached team. They have a lot of talent and they use it right. They were well prepared for our multiple defenses."

There was no notable title-clinching celebration in the Rams' dressing room. There was no champagne.

But Knox did light up an awfully big and expensive-looking cigar.

"It's just great to come back here and clinch our division," he said. "That's the biggest thing. It doesn't make any difference who we're playing against."

It was also a homecoming for wide receiver Jesse, who played out his option last year and jumped to the Rams. He and running back Cullen Bryant, who originally was supposed to go to Detroit as compensation, were only slightly booed.

The game was the 36th renewal of the Lions' annual Thanksgiving Day clash, and surprisingly the sloppy weather that has marked the series was again a problem — despite a new domed $55.7 million edifice.

Apparently pumps that were supposed to channel melting snow from the roof weren't available, and workers had to open vents in the fiberglass dome to let the water — from six inches of snow which had fallen overnight — drain.

The field was soaked, and workers had to push gallons of water to the sidelines during game breaks.

Lions' quarterback Joe Reed had a bad day, but Forzano said poor timing had a lot to do with it because some receivers had practiced little during the week due to injuries.

Reed hit 11 of 26 passes for 117 yards. The closest Detroit got to paydirt was in the closing minutes when the Lions reached the Ram 12. They got to the 14 in the second quarter, but former Michigan State star Bill Simpson of Royal Oak intercepted a Reed aerial at the goal line and returned it 29 yards.

The Rams made another key interception, in the third quarter, when Simpson's fellow-safety, Dave Elmendorf, picked off a Reed pass at the LA 39. The Rams then drove 61 yards in seven plays to score on the 17-yard TD pass to Jackson.

Jesse's touchdown capped a 59-yard, 11-play march. It featured a 19-yard Harris-to-Jim Bertelsen pass and a 15-yard Harris keeper.

The 38-yard scoring bomb in the final quarter concluded a 71-yard, seven-play drive.

Detroit was hurt by 10 penalties. An illegal motion call against guard Lynn Boden nullified a razzle-dazzle play in which Reed centered the ball to Albie Taylor just before halftime. Taylor rambled 53 yards to the Ram 27.

Coaches' sideline ranting over the flag resulted in an additional penalty, and Detroit wound up on its own eight — technically a 65-yard loss.

A 28-yard Reed scamper to the Ram 32 in the third period was ruined by an unsportsmanlike conduct penalty against wide receiver Ray Jarvis.

Los Angeles' tight end Bob Klein suffered a sprained knee and teammate Rich Saul, a center, a shoulder injury in the second quarter. The seriousness of the injuries wasn't immediately known.

The Lions, who have lost two straight, could get back on the winning track a week from Sunday in Chicago against the struggling Bears.

Los Angeles, meanwhile, will face the similarly inept Saints in New Orleans.

SNOW JOB: A snow plow was needed to clean off the playing surface of Busch Stadium in St. Louis in preparation for the Thanksgiving Day game between the St. Louis Cardinals and Buffalo Bills. Eight to 10 inches of snow fell on the St. Louis area Wednesday as a major snowstorm moved through a large portion of the Midwest. (AP Wirephoto)

Braxton Bruises Cardinals

Bills Turn Mistakes Into Win

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Bruising Jim Braxton did most things right and the St. Louis Cardinals most things wrong.

Not really so surprising, then, that the two elements added up to a 32-14 Buffalo Bills upset, Thursday in the National Football League.

"This puts us back in the running," beamed Buffalo Coach Lou Saban after his Bills, 7-4, pulled within half a game of the front-running Miami Dolphins in the American Conference East. "It gives us impetus," Saban said. "It was our third game in 11 days. It's sure nice to get out 2-1."

Then, with a ball-hawking secondary picking off four Jim Hart passes, the Bills turned the next four St. Louis mistakes into 19 points and a commanding 32-7 lead with 11:28 remaining.

John Leyboldt booted field goals of 30 and 33 yards. Both resulted from two other turnovers — the first Dwight Harrison's two interceptions and Don Croft's fumble recovery.

Braxton blasted five yards to score after Harrison's second theft, boosting Buffalo's lead to 26-7 on the fourth play of the final quarter.

Just 73 seconds later, he slammed one yard into the end zone after an interception by Greene, leaving Eddie Jones' prayer in the waning minutes the last insult to be heaped on Hart following the St. Louis quarterback's four-yard touchdown toss to Terry Metcalf.

Buffalo yielded an early touchdown when a Leyboldt field goal try was blocked by Pete Barnes, paving the way up a one-yard TD dive by Metcalf.

Braxton, however, crashed across the goal line from the one to pull the Bills within 7-6 seven minutes later. By halftime he had amassed 91 yards on 17 of his 34 carries.

St. Louis' loss trimmed the Cards' lead to half a game over Dallas in the National Conference East. But it didn't dishearten Hart, who completed 13 of 31 passes for 167 yards.

"We just played a poor game, but we shouldn't hang our heads," Hart said. "We're still in first place. We just have to win the rest of our games."

Convincing Lancers 'B' District Champs

South Haven Clobbered 66-16

Lakeshore's girls basketball team won a berth in the regional cage tourney with what might be called a convincing win over South Haven Wednesday night.

With the district crown at stake, the Lancers just ran ragged over the Rams 66-16 to take the title at Lakeshore's gym.

The game was a runaway right from the start. "At one time I looked up and it was 18-0," said Lakeshore's coach Denny Kniola. "The next time I looked it was already 27-2."

Kniola's game plan was to start the game with a full-court press. It was obvious that the press and many other things worked right as the Lancers held a 28-5 lead at the intermission.

The second half was more of the same for Lakeshore. "Our kids showed a good attitude out there," said Kniola. "In the second half they showed lots of hustle. We worked on a lot of individual stuff, like defense and rebounding, in the last half."

"We were quicker than South Haven," he added. "Maybe the Rams weren't used to playing an aggressive team like ours."

Mandy Smith led Lakeshore with 15 points while Judi Rabbers added 14 and Deb Swishelm scored eight as all but three Lancers scored in the contest.

South Haven had Marie Sarno and Annette Adams notch four points apiece.

Sue Kunkel was the Lancers' leader in rebounding with 12 and Kathy Mensinger pulled down 11.

Lakeshore's next opponent is Coldwater, a 51-50 double overtime winner over Vicksburg Wednesday. That game will be Thursday, Dec. 4, at Comstock high school beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Ranked Syracuse Launching Season

From Associated Press

Now that the Syracuse basketball doll is wound up, Coach Roy Danforth will see if it moves backward or forward.

"We'll be playing more people this year," says a cautious Danforth. "But forward Chris Sease — and the search for solid backcourt play — holds the key to success or mediocrity when tourney time has rolled around."

The Orangemen, uncertain but eager, are one of three ranked teams in action tonight as the 1975-76 college basketball season opens full-bloom.

Syracuse, ranked 20th in the country, will play Austin Peay in the first round of the IPTAY Invitational Tournament at Clemson, S. C. Harvard faces Clemson in the other game.

Arizona, ranked No. 11 in the preseason poll, hosts Oregon State, and 17th-ranked Providence plays Stonhill.

"Normally there are a few breathers early," said Danforth, "but we've got two tourneys right off the bat (the other is the Steel Bowl in Pittsburgh on Dec. 5 and 6)."

The Orangemen are coming off one of their most glamorous seasons in history — a 23rd record and the NCAA's eastern championship. Their fans want a replay of last year's Cinderella season, but Danforth perhaps is more realistic.

"It's the youngest team we've ever had since I've been here," Danforth pointed out. "However, I feel we're a tournament team. From 15 to 17 wins would be respectable for this team."

Sease, center Earlie Seibert and guard Jimmy Williams have returned from last year's team which placed in the NCAA's four-team summit meeting in San Diego. However, forward Rudy Hackett and guard Jimmy Lee will be missed. Hackett averaged more than 22 points and nearly 13 rebounds a game and Lee averaged 17 points and quarter-lacked a finely-tuned offense.

The Orangemen are in one of five opening-day tournaments across the country.

In the brand-new Lapchick Memorial Classic in New York, St. John's will entertain Colgate, Connecticut and Manhattan. The first round of the Naismith Hall of Fame tourney at Springfield, Mass., finds a four-team field of Niagara, Fairfield, Ohio and Massachusetts.

In the Louisiana Classic at Baton Rouge, the four-team field includes CCNY, Louisiana State, California and Chicago Loyola. It's Stetson, McNeese, New Orleans and Georgia Southern in the Crescent City Classic at New Orleans.

Dec. 17 Hearing For McQuilken

ATLANTA (AP) — Atlanta Falcons' quarterback Kim McQuilken faces a Dec. 17 traffic court hearing on charges of speeding and driving under the influence of alcohol.

McQuilken, who was arrested Tuesday, was quoted by a Falcons spokesman as saying he took a police test for driving under the influence, and that the alcohol content of his blood was within the legal limit.

McQuilken, 24, began the pre-season as the National Football League team's No. 1 quarterback, but lost the job to rookie Steve Bartkowski.

Jarry Traded To Minnesota

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — Minnesota and Detroit completed their second National Hockey League trade in five days Tuesday, with Minnesota acquiring Pierre Jarry in exchange for Don Martinou.

Both players are right wingers, playing for New Haven of the American Hockey League. New Haven is a farm club for both Minnesota and Detroit.

Jarry, 26, is in his seventh professional season. He scored five goals and seven assists in 13 games this season at New Haven. He has played in the NHL with the New York Rangers, Toronto and Detroit.

Martinou, 23, had three goals and seven assists with New Haven this season. He played last year with Minnesota.

Last Friday, the North Stars obtained center Bryan Hextall from Detroit for right winger Rick Chinnick.

Canadiens' Defense Tough With Lawyer In The Nets

From Associated Press

The Montreal Canadiens are making a good case for the defense and with a lawyer in goal, that's a pretty strong argument.

"Last year we took no pride in our defense, but now we're really a hard-nosed team," says goaltender Ken Dryden. "We no longer shy away from making the big defensive play. We seem to come up with it when we have to."

First Price Hike

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Los Angeles Dodgers announced Monday they are raising ticket prices for the 1976 baseball season, the first increase since the team moved here from Brooklyn 18 seasons ago.

Under the new prices, general admission will be $2, an increase of 50 cents, and box seats will go up $1 to $4.50. Reserved seats increase 50 cents to $3. Children under 12 will get in for $1, a 25 cent increase.

Dryden, a full-fledged lawyer who was lured back into hockey by big money last year after a short sabbatical, has never been better in his career.

And Thursday night, he continued to glitter in goal while leading the Canadiens to a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the New York Islanders. His performance plunged his goals-against average under 1.7, a figure that leads the NHL.

"The team is more consistent this year," said Dryden, who has accounted for 12 victories, four of them shutouts. "Everybody has been playing better. I'm playing as well in the net as I did before my sabbatical. And I'm playing better outside of the net."

In the only other NHL game, the Kansas City Scouts nipped the St. Louis Blues 3-2. In the World Hockey Association, the Indianapolis Racers stopped the Winnipeg Jets 3-1; the Minnesota Fighting Saints turned back the Cincinnati Stingers 5-3; the San Diego Mariners beat the Quebec Nordiques 3-1 and the Calgary Cowboys blasted the Phoenix Roadrunners 5-1.

Steve Shutt's goal with 3:11 gone in the final period provided the winning goal for Montreal. Islander goalie Billy Smith had made a save on a shot by Serge Savard but was then caught out of position as Shutt pumped in the winning goal.

The victory was the first in seven games for the Canadiens over the Islanders. Montreal, which had three losses and three ties with the Islanders, had last beaten them in March 1974.

Will Paiment, Germantown and Gary Bergman each scored second-period goals to lead Kansas City over St. Louis. Paiment's goal, his fourth of the year and second in two nights against the Blues, came on a breakaway only 40 seconds into the second period. Ganon added to the Kansas City lead

Cage Tourney Sites Picked

It's only Thanksgiving, but already Michigan madness has begun to hit the state's prep basketball teams.

The Michigan High School Athletic Association began the look ahead today as it released the district sites and assignments for the tourney which runs March 1-6.

The area card still boasts eight districts, but only Bridgman, which will host the Class D district for the fourth straight year, is a repeat site.

Sites have also been set for the regionals which run March 9-13. Southwestern Michigan will have its first regional in four years with Watervliet hosting a Class C event.

Among other changes are: —River Valley moving back into Class B after a year in Class C.

—Buchanan and Paw Paw,

Class B district champs last year, dropping to Class C.

The area's Class A district continues its annual rotation and this year will move to Benton Harbor. Along with the hosting Tigers, who won last year's district title at St. Joseph, will be the same three combatants as last season — Niles, St. Joseph and Holland.

South Haven will be this year's host of the Class B tourney. The district moves from Lakeshore with the five of last year's six participants intact. River Valley replaces Buchanan in the field.

Edwardsburg joins Watervliet as Class C hosts. Edwardsburg possesses possibly the strongest field with Buchanan and Cassopolis, last year's Class C state runner-up, in the district.

Two other area schools are entered in a pair of Class-C tourneys. Paw Paw travels to Kalamazoo Hackett and Fennville will host its own district.

Martin boosts the other Class D field with four area schools among the six-team field. Lawton, Marcellus and Gobles will join the host.

Quarterfinal play is slated for March 18. Sites have already been determined for the quarterfinals but the actual designation of the teams will be filled in later.

The semifinals will be held March 20 at Michigan State University, Traverse City and Cheboygan with the state finals March 27 at the University of Michigan's Crisler Arena.

Convincing Lancers 'B' District Champs

South Haven Clobbered 66-16

Lakeshore's girls basketball team won a berth in the regional cage tourney with what might be called a convincing win over South Haven Wednesday night.

With the district crown at stake, the Lancers just ran ragged over the Rams 66-16 to take the title at Lakeshore's gym.

The game was a runaway right from the start. "At one time I looked up and it was 18-0," said Lakeshore's coach Denny Kniola. "The next time I looked it was already 27-2."

Kniola's game plan was to start the game with a full-court press. It was obvious that the press and many other things worked right as the Lancers held a 29-5 lead at the intermission.

The second half was more of the same for Lakeshore. "Our kids showed a good attitude out there," said Kniola. "In the second half they showed lots of hustle. We worked on a lot of individual stuff, like defense and rebounding, in the last half. "We were quicker than South Haven," he added. "Maybe the Rams weren't used to playing an aggressive team like ours."

Mandy Smith led Lakeshore with 15 points while Jodi Rabbers added 14 and Deb Swishhelm scored eight as all but three Lancers scored in the contest.

South Haven had Marie Sarno and Annette Adams notch four points apiece.

Sue Kunkel was the Lancers leader in rebounding with 12 and Kathy Mensinger pulled down 11.

Lakeshore's next opponent is Coldwater, a 51-50 double overtime winner over Vicksburg Wednesday. That game will be Thursday, Dec. 4, at Comstock high school beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Ranked Syracuse Launching Season

From Associated Press

Now that the Syracuse basketball doll is wound up, Coach Roy Danforth will see if it moves backward or forward.

"We'll be playing more people this year," says a cautious Danforth. "But forward Chris Sease — and the search for solid backcourt play — holds the key to success or mediocrity when tourney time has rolled around."

The Orangemen, uncertain but eager, are one of three ranked teams in action tonight as the 1975-76 college basketball season opens full-bloom.

Syracuse, ranked 20th in the country, will play Austin Peay in the first round of the IPTAY Invitational Tournament at Clemson, S. C. Harvard faces Clemson in the other game.

Arizona, ranked No. 11 in the preseason poll, hosts Oregon State and 17th-ranked Providence plays Stonehill.

"Normally there are a few breathers early," said Danforth, "but we've got two tourneys right off the bat (the other is the Steel Bowl in Pittsburgh on Dec. 5 and 6)."

The Orangemen are coming off one of their most glamorous seasons in history — a 23-9 record and the NCAA's eastern championship. Their fans want a replay of last year's cinderella season, but Danforth perhaps is more realistic.

"It's the youngest team we've ever had since I've been here," Danforth pointed out. "However, I feel we're a tournament team. From 15 to 17 wins would be respectable for this team."

Sease, center Earnie Seibert and guard Jimmy Williams have returned from last year's team which placed in the NCAA's four-team summit meeting in San Diego. However, forward Rudy Hackett and guard Jimmy Lee will be missed. Hackett averaged more than 22 points and nearly 13 rebounds a game and Lee averaged 17 points and quarterbacked a finely-tuned offense.

The Orangemen are in one of five opening-day tournaments across the country.

In the brand-new Lapchick Memorial Classic in New York, St. John's will entertain Colgate, Connecticut and Manhattan. The first round of the Naismith Hall of Fame tourney at Springfield, Mass., finds a four-team field of Niagara, Fairfield, Ohio and Massachusetts.

In the Louisiana Classic at Baton Rouge, the four-team field includes CCNY, Louisiana State, California and Chicago Loyola. It's Stetson, McNeese, New Orleans and Georgia Southern in the Crescent City Classic at New Orleans.

Former Berrien County Athlete Of The Year Clark Now Making Noise On Lanes

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

A former Berrien County Athlete of the Year is now making big noise on the bowling alleys.

Casey Clark, who won the Sportsman's Award as the county's top athlete in 1956, is fast developing into one of the top bowlers in southwestern Michigan.

Clark, considered one of the finest athletes to come out of Berrien Springs high school, currently is boasting a hefty 196 average in the Fruit Belt league at Wil-O-Paw Lanes and a 187 average in the Classic league at Blossom Lanes. Both averages are among the top three in the leagues, considered among the best men's league in the area.

He also has a 695 series to his credit this season, the second best men's series in southwestern Michigan.

"I usually get off to a slow start...I don't touch a bowling ball all summer," notes Clark. "But I've gotten off to a fast start this season. I've gotten to the point now that if I don't get a 600 series I'm disappointed."

Clark, who starred in basketball (all-stater), football and track at Berrien Springs, started bowling in the junior leagues at the old Twin Cities Recreation in Benton Harbor while in high school.

But Clark gave up bowling while coaching basketball at Coloma high school for eight years, four years as head varsity coach.

"When I quit coaching I joined a couple of leagues and bought some new plastic balls," adds Clark. "I think I had about a 176 average my first year back (72-73 season). I've improved on that every year. Last year my 193 average was second to Bob Kolberg's in the Classic league at Blossom."

Clark, who has about six 700's in tournaments and open bowling, collected his lone sanctioned 700 series during the 1973-74 season when he hit 729, the second best men's series in the area for the season.

Now Clark would like to jump up another notch.

"My goal now is I would like to shoot an 800 series and become the first bowler in the area to do that. I know it's a pretty good goal...it might take some time to get there."

Clark, a teacher at Coloma high school, is also an avid sportsman. During the summer months he operates as a charter boat captain on Lake Michigan with his boat, The Double Downer.

"At age 37, I've given up some of the more strenuous sports," adds Clark, "so I think bowling is a super sport for middle age persons. If I could afford it, I would like to bowl in 10 leagues or something like that. I might go back to more leagues next year."

In a major change in the standings this week, the Bank Of Three Oaks climbed to first place in the women's high team series listings with a 2561 in the Tuesday Night Ladies league at Theo's Lanes in New Buffalo. Lillian Kerns headed the team with 557, Ginny Essig shot 537, Ruth Wiedenhoft 534, Sandy Brown 516 and sub Mary Gregory 417.

Professional Bowlers Association (PBA) officials remind bowlers about qualifications for joining the 1,300 member organization.

The basic requirements are members must be at least 18 years old and for two consecutive years or more must have recorded a minimum 190 average in an accredited league.

If accepted, the first-year member is classified as an apprentice professional and then his membership is upgraded depending on the number of tournaments in which he competes during the following years. There is an initiation fee and an annual dues charge.

The PBA also operates a regional activities program which includes regional memberships and the opportunity to compete in regional tournaments held in each of the PBA's six geographic areas of the country.

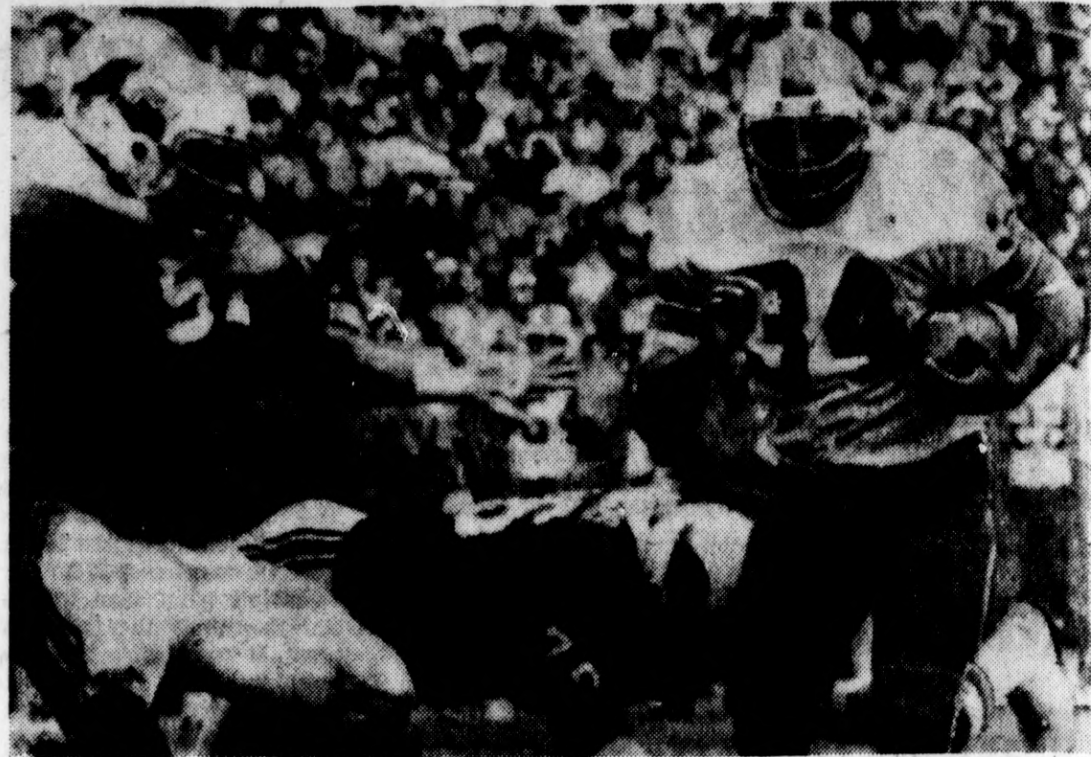

Information about membership can be obtained by writing to the PBA at 1720 Merriman Road, Akron, Ohio, 44313.

Split conversions this week included the 6-7-10 by Darlene Gleffe, Cam Styburski, Sue Renfro, Donna Avery, Betty Hauenstein, Pat Moynihan, Dottie Platte, Eddie Brown and Lee Lea; the 4-7-10 by Dorothy Vaughn and John Clay; the 6-7 by Hilda Berndt and Paul Thwaitt; the 4-10 by Jerry Freeman, Peggy Grannell, Diana Nash and Tammy Kraklau; the 4-6 by John Van Gordon; the 8-10 by Inez Dumke; the 6-7-8-10 by Laurel Webster; the 6-7-9-10 by Al McNeese; the 4-6-7-9-10 by Tom Kubath and the 4-7-9-10 by Marvin Sears.

Miriam Dorn picked up the 3-6-7 and 6-7 in one night while Debbie McLean converted the 2-4-10 and 4-7-10 in one night.

Mike Brisbin earned a century patch for his 268 game, 100 pins over his average.

GOOD FOR EIGHT: Buffalo Bills running back Jim Braxton (34) goes for a gain of eight yards with the assistance of teammate who got a strange hold on St. Louis' Mark Armeson (57). Making the stop is Charlie Davis (76). The action took place in first period of Thursday game in St. Louis which the Bills won. See story on page 20. (AP Wirephoto)

Monroe Comeback Destroys Indians

For the first eight minutes, Lake Michigan College looked like gang busters as the Indians held a 14-3 lead over Monroe Community College Wednesday night.

But the last 32 minutes were more like a horror show as Monroe came back to trounce LMC 109-74 on the Indians' home court.

"For the first eight minutes we played basketball like it was meant to be played," commented LMC's head coach Art Crump.

After that spurt in the first half, the Indians' play started to deteriorate. "We began to commit turnovers and we quit rebounding," moaned Crump. Lake Michigan had its chance to comeback, only down by a 46-41 score at the intermission. Monroe put the game on ice, though, as it notched the first seven points of the second half to take a 53-41 lead.

Kerry Lee led the Indians' scorers with 18, 16 of those coming in the first half. Others to hit double figures included James Kent with 13 and David Thomas with 11.

Leading the balanced Monroe attack was Steve Mays with 22 points. Ike Smith added 19, Terry Nelson 18, Larry Murnen had 16 and Larry Marul scored 13.

The Indians now stand at 1-2 on the season, with all their games being non-conference tilts.

Lake Michigan gets into league action next Wednesday, Dec. 3, when it travels to Southwestern Michigan College.

Russians At 'Home' In Frigid Kansas

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A tired Soviet basketball team worked out Thursday night in Salina, Kan., for their final engagement in the United States, but their hosts agreed the players were relaxed in the state, frigid expanses of north-central Kansas because it was just like home.

Home, in a sense, for Thanksgiving.

The big Russians, anchored by 7-foot-2, 280-pound center Vladimir Tkachenko and 6-7, 230-pound Alexandr Belov, go against Marymount College tonight. Jimmy Hearn, a 6-5 senior forward from Trenton, N.J., considered by Coach Ken Cochran to be the "best basketball player in the Midwest," is the tallest player on the Spartan squad.

The teams got together Thanksgiving Day in the Salina Country Club for a special dinner limited to the players and the coaches.

"It was really something," Cochran said Thursday night in a telephone interview. "The country club offers a wide panorama of the wheat fields, and with the cold and the snow we're having they said right away it was just like home. As a matter of fact, when they stepped from the plane, they weren't sure if they hadn't gotten a quick trip home."

Salina is under seven inches of snow. Temperatures dropped to near zero Wednesday night after the Russians arrived at the airport. Some observers said there were Russian guffaws and references to "Siberia."

"Our town (population about 30,000) is upside-down with this visit," Cochran said. "We never see Russian people like this. Tickets for the game were sold out four hours after they went on sale."

All 3,000 of them.

For the Soviet Olympic squad it will be a sharp contrast to the 15,000-18,000 fans who packed fieldhouses to see them across the eastern part of the country. They recorded a 9-4 record against the likes of Marquette, Indiana, Notre Dame, Providence, North Carolina, Wake Forest and Alabama. They defeated the Tide, in their last game, Tuesday night 63-62.

Marymount is a former all-women's Catholic school with a student body of 709. It has been affiliated with the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association for only four years and it will be the only small college that will have met the Soviet squad on the court.

But the Spartans are not as unworthy as their size and NAIA experience might imply. Twice they qualified for the NAIA national tournament, most recently last season when they wound up their season with a 29-4 record. They are 4-0 this season.

The good-natured Cochran said his team has two chances against the Russians — "none and slim."

Athletic Director Larry Muff said, "That 7-2 boy is something out of an odyssey." "We watched them work out tonight," Cochran said. "They're very big and talented. We're tickled to death. We look on it as a real bonus feature, a golden opportunity to work against some great talent. But we're not awestruck."

Home 'Disadvantage' For NBA Cavaliers

Warriors' Big Finish Nips Bucks

From Associated Press
The "home court advantage" hasn't been any advantage for the Cleveland Cavaliers so far this season.

In fact, the way the year has been going, it's been a disadvantage for them to play at home.

"Two baskets in a row in the late going every time we play at home seem to mean the ballgame," said Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch after his Cavaliers dropped a 95-91 National Basketball Association decision to the Kansas City Kings Thursday night.

The defeat plunged the Cavs' homecourt record to 1-6. They've been more prosperous on the road, splitting 10 games. "We stood around too much," said a disconsolate Fitch.

"When we run, we're tough. Shooting 45 per cent looks good, but when you take the shots we had tonight, it isn't much."

Jimmy Walker and Nate Archibald, a couple of old hands, combined for 33 points to pace the Kansas City offense.

In the other NBA games, the Golden State Warriors whipped the Milwaukee Bucks 106-105 and the New York Knicks trimmed the Washington Bullets 96-90. In the only American Basketball Association game, the Utah Stars nudged the Kentucky Colonels 128-126 in overtime.

He said the Rams expected the blitz often, and that is why Harris threw often on first and second down.

The shutout was the eighth in the NFL this year. Six have come on the losers' home field.

The loss was the 18th for Detroit in its Thanksgiving Day series against 16 victories and two ties. The Rams appeared once before in the Turkey Day contest, winning 31-7 at Tiger Stadium in 1967.

Several Lions who were doubtful starters played despite their injuries, including center Jim Morris, cornerback Lem Barney, tight end Charlie Sanders plus linebackers Jim Lastavice and Charlie Weaver.

Late in the first half, Detroit used a trick play whereby quarterback Joe Reed centered the ball to running back Altie Taylor, who rammed 53 yards to the Rams' 27-yard line.

Detroit lined up with everybody left of the ball, and Reed simply — and legally — centered it to Taylor, standing sideways to the ball much like kids do in a pickup game.

A penalty wiped out the play. The penalty, however, was not for illegal formation but for illegal motion in the line by guard Lynn Boden.

Detroit used the same play in a game last year against Green Bay and gained 27 yards with it. "The Lions call the play 'emergency play,'" said Coach Rick Forzano.

Coach Rick Forzano says he read about it in a book about famous old Chicago University Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Lion Lines

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Ron Jesse didn't get the same treatment another Detroit defector — Marcel Dionne — got when he returned to face his former teammates.

But maybe it's because the public address speaker announced only Los Angeles' defensive starters before the Rams' 20-0 National Football League victory Thursday against the Detroit Lions in Pontiac. Jesse is the ex-Lions wide receiver who played out his option and was signed by the Rams.

"I had mixed emotions," Jesse said of playing before his old rooters. "I knew there would be a lot of boo birds, but that's part of the game. It didn't bother me."

There wasn't really much booing of him, even after he caught an 11-yard touchdown pass from James Harris in the first quarter.

In contrast, ex-Detroit Red Wing Dionne was booed loudly each time he took the ice in Detroit last week when the Red Wings beat the Los Angeles Kings in a National Hockey League game.

Dionne also played out his option.

Rams running back Cullen Bryant, who was supposed to go to Detroit as compensation for the Jesse signing, was booed louder than Jesse. Bryant refused to report to the Lions, and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle decided to award Detroit L.A.'s No. 1 draft choice in 1976 instead.

Rams Coach Chuck Knox understandably thought his defense was "outstanding" but he praised the offense for blocking well on Lions' blitzes.

Port Huron Bumps Flint From First

From Associated Press
The Port Huron Flags bumped the Flint Generals from a three-way tie with the Saginaw Gears for first place in the International Hockey League's north division as the Flags defeated the Generals 4-3 Thursday.

The three teams entered Thursday's play tied for the division lead with 20 points each. Saginaw and Port Huron are now tied for first place with 22 points each. Flint fell to third place.

Port Huron's Dan Newman broke a tie game at 13:05 of the final period to give the Flags their victory over the Generals in a game at Port Huron.

Len Fontaine had two goals and Steve Stone added the other for the Flags.

The Flint effort was paced by goals by Scott Hudson, Don Hay and Mike Clark.

Port Huron's record now is 11-9-0, while Flint dipped to 8-8-2.

Saginaw retained its share of first place as Jimmy Johnson, John Gravel and Darcy Ryan each scored single goals to lead the Gears to a 3-0 victory over Muskegon at Saginaw.

Saginaw now is 9-5-4 while Muskegon is 7-8-4.

In Fort Wayne, Robbie Laird scored three goals and Stan O'Driscoll and Sid Veysey added two each as the Komets exploded for seven goals in the third period and routed the Dayton Gems 10-3.

The Komets peppered the Dayton net with 58 shots in rallying for the victory. They trailed 1-0 after the opening period.

Port Wayne is unbeaten in its last six home games.

Flag Goalie Gets Call From Scouts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Scouts of the National Hockey League say they've called up Port Huron Flags goalie Bill Oleschuk.

Oleschuk had a goals-against average of 2.9 during his career with the Flags in the International Hockey League.

Five MAC Teams Open On Weekend

Miami Gets Only Breather On Rugged Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami of Ohio plays what may be its only breather against visiting Ohio Northern Saturday in an otherwise grueling December basketball schedule.

Darrell Hedrie, the Redskins' fast-talking coach, prefers it that way.

"We might hurt ourselves mentally," he said of the rugged schedule. "But I think it gets us ready for the conference race."

The Redskins play the likes of Cincinnati, Dayton, Marquette, Kentucky and Princeton in tuneups for the Mid-American race opening in January.

Miami, expected to challenge Western Michigan for the 1976 MAC crown, is one of five conference squads opening the season this weekend.

Ohio University starts its rolling tonight. The Bobcats take on Massachusetts in a first-round game of the inaugural Hall of Fame Tournament in Springfield, Mass.

Kent State, vastly improved under second-year Coach Rex Hughes Jr., faces the biggest hurdle Saturday. The Flashes go to rugged Notre Dame, paced by All-American Adrian Dantley.

Ball State is home for Indiana Central and Eastern Michigan battles visiting Michigan Tech in other games Saturday.

Western Michigan, Northern Illinois and defending champion Central Michigan debut Monday. Toledo starts Tuesday and Bowling Green is the last MAC squad to open Wednesday.

For the first time in history, the conference race has been expanded to 10 teams and 16 league games. Ball State and Northern Illinois join the chase for the first time.

MSU's Stolz North Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz, Michigan State University head football coach, will coach the North team in the American Bowl post season game in Tampa, Fla., on Jan. 10, the school announced Tuesday.

The game pits collegiate seniors from all parts of the nation divided into North and South units. Coaching South will be Auburn's Ralph "Shug" Jordan.

It will be the first all-star game coaching assignment for Stolz, who just completed his third MSU season. But it is the second time an MSU head coach will have directed a team in the game. In 1970, Duffy Daugherty filled the same role.

Flint's Bowman Leading Scorer

Flag Goalie Gets

Call From Scouts

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The Kansas City Scouts of the National Hockey League say they've called up Port Huron Flags goalie Bill Oleschuk.

Oleschuk had a goals-against average of 2.9 during his career with the Flags in the International Hockey League.

Home 'Disadvantage' For NBA Cavaliers

Warriors' Big Finish Nips Bucks

From Associated Press
 The "home court advantage" hasn't been any advantage for the Cleveland Cavaliers so far this season.

In fact, the way the year has been going, it's been a disadvantage for them to play at home.

"Two baskets in a row in the late going every time we play at home seem to mean the ballgame," said Cleveland Coach Bill Fitch after his Cavaliers dropped a 95-91 National Basketball Association decision to the Kansas City Kings Thursday night.

The defeat plunged the Cavs' homecourt record to 1-6. They've been more prosperous on the road, splitting 10 games.

"We stood around too much," said a disconsolate Fitch.

"When we run, we're tough. Shooting 45 per cent looks good, but when you take the shots we had tonight, it isn't much."

Jimmy Walker and Nate Archibald, a couple of old hands, combined for 53 points to pace the Kansas City offense.

In the other NBA games, the Golden State Warriors whipped the Milwaukee Bucks 106-105 and the New York Knicks trimmed the Washington Bullets 96-90. In the only America Basketball Association game, the Utah Stars nudged the Kentucky Colonels 128-126 in overtime.

Lion Lines

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Ron Jesse didn't get the same treatment another Detroit defector — Marcel Dionne — got when he returned to face his former teammates.

But maybe it's because the public address speaker announced only Los Angeles' defensive starters before the Rams' 20-0 National Football League victory Thursday against the Detroit Lions in Pontiac. Jesse is the ex-Lions wide receiver who played out his option and was signed by the Rams.

"I had mixed emotions," Jesse said of playing before his old rooters. "I knew there would be a lot of boo birds, but that's part of the game. It didn't bother me."

There wasn't really much booing of him, even after he caught an 11-yard touchdown pass from James Harris in the first quarter.

In contrast, ex-Detroit Red Wing Dionne was booed loudly each time he took the ice in Detroit last week when the Red Wings beat the Los Angeles Kings in a National Hockey League game.

Dionne also played out his option.

Rams running back Cullen Bryant, who was supposed to go to Detroit as compensation for the Jesse signing, was booed louder than Jesse. Bryant refused to report to the Lions, and NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle decided to award Detroit LA's No. 1 draft choice in 1976 instead.

Rams Coach Chuck Knox understandably thought his defense was "outstanding" but he praised the offense for blocking well on Lions' blitzes.

He said the Rams expected the blitz often, and that is why Harris threw often on first and second down.

The shutout was the eighth in the NFL this year. Six have come on the losers' home field.

The loss was the 18th for Detroit in its Thanksgiving Day series against 16 victories and two ties. The Rams appeared once before in the Turkey Day contest, winning 31-7 at Tiger Stadium in 1967.

Several Lions who were doubtful starters played despite their injuries, including center Jon Morris, cornerback Lem Barney, tight end Charlie Sanders plus linebackers Jim Laslavic and Charlie Weaver.

Late in the first half, Detroit used a trick play whereby quarterback Joe Reed centered the ball to running back Altie Taylor, who rambled 53 yards to the Rams' 27-yard line.

Detroit lined up with everybody left of the ball, and Reed simply — and legally — centered it to Taylor, standing sideways to the ball much like kids do in a pickup game.

A penalty wiped out the play. The penalty, however, was not for illegal formation but for illegal motion in the line by guard Lynn Boden.

Detroit used the same play in a game last year against Green Bay and gained 27 yards with it. The Lions call the play "emergency play."

Coach Rick Forzano says he read about it in a book about famous old Chicago University Coach Amos Alonzo Stagg.

Port Huron Bumps Flint From First

From Associated Press
 The Port Huron Flags bumped the Flint Generals from a three-way tie with the Saginaw Gears for first place in the International Hockey League's north division as the Flags defeated the Generals 4-3 Thursday.

The three teams entered Thursday's play tied for the division lead with 20 points each. Saginaw and Port Huron are now tied for first place with 22 points each. Flint fell to third place.

Port Huron's Dan Newman broke a tie game at 13:05 of the final period to give the Flags their victory over the Generals in a game at Port Huron.

Len Fontaine had two goals and Steve Stone added the other for the Flags.

The Flint effort was paced by goals by Scott Hudson, Don Hay and Mike Clark.

Port Huron's record now is 11-9-0, while Flint dipped to 9-8-2.

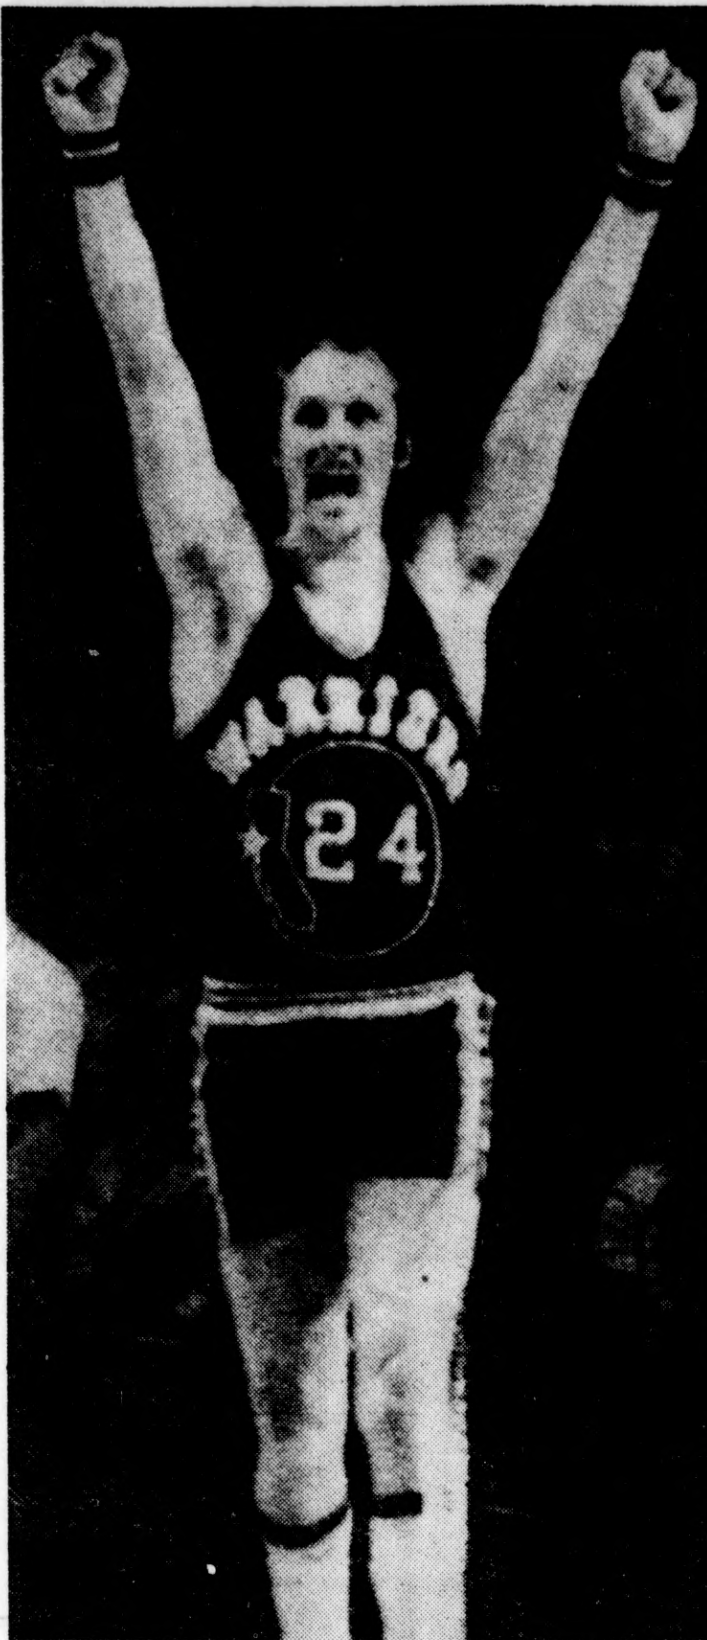

Saginaw retained its share of first place as Jimmy Johnson, John Gravel and Darcy Ryan each scored single goals to lead the Gears to a 3-0 victory over Muskegon at Saginaw.

Saginaw now is 9-5-4 while Muskegon is 7-8-4.

In Fort Wayne, Robbie Laird scored three goals and Stan O'Driscoll and Sid Veysey added two each as the Komets exploded for seven goals in the third period and routed the Dayton Gems 10-3.

The Komets peppered the Dayton net with 50 shots in rallying for the victory. They trailed 1-0 after the opening period.

Fort Wayne is unbeaten in its last six home games.

Miami Gets Only Breather On Rugged Schedule

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami of Ohio plays what may be its only breather against visiting Ohio Northern Saturday in an otherwise grueling December basketball schedule.

Darrell Hedric, the Redskins' fast-talking coach, prefers it that way.

"We might hurt ourselves mentally," he said of the rugged schedule. "But I think it gets us ready for the conference race."

The Redskins play the likes of Cincinnati, Dayton, Marquette, Kentucky and Princeton in tuneups for the Mid-American race opening in January.

Miami, expected to challenge Western Michigan for the 1976 MAC crown, is one of five conference squads opening the season this weekend.

Ohio University starts it rolling tonight. The Bobcats take on Massachusetts in a first-round game of the inaugural Hall of Fame Tournament in Springfield, Mass.

Kent State, vastly improved under second-year Coach Rex Hughes Jr., faces the biggest hurdle Saturday. The Flashes go to rugged Notre Dame, paced

by All-American Adrian Dantley.

Ball State is home for Indiana Central and Eastern Michigan battles visiting Michigan Tech in other games Saturday.

Western Michigan, Northern Illinois and defending champion Central Michigan debut Monday, Toledo starts Tuesday and Bowling Green is the last MAC squad to open Wednesday.

For the first time in history, the conference race has been expanded to 10 teams and 16 league games. Ball State and Northern Illinois join the chase for the first time.

MSU's Stolz North Coach

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Denny Stolz, Michigan State University head football coach, will coach the North team in the American Bowl post season game in Tampa, Fla., on Jan. 10, the school announced Tuesday.

The game pits collegiate seniors from all parts of the nation divided into North and South units. Coaching South will be Auburn's Ralph "Shug" Jordan.

It will be the first all-star game coaching assignment for Stolz, who just completed his third MSU season. But it is the second time an MSU head coach will have directed a team in the game. In 1970, Duffy Daugherty filled the same role.

No. 1 Indiana Overwhelming Big Ten Championship Pick

Michigan, Purdue Runnerup Choices

By JOE MOOSHL,
AP Sports Writer

Indiana's defending champions, picked No. 1 in the Associated Press preseason poll, are overwhelming favorites to repeat in the Big Ten basketball race this season.

Coach Bobby Knight will have four returning starters from last season's team which powered through the Big Ten campaign without a loss and suffered its only reversal to Kentucky in the NCAA playoffs.

The Hoosiers have a string of 34 straight conference triumphs. Although this streak might be broken with a bad game somewhere along the way, it is not likely any team in the conference can overhaul Indiana.

Knight will be without the services of Steve Green and super sub John Laskowski but back again are Scott May, Quinn Buckner, Bob Wilkerson and Kent Benson. Talented Tom Abernethy will be the fifth starter, with sophomore letterman Wayne Radford likely taking the role of Laskowski.

Indiana has a pair of outstanding freshmen in Rich Valavictus and Bob Bender, but it is not likely they will be needed outside of being spotted to gain experience.

Indiana finished six games ahead of Michigan last season and the Wolverines again figure to be a factor for the runnerup spot along with Purdue.

Iowa has an experienced squad and Ohio State should better its 8-10 conference mark of a year ago. Michigan State will be hard pressed to repeat its 10-8 record, Northwestern and Wisconsin still aren't there and Illinois and Minnesota will be under the guidance of new coaches.

Michigan has Steve Grote, Wayman Britt and John Robinson returning and Coach Johnny Orr has picked up Ricky Green, a junior college transfer. Orr also has one of the top freshmen in the league in Phil Hubbard of Canton, Ohio.

Orr hopes that by the time the conference season opens, Hubbard and freshmen Bobby Jones, Alan Hardy and Tom Staton might have developed enough to help.

Purdue's top returning players include Bruce Parkinson, Walter Jordan, Wayne Walls and Eugene Parker. The Boilermakers also have a pair of top freshmen in Kyle Macy and Jerry Siehting. Coach Fred Schaus will have a quick team with excellent depth.

Coach Lute Olson has 10 returning lettermen at Iowa and is looking toward an excellent season after finishing seventh with a 7-11 record in the conference.

Olsen can start a veteran lineup consisting of Dan Frost, Bruce King, John Hairston, Scott Thompson and Fred Haberecht.

Craig Taylor and Larry Bolden are back for Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor, who claims mistakes cost the Buckeyes at least five victories last season. Freshman Fred Poole could be a starter and Mike Daugherty, a transfer from Georgia Tech, gives the team depth at the guard position.

Michigan State Coach Gus Ganakas has one of the Big Ten's top stars in Terry Furlow. Benny White and Edgar Wilson also are back but the Spartans will miss Lindsay Hairston, who led the Big Ten in rebounding. Freshman help could come from Milton Wiley and Greg Kelsner.

Northwestern will have leading scorer Billy McKinney back along with 6-10 Jim Wallace at center. Coach Tex Winter hopes to take some of the pressure off McKinney, who simply wore down last season. Wallace can be of more help if he stays out of foul trouble.

Winter has two fine freshmen in Pete Boesen and Bob Klaas, both products of the Chicago suburban area.

Dale Kochler is back for Wisconsin and Coach Johnny Powless said Dale could be the best player Wisconsin ever has had. Kochler missed the first half of last season because of injuries. Top freshmen are 6-11½ Mark Newburg and 6-11 Al Rudd.

Lou Henson will make his coaching debut at Illinois, replacing Gene Bartow, who took over from Johnny Wooden at UCLA. Top players back at Illinois include Otha Tucker and Nate Williams. Henson also is counting on Audie Matthews, who failed to live up to expectations as a freshman. Larry Lubin is an outstanding freshman prospect.

Jim Dutcher is the new coach at Minnesota, replacing Bill Musselman who departed after recruiting scandals. Also gone are Mark Olberding and Mark Landsberger.

Mike Thompson, Phil Saunders and Chad Nelson are back but Dutcher needs quick help and might get it in junior college transfers Ray Williams and Gus Johnson.

Illinois opens the regular season at Nebraska Friday night with seven other teams spinning into action Saturday when Indiana meets UCLA at St. Louis.

Eastern Michigan Has Gal Trainer

Katie Grove One Of Few Women In Profession

By ELLEN HADDOX
Associated Press Writer
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — "When I first started this job, the football players were amazed to see me," says Katie Grove, an athletic trainer at Eastern Michigan University.

Ms. Grove, 25, is one of the few women in the country who are certified athletic trainers — a profession once limited to men who spent their days taping ankles and knees of 240-pound defensive tackles.

Ms. Grove, a native of Fargo, N.D., graduated from the University of Montana in pre-physical therapy and earned a masters degree from Indiana University.

Her work at Eastern Michigan mainly concerns women's athletics, but since there aren't many women's teams yet, she spends part of her day in the men's locker room, taping hairy legs.

"They really didn't trust me at first," Ms. Grove said. "Most athletes prefer one trainer over another anyway. They're used to me now but I still get a lot of wisecracks."

Her job isn't limited to taping ankles. She assists head trainer Ron Venis in planning therapy programs for injured athletes, both male and female.

"I work with the women's coaches to set up conditioning programs for team members, and that helps prevent injuries," she said.

Ms. Grove started at Eastern Michigan in January, 1973, just after she graduated from Indiana and was certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association. Her mornings are filled with therapy for injured players and afterwards find her near the practice fields armed with tape and splints in case an injury occurs.

"I'm glad I got into this," she said in a telephone interview. "I've always liked sports."

The head trainer at Montana, Nasby Reinhardt, helped me a lot."

With the expansion of women's athletics at the high school and college level, Ms. Grove thinks there will be a growing demand for women trainers. But, she said, a woman being named head trainer at a large college or university is still far away.

"It's going to take a while. The head trainer is responsible mainly for football, which is a male sport. It would be hard for a woman to get that type of job."

"It's really busy most days around here," she said. "Women's and men's basketball is starting soon and I generally help out with visiting teams, too."

Ms. Grove added: "Mostly what I see all day are feet."

Bell MVP For U-M

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Tailback Gordon Bell has been named the most valuable player on the University of Michigan's 1973 football squad.

Bell, a senior from Troy, Ohio, wound up with 1,335 yards this season — second on the Wolverines' all-time single season list behind the 1,381 yard record set by Ron Johnson in 1968.

Bell was the leading ground gainer in the Big Ten conference.

Trainer Promoted

ANAHEIM (AP) — The California Angels Tuesday announced the promotion of Freddie Frederico to traveling secretary after 14 years as the team's trainer.

Career Clips

Taylor Lanier (Eau Claire) ended with 13 yards in three carries and one touchdown while playing tailback for Central Michigan this season. Defensive back Mike Ryan (St. Joseph) ended with three assists. Defensive tackle Steve Smallbone (Dowagiac) had six tackles, 16 assists, three tackles for losses and one fumble recovery.

Both Jettie Rice and Gary Phillips are battling for starting guard spots this season on the University of Wyoming basketball squad. The Benton Harbor high graduates both lettered as freshmen last season. Rice averaged 4.8 points a game last year and Phillips 1.3.

"I feel we have a pair of guards (senior captain John Robinson and Rice) who are as good as any I have ever been associated with here at Wyoming," notes Wyoming coach Moe Radovich, starting his third year. "Both are exceptional. Rice eventually could become one of the better guards ever to play here. He had great quickness and is an excellent shooter and jumper."

Wyoming, which finished 10-16 overall and 3-11 in the Western Athletic Conference basketball race last year, opens up its season this Saturday night against Western State. The University of Wyoming is located at Laramie.

Iowa has an experienced squad and Ohio State should better its 8-10 conference mark of a year ago. Michigan State will be hard pressed to repeat its 10-8 record. Northwestern and Wisconsin still aren't there and Illinois and Minnesota will be under the guidance of new coaches.

Michigan has Steve Grote, Wayman Britt and John Robinson returning and Coach Johnny Orr has picked up Ricky Green, a junior college transfer. Orr also has one of the top freshmen in the league in Phil Hubbard of Canton, Ohio.

Orr hopes that by the time the conference season opens, Hubbard and freshmen Bobby Jones, Alan Hardy and Tom Staton might have developed enough to help.

Purdue's top returning players include Bruce Parkinson, Walter Jordan, Wayne Walls and Eugene Parker. The Boilermakers also have a pair of top freshmen in Kyle Macy and Jerry Sichting. Coach Fred Schaus will have a quick team with excellent depth.

Coach Lute Olson has 10 returning lettermen at Iowa and is looking toward an excellent season after finishing seventh with a 7-11 record in the conference.

Olson can start a veteran lineup consisting of Dan Frost, Bruce King, John Hairston, Scott Thompson and Fred Haberecht.

Craig Taylor and Larry Bolden are back for Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor, who claims mistakes cost the Buckeyes at least five victories last season. Freshman Fred Poole could be a starter and Mike Daugherty, a transfer from Georgia Tech, gives the team depth at the guard position.

Michigan State Coach Gus Ganakas has one of the Big Ten's top stars in Terry Furlow. Benny White and Edgar Wilson also are back but the Spartans will miss Lindsay Hairston, who led the Big Ten in rebounding. Freshman help could come from Milton Wiley and Greg Kelsner.

Northwestern will have leading scorer Billy McKinney back along with 6-10 Jim Wallace at center. Coach Tex Winter hopes to take some of the pressure off McKinney, who simply wore down last season. Wallace can be of more help if he stays out of foul trouble.

Winter has two fine freshmen in Pete Boesen and Bob Klaas, both products of the Chicago suburban area.

Dale Koehler is back for Wisconsin and Coach Johnny Powless said Dale could be the best player Wisconsin ever has had. Koehler missed the first half of last season because of injuries. Top freshmen are 6-11½ Mark Newburg and 6-11 Al Rudd.

Lou Henson will make his coaching debut at Illinois, replacing Gene Bartow, who took over from Johnny Wooden at UCLA. Top players back at Illinois include Otho Tucker and Nate Williams. Henson also is counting on Audie Matthews, who failed to live up to expectations as a freshman. Larry Lubin is an outstanding freshman prospect.

Jim Dutcher is the new coach at Minnesota, replacing Bill Musselman who departed after recruiting scandals. Also gone are Mark Olberding and Mark Landsberger.

Mike Thompson, Phil Saunders and Chad Nelson are back but Dutcher needs quick help and might get it in junior college transfers Ray Williams and Gus Johnson.

Illinois opens the regular season at Nebraska Friday night with seven other teams spinning into action Saturday when Indiana meets UCLA at St. Louis.

Eastern Michigan Has Gal Trainer

Katie Grove One Of Few Women In Profession

By ELLEN HADDOW
Associated Press Writer
YPSILANTI, Mich. (AP) — "When I first started this job, the football players were amazed to see me," says Katie Grove, an athletic trainer at Eastern Michigan University.

Ms. Grove, 25, is one of the few women in the country who are certified athletic trainers — a profession once limited to men who spent their days taping ankles and knees of 240-pound defensive tackles.

Ms. Grove, a native of Fargo, N.D., graduated from the University of Montana in pre-physical therapy and earned a masters degree from Indiana University.

Her work at Eastern Michigan mainly concerns women's athletics, but since there aren't many women's teams yet, she spends part of her day in the men's locker room, taping hairy legs.

"They really didn't trust me at first," Ms. Grove said. "Most athletes prefer one trainer over another anyway. They're used to me now but I still get a lot of wisecracks."

Her job isn't limited to taping ankles. She assists head trainer Ron Venis in planning therapy programs for injured athletes, both male and female. "I work with the women's coaches to set up conditioning programs for team members, and that helps prevent injuries," she said.

Ms. Grove started at Eastern Michigan in January, 1975, just after she graduated from Indiana and was certified by the National Athletic Trainers Association. Her mornings are filled with therapy for injured players and afterwards find her near the practice fields armed with tape and splints in case an injury occurs.

"I'm glad I got into this," she said in a telephone interview. "I've always liked sports."

The head trainer at Montana, Nasby Reinhart, helped me a lot."

With the expansion of women's athletics at the high school and college level, Ms. Grove thinks there will be a growing demand for women trainers. But, she said, a woman being named head trainer at a large college or university is still far away.

"It's going to take a while. The head trainer is responsible mainly for football, which is a male sport. It would be hard for a woman to get that type of job."

"It's really busy most days around here," she said. "Women's and men's basketball is starting soon and I generally help out with visiting teams, too."

Ms. Grove added: "Mostly what I see all day are feet."

Bell MVP For U-M

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Tailback Gordon Bell has been named the most valuable player on the University of Michigan's 1975 football squad.

Bell, a senior from Troy, Ohio, wound up with 1,335 yards this season — second on the Wolverines' all-time single season list behind the 1,391 yard record set by Ron Johnson in 1968.

Bell was the leading ground gainer in the "Big Ten" conference.

Trainer Promoted

ANAHEIM (AP) — The California Angels Tuesday announced the promotion of Freddie Frederico to traveling secretary after 14 years as the team's trainer.

Career Clips

Taylor Lanier (Eau Claire) ended with 13 yards in three carries and one touchdown while playing tailback for Central Michigan this season. Defensive back Mike Ryan (St. Joseph) ended with three assists. Defensive tackle Steve Smallbone (Dowagiac) had six tackles, 16 assists, three tackles for losses and one fumble recovery.

Both Jettie Rice and Gary Phillips are battling for starting guard spots this season on the University of Wyoming basketball squad. The Benton Harbor high graduates both lettered as freshmen last season. Rice averaged 4.8 points a game last year and Phillips 1.3.

"I feel we have a pair of guards (senior captain John Robinson and Rice) who are as good as any I have ever been associated with here at Wyoming," notes Wyoming coach Moe Radovich, starting his third year. "Both are exceptional. Rice eventually could become one of the better guards ever to play here. He had great quickness and is an excellent shooter and jumper."

Wyoming, which finished 10-16 overall and 3-11 in the Western Athletic Conference basketball race last year, opens up its season this Saturday night against Western State. The University of Wyoming is located at Laramie.

Kimball Method

New Grafting Process For Grapes Tried At Lawton

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

This spring Bob Rogers gave over two rows of his Concord vineyard to researchers. "I let them have the rows to play with," he said.

In return for the favor, Rogers hopes to be picking hybrid wine grapes from his 40-year-old Concord vineyard by 1977 or '78. In the meantime, he will continue to harvest Concord grapes from the rows.

His farm, just outside Lawton on Third street, is one of a handful of places in Michigan where a fairly simple method of converting vineyards from Concord to French hybrids is being tried.

The beauty of the conversion idea is that not a single year's crop is lost during the process, Rogers explained.

At a growers' meeting in Watervliet last winter, Dr. Keith Kimball, a Geneva, N.Y., experiment station scientist, outlined the grafting method he had developed.

Drs. Stan Howell and Steve Stackhouse, of the Michigan State University Horticulture Department, received Rogers' permission to graft DeChamane and Chardonnay scions to Concord vines. Rogers, a Welch Foods grower, said the company encourages such projects.

The Kimball Method is based on "ridiculous little details, all of which must be followed for success," Dr. Kimball said last winter.

Following his instructions, Stackhouse made the grafts this spring in the Rogers vineyard. A walk through the vineyard this week revealed that on one row nearly all of the grafts took and the hybrids showed good shoot growth; on another row many of the grafts did not take.

Rogers said the two rows received different variety hybrids.

Howell, reached at the Geneva station where he is doing research with Dr. Kimball and others, said different hybrid varieties were used as scions so the researchers could test their "grafting technique."

Grafts are also being made on Aurora vines, Howell said.

Rogers hand-harvested the Concord grapes from the two rows this fall. Yield was normal. In the spring, Howell said, fruit blossoms will be pulled from the hybrid shoots and the shoots will continue to grow alongside the blossoming Concord vines. In the spring of 1977, the Concord vine will be sawed off above the point of the graft, and Rogers will have French hybrid grapes instead of Concord.

Compared to the money and years that it takes to graft by traditional means, the Kimball Method gives a grape grower "more control in an ever-changing grape market," Howell observed.

Howell tells growers who want to convert a vineyard by the Kimball Method to collect scion wood soon and hold it in a moist place at 32 to 34 degrees. And specific materials, such as corks, should be ordered now, he added.

Kimball's process will be explained in a newsletter soon, Howell added.

Bargaining Act A Topic At Horticulture Meet

More than 1,500 fruit growers and businessmen from the Great Lakes states will meet in Grand Rapids next week for the annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society.

A major attraction on this year's program is a panel discussion Thursday afternoon about the state's Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act. Dr. Jerome Hull, Jr., MSU horticulturist and society secretary, said the talk will concern this year's apple marketing.

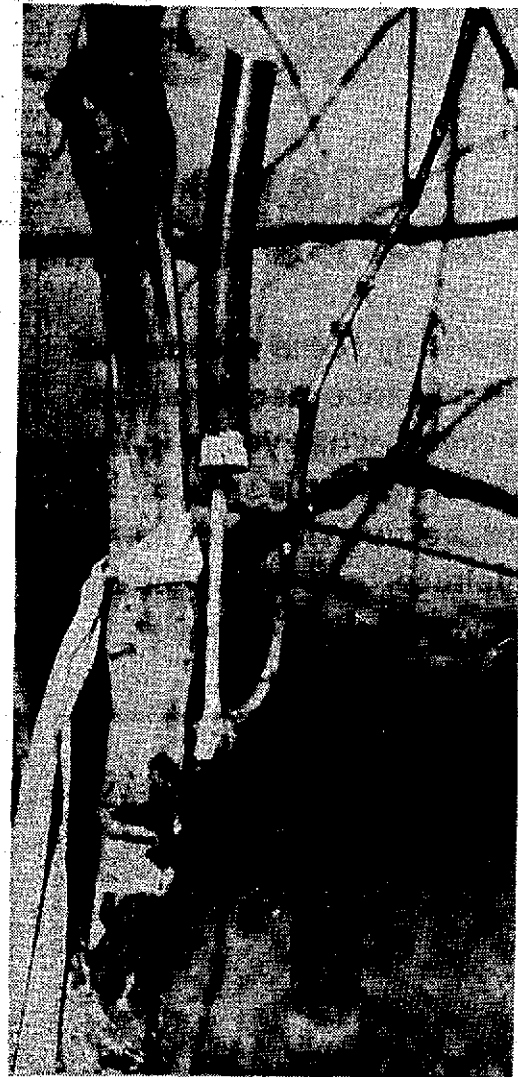

On Tuesday, opening day, a panel will discuss labor saving devices and on Wednesday a panel will talk about grower-to-consumer markets.

Michigan apples were first marketed under the Act this season. Binding arbitration was required because representatives for commercial apple growers and processors failed to reach a price settlement.

In the middle of the arbitration process, the state's Attorney General issued a new interpretation of the Act, allowing the parties to compromise on a price.

On the panel will be growers and processors, Hull said. Some of the people oppose the Act because, in the case of apples, it made for chaotic marketing. Others to speak on Dec. 4 favor the Act.

The convention runs from Dec. 2 to 4.

KIMBALL METHOD: Picture, taken this week in Lawton, shows French hybrid scion grafted to Concord vine this spring using method invented by New York State Researcher Keith Kimball. Before grafting, base of three-bud scion (topped by cork and hose) was cut to sharp wedge. Hole was drilled at base of scion so that brad which is nailed in wouldn't crack the stick. Scion was pushed into place, watered, brad was driven through hole, rubber band was fixed into place to hold scion snugly to vine, and grafting rubber was applied. Cork was drilled and fitted onto scion. Garden hose was fitted over cork and filled with water. Scion then had moisture at beginning of growth. Graft must be made in two-week period when bark will slip. Cloth shows that vine has been grafted. (Staff photo)

SUCCESSFUL GRAFT: Lawton Grower Bob Rogers holds shoot from French hybrid scion that was grafted onto the Concord vine this June. Two or three seasons from now, the researchers who performed the grafts will cut the Concord vines above the grafts and Rogers will have a Concord vine which produces French hybrid wine grapes. It is recommended that grafts be made near base of vine, but some grafts were made higher up, such as the other vine pictured on this page. (Staff photo)

Washington State Considers Importing More Grape Wood

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP) — From Michigan, Missouri and New York the witnesses came last week to ask Washington state to lift its stringent screening of out-of-state grape cuttings.

But from the Yakima Valley and Washington State university came testimony that the state should maintain its guard against grape cuttings that might have viral infection.

The Washington State Department of Agriculture heard both sides at the Yakima county courthouse in a hearing to reconsider strict inspection procedures established in 1970 to encourage development of virus-free strains of grapes within the state.

The short supplies of stock cost Washington growers an estimated $4.5 million this year in unplanted grape land, said Herbert P. Barber, a spokesman for National Grape Cooperative (Welch).

The major point stressed by those opposed to strict inspections is that the juice producing Labrusca grape strain, which includes Concord and Niagara types, is extremely resistant to viral infection.

Robert M. Gilmer, professor of plant pathology at Cornell University, New York, and Dr. Dan Milligan of the University of Missouri agriculture school, testified they had never seen a serious viral problem in Labruscas. They proposed that imported grape cuttings be certified as virus-free by visual inspections rather than by the lengthy and expensive indexing process now required.

Dr. J. Lewis Allison, superintendent of Washington State University's Agriculture Research Center, said a boom in the wine industry has strained the production of local nurserymen but said that within two years, they would be producing top quality stock.

Allison challenged testimony from Gilmer and Milligan and said not all virus infections can be detected visually. He stated that without inspections, Washington would have become the dumping ground for the worst of California's grape cuttings.

Washington nurserymen get virus-free stock for their state research station, and one testified that he would lose much of his grape investment if the rules were relaxed.

Study Price Strategy

Marketing and pricing strategy is the topic of a series of meetings scheduled for Dec. 5, 12 and 19 at the Schoolcraft office of the Production Credit Association. A. Robert Earl, director of the Van Buren extension service, said. Extension agents and MSU agricultural economists will lead the workshop, which meets each of the three days from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. Cost per person is $3. Subjects include: Analyzing corn and soybean price relationships; factors affecting corn prices and seasonal variations; a study of cash markets, futures market and forward contracting; understanding the pricing structures for different farm commodities.

Plant Meet Next Week

The ninth annual Western Michigan Bedding Plant Industry Conference will be held Dec. 4 from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. at the Kalamazoo Center Inn, 100 West Michigan avenue, Kalamazoo. A professor from Cornell university, two from Michigan State university and others will discuss injector feeding of bedding plants, fungicides and the federal pesticide act. A $5 registration fee that covers the cost of lunch will be collected. The event is sponsored by the extension service, individual growers, the Kalamazoo and Grand Valley Growers Cooperatives and the Michigan Plant Growers Co-op.

A professor from Cornell university, two from Michigan State university and others will discuss injector feeding of bedding plants, fungicides and the federal pesticide act. A $5 registration fee that covers the cost of lunch will be collected. The event is sponsored by the extension service, individual growers, the Kalamazoo and Grand Valley Growers Cooperatives and the Michigan Plant Growers Co-op.

Rogers said the two rows received different variety hybrids.

Howell, reached at the Geneva station where he is doing research with Dr. Kimball and others, said different hybrid varieties were used as scions so the researchers could test their "grafting technique."

Grafts are also being made on Aurora vines, Howell said.

Rogers hand-harvested the Concord grapes from the two rows this fall. Yield was normal. In the spring, Howell said, fruit blossoms will be pulled from the hybrid shoots and the shoots will continue to grow alongside the blossoming Concord vines. In the spring of 1977, the Concord vine will be sawed off above the point of the graft, and Rogers will have French hybrid grapes instead of Concord.

Compared to the money and years that it takes to graft by traditional means, the Kimball Method gives a grape grower "more control in an ever changing grape market," Howell observed.

Howell tells growers who want to convert a vineyard by the Kimball Method to collect scion wood soon and hold it in a moist place at 32 to 34 degrees. And specific materials, such as corks, should be ordered now, he added.

Kimball's process will be explained in a newsletter soon, Howell added.

Bargaining Act A Topic At Horticulture Meet

More than 1,500 fruit growers and businessmen from the Great Lakes states will meet in Grand Rapids next week for the annual meeting of the Michigan State Horticultural Society.

A major attraction on this year's program is a panel discussion Thursday afternoon about the state's Agricultural Marketing and Bargaining Act. Dr. Jerome Hull, Jr., MSU horticulturist and society secretary, said the talk will concern this year's apple marketing.

On Tuesday, opening day, a panel will discuss labor saving devices and on Wednesday a panel will talk about grower-to-consumer markets.

Michigan apples were first marketed under the Act this season. Binding arbitration was required because representatives for commercial apple growers and processors failed to reach a price settlement.

In the middle of the arbitration process, the state's Attorney General issued a new interpretation of the Act, allowing the parties to compromise on a price.

On the panel will be growers and processors, Hull said. Some of the people oppose the Act because, in the case of apples, it made for chaotic marketing. Others to speak on Dec. 4 favor the Act.

The convention runs from Dec. 2 to 4.

SUCCESSFUL GRAFT: Lawton Grower Bob Rogers holds shoot from French hybrid scion that was grafted onto the Concord vine this June. Two or three seasons from now, the researchers who performed the grafts will cut the Concord vines above the grafts and Rogers will have a Concord vine which produces French hybrid wine grapes. It is recommended that grafts be made near base of vine, but some grafts were made higher up, such as the other vine pictured on this page. (Staff photo)

PROPOSED MARINA SITE: South Haven city planning commission is weighing two proposals for development of city-owned land (outlined area, upper left) that lies along Black river. Donald Zordel, building inspector and planning commission member, said All Seasons Marine, Inc., which owns buildings below and above outlined area, would like to construct additional boat slips in area. Zordel said two private citizens have proposed that shops portraying a fishing village be constructed in area. Also a group of local citizens wish to lease or purchase some land from Jensen's Fisheries (between outlined area and river) to build a maritime museum, Zordel said. City Ordinance Requires Horses To Wear Diapers

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The horse is a dignified animal and he's not going to use any diapers, says Daniel E. Hydrick, operator of a firm that gives rides in 19th century model carriages through the old section of Charleston.

"I have invested a lot of money in my horses," he said this week. "I'm not going to make them look ridiculous by putting diapers on them."

Hydrick and other horse-and-buggy operators say they are refusing to obey a city ordinance requiring diapers for the horses. The ordinance goes into effect Dec. 9.

"They can put me in jail. They can put my horses in jail," Hydrick says. "But I am not putting diapers on my horses."

Harry Wagner, who has driven his horses and carriages through the narrow streets for 26 years, says the diapers will be humiliating. "If we put those things on, we'll be the laughing stock of the world," he says.

The ordinance was introduced by Alderman Joseph McGee, who wanted the carriage drivers to clean up after their horses.

OLD TIRES USEFUL
DUNKIRK, N.Y. (AP) — Discarded tires have been chained together to form an effective breakwater near the Dunkirk East Coast Marina.

Another alderman, Joseph Young, asked that the proposal be amended to make the horses wear diapers.

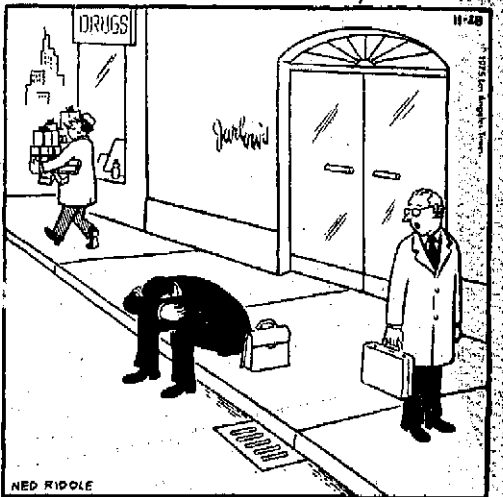

Hydrick says the real reason for the diaper ordinance is not manure on the streets but a rivalry between the carriage operators and lady guides who work out of the Chamber of Commerce.

"We carried over 15,000 people in our carriages last year," he added. "That made a considerable dent in the lady tour guides' business. If our horses wore diapers, we'd lose business."

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Livermore town leaders knew they really had a problem with gas leaks the day someone dropped a match and the sidewalk caught fire.

Leaky lines had been losing half of the gas fed into the western Kentucky town of 1,500, Mayor Bob Girvin said in a telephone interview this week.

But it was the sidewalk fire last Friday that led to this week's influx of state officials and engineering experts, and to hurry-up applications for federal help.

"It was in front of the post office," Girvin said. "It ignited up out of the cracks in the sidewalk from a dropped match. The fire extended for 20 or 30 feet ... we could have had a barbecue on it."

The blaze was quelled and no one was hurt, but officials knew repairs could wait no longer. And they knew they needed outside help.

"Our gas system has deteriorated over the years to the point where the city is unable to fix it," Girvin said. "We're talking about miles of gas lines, some made of old steam pipes and old flue pipes, haphazardly put in. Some aren't even recorded, they go back so far. Some of it goes back 35 or 40 years."

Consulting engineers have completed a report calling for replacement of 10 miles of main gas lines and nine miles of service lines.

"They're talking about a whole new system," Girvin said, "and they're talking in the neighborhood of half a million dollars."

Livermore doesn't have that kind of money. In fact, the leaky pipes have left it with none, the mayor said.

"This is a system that should be making money for the city if we weren't losing so much, but we're losing 50 to 60 per cent of our gas," he said. "There was a massive rise in cost and all of a sudden we found ourselves broke."

"We had to borrow money to pay Texas Gas Transmission in Owensboro," he said. "The bill was $8,000 last month, and this month it's $9,000. We're talking about a debt possibly up to $20,000."

Girvin said the town has applied to the Green River Area Development District for federal funds to repair the system, and hopes for a reply "within days."

"This is heat and cooking to us," he said. "We need an emergency grant to get it done."

USSR Has Ties In Puerto Rico

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief investigator of a Senate Internal Security subcommittee says the Soviet Union is indirectly linked to the Puerto Rican Socialist party through the party's ties with Cuban intelligence.

Another subcommittee witness, a man described as a Puerto Rican expert on Cuba, said the party's strategy, in his opinion, involves "a war for national liberation of Puerto Rico which, of course, must include sabotage."

In July 30 testimony made public Thursday, investigator Alfonso Tarabochia said the Soviet Union's indirect link to the Socialist party is through the Cuban General Directorate of Intelligence (DGI).

SJ Firemen Reply To Two Calls

An oven fire at the residence of James Stanford, Bluffs Apartments, No. E3, Lake Shore drive, was out when St. Joseph firemen arrived Thursday morning at about 10 a.m.

Fire was caused by a burned element in the oven, according to firemen, and the part was replaced.

Firemen administered oxygen to a 78-year-old man who was having difficulty breathing today at 3 a.m.

Frederick Smith, 708 State street, was then transported to Memorial hospital by Action ambulance.

Business Panel Favors Planner At South Haven

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — A blue ribbon committee of South Haven businessmen has recommended to the city planning commission that a Kalamazoo planner be hired to develop a plan for beautifying the central business district. The committee was formed in September in response to a petition signed by businessmen representing 54 businesses and submitted to the city council and planning commission. The petition asked city officials to implement a plan to beautify the central business district including the extension of Water street to the south beach.

Many businessmen have suggested that South Haven undertake a plan similar to one recently completed in downtown Holland. The Holland program included a change in the traffic pattern, widening of sidewalks and extensive landscaping.

The blue ribbon committee has recommended that Larry Harris of Kalamazoo be retained to prepare the plan. Harris was selected from three firms who submitted cost estimates. He said a plan could be created and working drawings prepared for $12,000.

Harris prepared the Holland plan and has been involved in the recent rejuvenation of the Kalamazoo mall.

The committee has recommended that the city assume the cost of preparing the plan. The committee said it plans to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 to consider financing alternatives for the program.

Among alternatives to be considered are the use of some of the city's federal revenue sharing funds, use of part of the city electric utility reserve fund, some form of federal and/or state funding, and a special assessment district.

RIP OUT DAM: Harold Rosenhagen (right), 1526 Marquette Woods road, Lincoln township, his son, Dan, and a group of six friends, Wednesday tore out a small dam on Sand Creek just before it empties into Hickory Creek off Marquette Woods road. Rosenhagen said the dam posed a threat to his property, located some distance upstream, especially in the spring.

Originally the dam had been built for irrigation purposes but recently had been used to create a small waterfall. Rosenhagen said he had complained to township officials and the county drain commissioner's office without results so he decided to remove dam himself. (Staff photo)

AREA POLICE ROUNDUP

Fairplain Gas Station Attendant Turns Tables On Four Bandits

By TOM SAWYER
Staff Writer

A Fairplain gasoline station attendant turned the tables on four robbers, when he pulled a gun of his own Wednesday and held one of the bandits until St. Joseph township and Benton Harbor police arrived. The other three fled.

Bass said he gave the youths $31 and a coin changer with about $10 in change. He said he was standing in the doorway of a storage room and was able to reach a shotgun kept there.

Police said they were called by a friend of Bass who had called the station while Bass was holding the gun on one of the boys. Thirty-one dollars was recovered, police said.

A 15-year-old Benton Harbor boy was arrested on a charge of armed robbery and lodged at the Berrien county juvenile home pending petitioning to juvenile court, police indicated.

Five thefts were investigated by Twin Cities area police Wednesday and Thursday in which property valued at more than $1,300 was stolen. Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A color television and stereo record player, valued at $675, from the home of Lee Bass, 329 Washington street.

—Cash in the amount of $110, from the residence of Carolyn Davis, 287 Kirby street.

Thefts reported to Berrien sheriff's deputies were:

—A three-wheel motorcycle, valued at $500, from Darwin Sanders, route 1, Hartman road, Eau Claire, parked near a shed at 4600 Hippis Hollow road, Sodus township.

—An antique radio, valued at about $100, from the garage of Kenneth Johnson, Box 55, Rangeville road, Berrien township.

Mary White, 1247 Blossom lane, told Benton township police a clock radio, valued at $70, was stolen from her home.

Frank McNaughton, 23, Des Plaines, Ill., was arrested Thursday by state police of the Benton Harbor just on a charge of violation of the controlled substance act (possession of marijuana). Troopers said a small quantity of suspected marijuana was confiscated after a car was stopped on I-94 in Sodus township about 8:40 p.m. McNaughton was booked at the Berrien county jail.

Retired Couple Become 'Involved' College Students

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — George Laking sang in the campus production of the rock musical "Jesus Christ Superstar." His wife, Valeria, passes out petitions for the Michigan Citizens' Lobby. Around Macomb County Community College, in fact, they are considered about as active and involved as students get these days.

The only thing that really sets them apart from other students is their ages — George is 76 and Valeria is 88.

"You don't have to feel you've come to the end just because you're retired," Mrs. Laking said. "We want our boy (28-year-old George Jr.) to know that when he reaches our age, life isn't finished. There's so much in the next forty years."

Laking has spent most of his life as a boiler operator and his wife taught school in Detroit.

The decided to go back to school "just because we wanted to," she said. The college, about 20 miles northeast of Detroit, offers free tuition to Macomb County residents over 62 who don't work full time.

"I wanted Papa to get some background. In history of music," Mrs. Laking said. "He's always loved music, but didn't have a formal understanding."

"And I wanted to take some courses that would tie history together."

They weren't long in getting into extracurricular activities. "When the 'Superstar' production came up, they asked me to sing a part," Laking said. "I told them that, frankly, it wasn't my kind of music."

But his base voice was much sought after and he finally was persuaded to sing the role of an elder high priest.

Soon, too, Mrs. Laking was elected to the student senate. She gave up the seat this fall, however, marking the couple's only capitulation to the generation gap.

"Their interest, well, they're not my interests," she said. She has discovered nothing really has changed with young people, though.

"In my religion class I found out that kids nowadays have the same old problems we had when I was young," she said. "They're wondering 'Who am I?' and 'Where am I going?' The difference is that I resolved it or put it aside when I was 20 and went out and got a job. These kids are still worrying."

The Lakings have found so much happiness back in the classroom that they're going to help organize an introduction and orientation session next month aimed at getting other senior citizens into college.

"We are going to tell them to move, to get out, don't rot," Mrs. Laking said. "We could watch television or play cards or twiddle our thumbs. But you have to push yourself."

Laking said he is waiting for another musical to come along. "I hope it's a Broadway musical like 'South Pacific,'" he said. "I love that song, 'Some Enchanted Evening.'"

Mrs. Laking said she will be happy as long as they are active together.

"I'm the one that pushes, the one with the tongue," she said. "But don't get me wrong. He's the foundation."

WASHINGTON (AP) — John B. Connally, former governor of Texas and secretary of the treasury, says he might consider a third-party try for the presidency if he decides neither major political party is taking the best course for the nation.

"I think that neither of the two principal parties are on a course that would tend to best serve the nation and a third party arose that I thought was committed to the very things in which I deeply believe, then I might well consider running," he said.

Connally, 68, was born in New York and served as governor of Texas from 1961 to 1969. He was secretary of the treasury from 1971 to 1974.

By TOM RENNER

SOUTH HAVEN — A blue ribbon committee of South Haven businessmen has recommended to the city planning commission that a Kalamazoo planner be hired to develop a plan for beautifying the central business district. The committee was formed in September in response to a petition signed by businessmen representing 54 businesses and submitted to the city council and planning commission. The petition asked city officials to implement a plan to beautify the central business district including the extension of Water street to the south beach.

Asks New King Probe

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Coretta King, widow of slain civil rights leader Martin Luther King, has called for a reopening of the investigation of her husband's assassination, which she says was apparently the result of a government conspiracy.

Many businessmen have suggested that South Haven undertake a plan similar to one recently completed in downtown Holland. The Holland program included a change in the traffic pattern, widening of sidewalks and extensive landscaping.

The blue ribbon committee has recommended that Larry Harris of Kalamazoo be retained to prepare the plan. Harris was selected from three firms who submitted cost estimates. He said a plan could be created and working drawings prepared for $12,000.

Harris prepared the Holland plan and has been involved in the recent rejuvenation of the Kalamazoo mall.

The committee has recommended that the city assume the cost of preparing the plan. The committee said it plans to meet Tuesday, Dec. 2 to consider financing alternatives for the program.

Among alternatives to be considered are the use of some of the city's federal revenue sharing funds, use of part of the city electric utility reserve fund, some form of federal and/or state funding, and a special assessment district.

Retired Couple Become 'Involved' College Students

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — George Laking sang in the campus production of the rock musical "Jesus Christ Superstar." His wife, Valeria, passes out petitions for the Michigan Citizens' Lobby. Around Macomb County Community College, in fact, they are considered about as active and involved as students get these days.

The only thing that really sets them apart from other students is their ages — George is 76 and Valeria is 68.

"You don't have to feel you've come to the end just because you've retired," Mrs. Laking said. "We want our boy (28-year-old George Jr.) to know that when he reaches our age, life isn't finished. There's so much in the next forty years."

Laking has spent most of his life as a boiler operator and his wife taught school in Detroit.

The decided to go back to school "just because we wanted to," she said. The college, about 20 miles northeast of Detroit, offers free tuition to Macomb County residents over 62 who don't work full time.

"I wanted Papa to get some background in history of music," Mrs. Laking said. "He's always loved music, but didn't have a formal understanding."

"And I wanted to take some courses that would tie history together."

They weren't long in getting into extracurricular activities.

"When the 'Superstar' production came up, they asked me to sing a part," Laking said. "I told them that, frankly, it wasn't my kind of music."

But his base voice was much sought after and he finally was persuaded to sing the role of an elder high priest.

Soon, too, Mrs. Laking was elected to the student senate. She gave up the seat this fall, however, marking the couple's only capitulation to the generation gap.

"Their interest, well, they're not my interests," she said. She has discovered nothing really has changed with young people, though.

"In my religion class I found out that kids nowadays have the same old problems we had when I was young," she said. "They're wondering 'Who am I?' and 'Where am I going?'"

The difference is that I resolved it or put it aside when I was 20 and went out and got a job. These kids are still worrying."

The Lakings have found so much happiness back in the classroom that they're going to help organize an introduction and orientation session next month aimed at getting other senior citizens into college.

"We are going to tell them to move, to get out, don't rot," Mrs. Laking said. "We could watch television or play cards or tiddle our thumbs. But you have to push yourself."

Laking said he is waiting for another musical to come along. "I hope it's a Broadway musical like 'South Pacific,'" he said. "I love that song, 'Some Enchanted Evening.'"

Mrs. Laking said she will be happy as long as they are active together.

"I'm the one that pushes, the one with the tongue," she said. "But don't get me wrong. He's the foundation."

All Fire Department Lacked Was Firemen

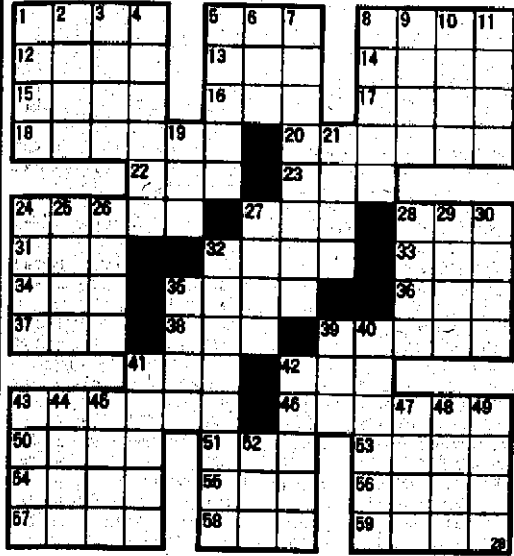

SHANIKO, Ore. (AP) — Residents of this tiny town fought a barn fire with garden hoses while a fire truck stood by unused. Nobody knew how to operate it. Sue Morelli, owner of the Shaniko Hotel, said purchase of the truck was arranged by a city council member who spends most of his time in Portland. She said he was the only person who knew how to operate the truck, and he was out of town at the time of the fire. The barn burned to the ground late Wednesday, but fire equipment from Madras, which is 45 miles away, kept the blaze from spreading. Mrs. Morelli said she hoped someone else in the town of 51 residents would be taught to operate the truck.

Club Helps Get Jobs

The social researcher who organized the club says he applied behavior-modification techniques to the task of job hunting. Dr. N.H. Spanish King Begins Reforms

MADRID, Spain (AP) — King Juan Carlos, bolstered by a massive show of support in the streets, today was reported preparing to name a new head of parliament in another test of his political program to liberalize Spain.
Top political leaders said the king's selection to replace — or continue — Alejandro Rodriguez Valcarlos could indicate the course the new leader expects to follow in the weeks ahead.

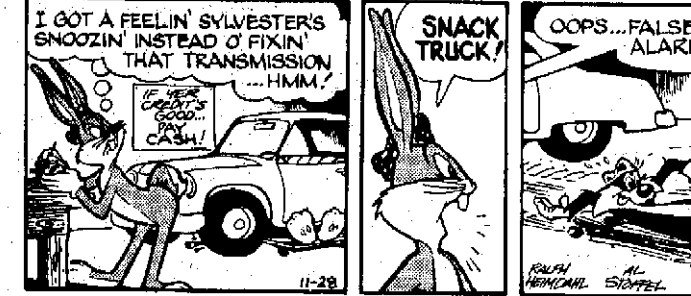

Lightning Still Not Obsolete

DES MOINES, Iowa (AP) — The lightning rod business is getting better, says Jerry Snodgrass, whose family has been selling them for 50 years. They will put up more this year than any year since 1915, when his grandfather began going farm to farm installing rods.
"Lightning isn't obsolete," Snodgrass said. "It's the same today as it was 50 years ago."

NEWS OF MARKETS

NYC Deal Cheers Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced broadly today in response to news of the agreement on a plan to untangle New York City's financial problems.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost a point, and gains outlasted losses by close to a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted an enthusiastic response to President Ford's statement of support Wednesday night for short term federal loans to the city.

The President's change of position came after New York State legislators had approved a series of tax measures aimed at increasing city revenues.

Brokers expressed some doubts about how strong a showing the market could muster with many investors taking a four-day Thanksgiving weekend. The market was closed Thursday for the holiday.

Another inhibiting influence was the government's report this morning that its index of leading economic indicators dropped in October for the second month in a row. The index is designed to point up future economic trends.

Today's early prices included Lockheed Aircraft, up 1/4 at $14; Beatrice Foods, ahead 1/4 at 24 1/2; Upjohn, up 3/4 at 45 1/2; and Gulf Oil, ahead 1/4 at 20 1/2.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 3.15 to a four-month high of 858.55.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by about a 5-3 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index added .14 to 48.09.

Big Board volume was a moderately active 18.78 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .31 to 85.44.

BH Home Damaged By Fire

Fire that apparently started in a bed at the home of Violet Allen, 1079 Hurd street, was extinguished Thursday by Benton Harbor firemen. Firemen said cause of the blaze that damaged the bed, a wall and a portion of the ceiling, was undetermined. Damage was estimated at $1,500 in the 12:25 p.m. blaze.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Lads Have Youth, So They Can Wait

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I bought 100 shares of a foreign electronics company and 100 shares of a small plane manufacturer for each of my grandsons and am now worried because the market is going down steadily. Should I take losses? I am disturbed because these investments are their future. They are 18 and 22.

A. Let the boys worry. If you are comfortable enough financially to turn over about $5,000 to grandsons (which is perfectly OK with me) then what have you to worry about?

I can understand, dotting grandmothers, but what I can't understand is how any grandmother can assume that she can provide for her grandsons' "future."

You bought stock for the young men — fine! The stock is slightly on the speculative side — OK, they can take it. The market price will fluctuate (in fact, as of the moment of writing they have a profit on the two blocks — not a loss). They have youth — which means they have time to wait.

So why don't you sit back and relax and enjoy yourself instead of chewing your fingernails up to your elbows worrying about where this stock will be in 1977, 1987 or 2015 when they may decide that they want to retire, sell those shares and buy good income producers?

They may well be the best grandsons in the world (I'm sure you think they are) but there is still no way for you to make "their future" secure. Two hundred shares of stock, more or less, are not going to do it.

These boys are going to have to make their own "future" and nothing you can give them (short of a 50-year lease on Middle East oil wells or a warehouse full of Rembrandts and Van Goghs) is going to do it for them. So — I repeat — why don't you relax and enjoy? Let them do the worrying. No one else can, anyway.

FOR BOND BUYERS: Recent issues given an AAA rating by Fitch Investors Service include Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania 8 1/2% of 2015; Cincinnati Bell 8 1/2% per cent debentures of 2015; Michigan Bell Telephone 9 1/2% of 2008; Mountain States Tel. & Tel. 8 1/2% per cent notes of 1981 and 9 1/2% per cent debentures due 2015; Northwestern Bell 8 1/2% of 2012; Pacific Northwest Bell 9 per cent debentures of 2012; Kellogg Co. 8 1/2% per cent notes due 1985.

Q. You mention that a bond may go down in price. I thought that if you bought a $1,000 bond at that price and held it until maturity it would be paid off at $1,000.

A. That is correct — assuming, of course, the company does not run into trouble. It's a

Pound Hits Record Low Of $2.0150

LONDON (AP) — Britain's pound sterling plunged to an all-time low of $2.0150 today.

In little over an hour the pound dropped nearly 1.3 cents against the dollar. The pound had closed at $2.0299 here Thursday.

The previous record low for the pound of $2.0210 was set Oct. 2.

Dealers listed these two key factors in the pound's latest fall:

—A gloomy report by Britain's prestigious National Institute of Economic and Social Research, which said the country's economy was in its worst shape for 16 years. The report was published today.

—President Ford's plan to help New York City avoid financial default, which gave the U.S. dollar new strength in Europe.

NEWS OF MARKETS

NYC Deal Cheers Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market advanced broadly today in response to news of the agreement on a plan to untangle New York City's financial problems.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up almost a point, and gainers outpaced losers by close to a 5-2 margin on the New York Stock Exchange.

Brokers noted an enthusiastic response to President Ford's statement of support Wednesday night for short term federal loans to the city.

The President's change of position came after New York State legislators had approved a series of tax measures aimed at increasing city revenues.

Brokers expressed some doubts about how strong a showing the market could muster with many investors taking a four-day Thanksgiving weekend. The market was closed Thursday for the holiday.

Another inhibiting influence was the government's report this morning that its index of leading economic indicators dropped in October for the second month in a row. The index is designed to point up future economic trends.

Today's early prices included Lockheed Aircraft, up 1/2 at 84; Beatrice Foods, ahead 1/4 at 24 1/2; Upjohn, up 1/4 at 45 1/2; and Gulf Oil, ahead 1/4 at 20 3/4.

On Wednesday the Dow Jones industrial average climbed 3.15 to a four-month high of 858.55.

Advancing issues outnumbered declines by about a 3-1 margin on the NYSE, and the exchange's composite index added .14 to 48.09.

Big Board volume was a moderately active 18.78 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index gained .31 to 85.44.

Hundreds of questions come into the New York Stock Exchange every week, report NYSE officials; requests for information on transfer of securities, collection of dividends and interest payments on listed securities, location of little known companies, foreign bonds, methods of investing, etc.

To get the answers to the questions posed at the beginning of this column and others you might have:

Write to the Investors Service Bureau at the New York Stock Exchange, P.O. Box 252, 11 Wall St., New York, N.Y. 10005.

Do not phone, warns George Christopoulos, head of the bureau, because the volume of inquiries makes it impossible for bureau employees to handle the calls. And under no circumstances, send money or originals of stock certificates or other documents. Hold onto and guard originals of the documents yourself. Clear photocopies are all the ISB needs.

Since its creation about three years ago, the ISB has handled more than 6,500 inquiries and requests from individuals. It has published a directory listing more than 300 brokerage firms with some 3,000 offices across the U.S. that will welcome small accounts and orders. (Question No. 2 above). More than 50,000 of the directories have been distributed without charge by the NYSE to investors and would-be investors.

— As an illustration of the ISB's services to you, — an investor heard that a company in which he held shares had gone bankrupt. He asked the ISB whether he could recover any of his investment. The ISB found out that, before declaring bankruptcy, the company had spun off a subsidiary, which had issued shares to stockholders of the former parent company. These shares not only had value but actually were worth more than the individual's original investment.

— An investor holding Polish Government bonds inquired at Christopoulos's office whether they were worth anything. Christopoulos immediately found a brokerage house through which she was able to sell them.

— A NYSE visitor asked about a company's shares which he owned but were no longer traded over the counter. Asked what business the company was in, he said he did not know — nor did he recall where he bought the shares nor did he remember what he had done with the certificates. The ISB located an address for the company, to which the investor could write about his shares — the investor's first effort to follow through on the fortunes of his company.

This is just a random sampling of this clearing house's services — and the odds are that, no matter what your problem, the bureau can help. Try it out and see for yourself.

INVESTORS' GUIDE

Lads Have Youth, So They Can Wait

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. I bought 100 shares of a foreign electronics company and 100 shares of a small plane manufacturer for each of my grandsons and am now worried because the market is going down steadily. Should I take losses? I am disturbed because these investments are their future. They are 18 and 22.

A. Let the boys worry. If you are comfortable about financially turning over about $5,000 to grandsons (which is perfectly OK with me) then what have you to worry about?

I can understand doting grandmothers, but what I can't understand is how any grandmother can assume that she can provide for her grandsons' "future."

You bought stock for the young men — fine! The stock is slightly on the speculative side — OK, they can take it. The market price will fluctuate (in fact, as of the moment of writing they have a profit on the two blocks — not a loss). They have youth — which means they have time to wait.

So why don't you sit back and relax and enjoy yourself instead of chewing your fingernails out where this stock will be in 1977, 1987 or 2015 when they may decide that they want to retire, sell these shares and buy good income producers.

They may well be the best grandsons in the world (I'm sure you think they are) but there is still no way for you to make "their future" secure. Two hundred shares of stock, more or less, are not going to do it.

These boys are going to have to make their own "future" and nothing you can give them (short of a 50-year lease on Middle East oil wells or a warehouse full of Rembrandts and Van Goghs) is going to do it for them. So — I repeat — why don't you relax and enjoy? Let them do the worrying. No one else can, anyway.

FOR BOND BUYERS: Recent issues given an AAA rating by Fitch Investors Service include Bell Telephone of Pennsylvania 8 3/8 of 2015; Cincinnati Bell 9 1/2 per cent debentures of 2015; Michigan Bell Telephone 9 1/2 of 2008; Mountain States Tel. & Tel. 8 7/8 per cent notes of 1981 and 9 1/2 per cent debentures due 1995; Northwestern Bell 8 3/4 of 2012; Pacific Northwest Bell 9 per cent debentures of 2012; Kellogg Co. 8 1/2 per cent notes due 1985.

Q. You mention that a bond may go down in price. I thought that if you bought a $1,000 bond at that price and held it until maturity it would be paid off at $1,000.

A. That is correct — assuming, of course, the company does not run into trouble. It's a

Pound Hits Record Low Of $2.0150

LONDON (AP) — Britain's pound sterling plunged to an all-time low of $2.0150 today.

In little over an hour the pound dropped nearly 1.5 cents against the dollar. The pound had closed at $2.0298 here Thursday.

The previous record low for the pound of $2.0210 was set Oct. 2.

Dealers listed these two key factors in the pound's latest fall:

— A gloomy report by Britain's prestigious National Institute of Economic and Social Research which said the country's economy was in its worst shape for 16 years. The report was published today.

— President Ford's plan to help New York City avoid financial default, which gave the U.S. dollar new strength in Europe.

Suits Ask $450,000 Damages

Two suits have been filed in Berrien Circuit court seeking a total of $450,000 damages stemming from two unrelated automobile accidents which occurred on US-31.

One suit seeks $300,000 as the result of a May 20 accident in which Gregory Yerke, 23, of south St. Joseph, was killed when a car in which he was a passenger rolled over. Plaintiff in the suit is St. Joseph Atty. Robert Yampolsky, as administrator of Yerke's estate.

Named defendant, and identified as the driver of the car in which Yerke was riding, is Dirk J. Vanderdoes, of south St. Joseph.

Yerke was killed when the car ran off US-31 near Dean's Hill road, hit a utility pole and then crashed into a tree. Yerke died after he was thrown from the auto which then rolled over him.

In the other suit, William Wenger, Jr., of Minnawaka, seeks $150,000 from an April 21, 1973 accident on US-31 near Walton road in Niles township. Wenger claims he was injured when the motorcycle he was driving was struck from the rear by a car.

Named defendant, and cited as the driver of the car, was Elizabeth Wilkins, of Niles.

Russians Enjoy U.S. Holiday

SALINA, Kan. (AP) — "They went through the buffet line and it looked as if they had 'sideboards' on their plates," said the basketball coach of Marymount College after hosting the Soviet Olympic basketball team for Thanksgiving dinner. "They can really go to the trough."

Kansas was blanketed by seven inches of snow when the Russians arrived for a game with Marymount, the final game of a U.S. tour that began Nov. 2. The temperature was near zero when they sat down Thursday to eat a traditional Thanksgiving dinner at a country club adjacent to the college.

"With the cold and the snow we're having they said right away it was just like home," said Marymount coach Ken Cochran.
